Amend City Ordinance On Dance Licenses

Ordinance allowing churches, lodges, public and parochial schools and charitable organizations to hold dances in their own halls without paying the public dance ordinance license fee was passed by the Royal Oak city commission last night.

The commission placed on first reading an ordinance allowing the owner of a jitney company to post a single $200 bond to insure appearance of drivers in court to answer traffic violation charges. The ordinance at present demands that a $300 bond be filed by each driver.

BURNED WOMAN MAY RECOVER

Mrs. Donald M. Smith, age 42, 23333 Cayuga avenue, Hazel Park, who was severely burned when her kitchen stove exploded Friday, is reported to have a "fighting chance" to recover. She is in the Royal Oak Private hospital.

MILK DELIVERY IN SUMMER MAY START AT 3 A. M.

Royal Oak city's milk wagon drivers will not be compelled to watch for the rising sun before starting delivery this summer.

The city commission last night amended an ordinance to the milk ordinance allowing summer delivery, from Apr. 1 to Nov. 1, to start at 3 a. m. instead of 6 a. m. as prescribed in the original ordinance. In the other months of the year, delivery is to be made between sunrise and sunset.

The proposal last week was to limit delivery to the hours between sunrise and sunset the year around, but this was amended to 3 a. m. for the summer on motion of Commissioner Frank E. Springsteen, who was in the milk business here for a number of years.

City Attorney W. C. Hudson, in reporting the original amendment, said both the milkmen and the city inspection department believed confusion would result in attempting to fix the hour the sun rose each day.

Commissioner Fletcher L. Renton argued the sunrise to sunset provision should be left unchanged. The exact hour of sunrise could be determined accurately from the government weather bureau at Detroit, he said.

Definite hours for delivery would avoid all arguments between peddlers and milkmen, Commissioner Evert M. Bangham declared.

Mr. Renton then asserted that the original ordinance, confining milk delivery to daylight hours, had effectively ended all tampering with milk bottles and insured consumers they would get milk free from adulterating substances, such as nails, rubber heels, marbles, stones and chemicals. If daylight delivery were adhered to, the practices would "stay solved," he said.

Mr. Springsteen, speaking from experience, said delivery in the summer should start early enough, 3 a. m., to insure completion of a route by 7 a. m. He said many persons could not afford to keep milk fresh and children ought to have fresh milk not later than 7 o'clock.

He made a motion that the amendment be amended to allow a start at 3 a. m. and was supported by Mr. Bangham. His motion carried, 4-3, with Mr. Renton, Mayor H. Lloyd Clawson and Commissioner Harry H. von Eberstein opposed. The amended amendment then was passed unanimously.

Two Motorists Fined For Drunk Driving

Tracy McTaggart, age 36, 9275 Manor boulevard, Detroit, pleaded guilty to drunk driving today before Justice Fred E. Gordon in Ferndale municipal court. He was sentenced to pay a $100 fine or spend 60 days in Oakland county jail. His driver's license was revoked for six months.

Frank E. Davies, 1998 Columbia road, Berkley, pleaded not guilty to the same charge and was released under personal recognizance to appear in Ferndale municipal court Monday. Both were arrested by Ferndale police.

Robert Burns, age 45, 4518 Delmore boulevard, pleaded guilty to drunk driving in Royal Oak municipal court today. Justice Robert C. Baldwin sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 or to spend 30 days in jail. He was given until Thursday to raise the fine. Royal Oak police are holding his automobile.

Hutton of Detroit; Harry Paulsen of Kalamazoo; T. O. Mance of Iron Mountain and Fred D. Nelson of Traverse City, vice-presidents and Frank L. Curtis of Detroit, secretary.

Township of Royal Oak Created 100 Years Ago

By JAMES G. MATTHEWS
Thursday, June 9, 1932, is the one hundredth anniversary of one of the most important events in the history of Royal Oak. On June 9, 1832, a bill to organize the township of Royal Oak, which had been passed by the Legislative Council of the Territory of Michigan, was signed by the President of the Council, and approved and signed by the Acting Governor, thus becoming law.

Prior to the enactment of this piece of legislation, Royal Oak had in turn been a part of the townships of Bloomfield and Troy. By proclamation of the Territorial Governor, under the date of June 28, 1820, towns 1 and 2 north, in ranges 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 east, the same being the two southern tiers of towns in Oakland county, were designated as Bloomfield.

This arrangement continued until April 12, 1827, on which date the Legislative Council approved the detachment of towns 1 and 2 north, in range 11 east, which were set off together and designated as Troy. This status existed until the spring of 1832 when, during the first session of the Fifth Legislative Council, Royal Oak was detached from Troy, and erected as a separate township.

According to the Journal of the Legislative Council the initial step in organizing Royal Oak township was taken on Tuesday, May 15, 1832. In this venerable record we read:

"A bill to organize the township of Royal Oak and—, in the county of Oakland. The bill having been read the first time, on motion of Mr. Sprague, the bill was read a second time, by its title, and laid on the table."

On Tuesday, June 5, 1832, the bill was taken from the table, and slight alterations were made in its phrasing.

"The bill to organize the township of Royal Oak and—, in the county of Oakland, was taken up and considered as in committee of the whole. On motion of Mr. Martin, the bill was amended by striking out in the 5th line of the 1st section, and the following words, 'on the first Monday of April next,' and inserting the words 'on the first Monday of March next,' by adding to stand on section 3rd, the following: 'This shall take effect and be in force from and after the last day of March next.'"

Inasmuch as the first Monday in March next, the 14th day, the substitution of "from and after the last day of March next" for the phrase, "on the first Monday of April next," not only left the bill an act of greater dignity, but also eliminated the possibility of incurring the displeasure of sensitive neighbors.

To continue our perusal of the Journal of the Legislative Council, "The bill to organize the township of Royal Oak and—, in the county of Oakland, was read the third time, on motion of Mr. Martin, the bill was passed, and that the title thereof be, 'An Act, etc.' (Wednesday, June 6, 1832).

It is said that the bill did not pass without objections, it being maintained that the word "Novi" was the equivalent for the Latin word "forgotten." Had the claim been an accurate one, the name would have suited the occasion because the Journal of the Legislative Council indicates that the Legislators had forgotten the town they were to organize until the bill came up for passage.

Although Royal Oak and Novi were born on the same day, in the same place, and were of the same parentage, our city has grown and developed, and so outstripped Novi that only persons acquainted with the early history of these towns are aware that they are twins.

On Saturday, June 9, 1832, the bill again came to the attention of the Council.

"Mr. Martin from the committee on Enrollment, reported as correctly enrolled, An Act to organize the townships of Royal Oak and—, in the county of Oakland, and An Act to organize the townships of Berrien and St. Joseph in Berrien county. And the President signed the same."

On Monday, June 11, 1832, the Council was advised of the final disposition of the bill.

"A message was received from the Acting Governor by I. S. Rowland, advising the Council that he had on the 9th inst. approved and signed, An Act to organize the townships of Berrien and St. Joseph in Berrien county, and An Act to organize the townships of Royal Oak and Novi, in the county of Oakland."

A thorough search of the Territorial Laws, 1822, failed to reveal any record of the bill. The Secretary of State's office was unable to locate the original bill or to supply a copy of it. A careful scrutiny of newspapers printed in 1832 yielded the following account:

"On Tuesday, June 9, 1832, the bill was taken from the table, and slight alterations were made in its phrasing. The bill to organize the township of Royal Oak and Novi, in the county of Oakland, was taken up and considered as in committee of the whole. On motion of Mr. Martin, the bill was amended by striking out in the 5th line of the 1st section, and the following words, 'on the first Monday of April next,' and inserting the words 'on the first Monday of March next,' by adding to stand on section 3rd, the following: 'This shall take effect and be in force from and after the last day of March next.'"

Inasmuch as the first Monday in March next, the 14th day, the substitution of "from and after the last day of March next" for the phrase, "on the first Monday of April next," not only left the bill an act of greater dignity, but also eliminated the possibility of incurring the displeasure of sensitive neighbors.

To continue our perusal of the Journal of the Legislative Council, "The bill to organize the township of Royal Oak and—, in the county of Oakland, was read the third time, on motion of Mr. Martin, the bill was passed, and that the title thereof be, 'An Act, etc.' (Wednesday, June 6, 1832).

FIRST CENTURY OF TOWNSHIP TO BE CELEBRATED

Centennial Is Planned
To Mark Anniversary
Of Separation

City of Royal Oak is preparing to take the initiative in celebrating the centennial of Royal Oak township's first government separate from that of the Townships of Bloomfield and Troy. The event probably will be held during the early part of April, 1933.

James G. Matthews, formerly city historian and now employed in the director of finance office, last night presented to the city commission an account of the proceedings of the Michigan territory council of 1832 when the act setting up the Townships of Royal Oak and Novi was passed.

He presented the city with an enlarged photographic copy of the act, passed one hundred year ago Thursday, as published in the Democratic Free Press and Intelligencer, Detroit, June 21, 1832.

The mayor, each commissioner, Clerk R. Bruce Fleming and City Manager Edward M. Shafter were each given actual size copies of the act.

The commission, after expressing its appreciation, named Mr. Matthews chairman of the committee to plan next year's observance. Other members will be named later.

According to Mr. Matthews, the act created the township separately as of the first day in April, 1832, and that date will be celebrated rather than the date of passage of the act which is the subject of the program of Speaker Garner was called up for debate on the floor of the House.

Party lines were closely drawn, with the Republicans making a determined fight to substitute the $1,800,000 plan of President Hoover for relieving distress and reviving business.

Mr. Matthews' account is printed in full today in The Daily Tribune.

TWO JUSTICES SUE FERNDALE FOR SALARIES

Gordon and Nash Claim
Disputed Ordinance
Was Legal Act

City of Ferndale is named defendant in two suits for writs of mandamus, filed yesterday in Oakland county circuit court by Justice Fred E. Gordon and Associate Justice Earl N. Nash, who charge money is due them as salary under an ordinance passed July 3, 1929.

The suits are another complication in the entanglement which has resulted since last June when Commissioner Gordon and McKiasseon charged the justice and associate apparently had been drawing illegal salaries under the ordinance.

The act raised Justice Gordon's salary from $4,200 to $4,800 and set that of Associate Justice Nash at $400 a year. When it was alleged the salaries had been drawn illegally, Justice Gordon returned $1,125, representing the amount he said to have been overpaid, and Mr. Nash gave the city a note for $600, which the city recently started suit to collect.

The justices claim the ordinance was legal and they are entitled to the salaries they received. Justice Gordon seeks $1,800 and Mr. Nash, $600. They ask the court to order the city commission to pay the amounts.

The city holds that the ordinance was applied to the justices illegally since the charter sets the start of their terms as July 1, two days before the act was passed. The justices have informed the commission the charter provision is invalid since the statutes declared the terms of justices shall start July 4, the day after the ordinance was enacted. State law prohibits alteration of the salary of an elective official during his term in office.

WOODS RESIDENTS DISCUSS CHANGE

Approximately 50 residents of Huntington Woods attended a meeting in the village office last night at which the proposed incorporation as a fifth class city was discussed. The question received favorable comment, with none opposed.

The electors will pass on the proposal at the special election next Tuesday when nine charter commissioners will be named from a list of 14 candidates.

LATE FLASHES

Want Dawes Chairman
Chicago—General Charles G. Dawes, who yesterday resigned the presidency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, is being implored to accept the chairmanship of the Republican national committee and conduct the campaign for the re-election of President Hoover, International News Service learned today.

Dawes is understood to be reluctant to take the post because of a desire to return to his private banking interests in Chicago, but the White House is bringing persistent pressure upon him to take over the reins, and he has not yet returned a definite answer.

8,000 Vets To Parade

Washington—Police predicted at noon today that 8,000 bonus-seeking World War veterans would take part in the parade demonstration of the marchers scheduled for tonight.

A check-up revealed that 5,711 bonus marchers were in the capital at noon and this number was increasing steadily. Groups from Indiana, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York and other northern states poured into the big camp at Anacostia, D. C., throughout the day.

Debate Garner Program

Washington—The House today began consideration of unemployment relief legislation for the first time when the $2,300,000,000 program of Speaker Garner was called up for debate on the floor of the House.

Party lines were closely drawn, with the Republicans making a determined fight to substitute the $1,800,000 plan of President Hoover for relieving distress and reviving business.

Dem Leaders Back Smith

New York—Democratic leaders from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey to give supporting the movement to give Alfred E. Smith the presidential nomination of the Empire State club to formulate their plans.

An effort was made, it was understood, to bring about a coalition of the half dozen or so candidates now operating independently with the main object of preventing the nomination of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Field Beats Brookhart

Des Moines, Iowa—Smith W. Brookhart, veteran politician apparently had been "pooch-pooched" out of the United States Senate today by Henry Field, mild-mannered small town merchant who entered politics less than three months ago.

Field's lead in the Republican primary continued to grow today as additional returns trickled in from over the state. Unofficial results from 1,732 of the state's 2,435 precincts gave Field 116,093 votes to Brookhart's 85,999.

The remaining precincts were mostly rural, and it is in the country that Field is believed to have his greatest strength.

BOY RUNS TO CROSS STREET, HIT BY CAR

Because Richard Whit, age 8, 1919 Robina avenue, Berkley, was so eager to play with neighborhood boys that he forgot to look for passing automobiles when he got out of the school bus at 4:45 p. m. yesterday, he is in the Pontiac Mercy hospital, Pontiac, in critical condition. He has a fractured skull and, at noon today, had not regained consciousness.

Richard, in the company of his sister and several other pupils at the Berkley school, was in the school bus which made the circuit through Huntington Woods and back on Eleven-Mile road through Berkley.

In the company of four other boys he got off at Gardner avenue, a block before his own street. He led the group across the street and ran into the path of an automobile driven by Chester A. Herold, age 35, 242 Fairview avenue, Bonnie Acres.

On the testimony of the bus driver, Jesse Hyzer, age 35, 2020 Gardner avenue, Berkley, Herold was exonerated by Assistant Prosecutor Maurice F. Cole. Hyzer said Herold was not traveling at an excessive rate of speed and had sounded his horn. The bus was going east on Eleven-Mile road and the car west.

Richard is in grade 3-B at Berkley school and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Whit.

Herold took the boy to the Margrave hospital in Royal Oak and later to the St. Joseph's Mercy hospital.

BOARD REDUCES CITY VALUATION 18.5 PER CENT

Total Set At $25,132,248
Will Make Tax Levy
Total $464,946

Assessed valuation of the City of Royal Oak for 1932-33 was set last night by the board of review at $25,132,248.30.

This is $5,759,045.36, or 18.5 per cent, less than the $30,891,293.66 valuation for 1931-32 and compares with the valuation of $28,114,148.50 set by City Assessor Duncan McRae.

Based on the $18.50 tax rate determined by the city commission, City Manager Edward M. Shafter must adjust the 1932-33 budget to set the tax levy at $464,946.59. The budget, as passed by the commission last week subject to the manager's revisions, was $497,000.

Valuation reductions of residential properties ranged from five to 25 per cent, average 12 per cent. The greatest reductions were made in the original plat, including the area between Eleven-Mile road and Lincoln avenue, and Lafayette avenue and Troy street. The business property on South Main street between the Ten-Mile road and Lincoln avenue, and on North Main street, from Eleven-Mile road to Catalpa drive, was treated similarly to that in the original plat. It appeared that the average reduction of assessed valuation of these properties was approximately 15 per cent. In a few instances the reductions amounted to as much as 42 per cent.

"In reviewing vacant property, it was found that the valuations had been reduced from 10 to 50 per cent. Those lots receiving the greatest reductions were situated in parts of the city where there was very little development and where it would be more expedient to use the property for agricultural purposes than for building. Substantial reductions also were made on vacant property in the sections where the delinquencies were rather high because of heavy special assessment improvements surrounding the land. From a general observation of the records, it appeared that the majority of vacant lots were reduced from 20 to 30 per cent.

"It appears that reductions have been made on all residences properly, ranging from a minimum of five per cent to a maximum of 25 per cent, the average reduction being approximately 12 per cent."

Mayor H. Lloyd Clawson and Commissioner Fletcher L. Renton said the reduction of nearly 33 per cent in two years.

AUDIT OF CITY BOOKS AWARDED TO $500 BIDDER

Eight Submit Figures On Work For The Last Year

Audit of Royal Oak city fiscal accounts for 1931-32 was awarded to James Sheppard and company by the city commission last night on a 5-2 vote. The company's bid, $500, was low in a field of eight.

Mayor H. Lloyd Clawson and Commissioner Fletcher L. Renton cast the negative ballots, Mr. Renton declaring he could not vote for a qualified bid. The company qualified its bid on the basis that all accounts would be in balance and no unusual irregularities, causing unforeseen extra work, would be found.

Other bidders were Charles E. Israel of Royal Oak, $1,350; Robert Davidson and company, $2,500; Winterhalter and Glaser, $300; E. D. Butler, $750; Post, Marwick, Little and company, $2,250; C. W. Stewart, $800; A. E. Duncan, $3,000.

The original audit award to Mr. Stewart was rescinded two weeks ago when it was found the auditor was not listed in the Michigan register of certified public accountants.

Ford Is Right

Henry Ford has said plenty of things with which we did not agree. But in his recently published series of statements on "Self Help" he hit one important and sound note. Too many persons, he said, simply sit around and wait for somebody to come and thrust employment into their laps.

The Flag's Symbolism

Flowers, precious stones, and colors are said to speak a language. It is a thought for Flag Day, June 14, to consider what the colors of the stars and stripes mean. Do we like those colors just because they are pretty? Or do they tell some story or convey some thought?

National Selfishness

There is some law of life by which selfishness defeats itself. People gain the whole world and lose their own souls, and are sick of the trade. We see this truth illustrated in the scramble at Washington for sectional favors, and sectional evasion of the burdens of taxation.

that injures everybody. It is like a machine in which the breakdown of one little cog wheel stops the whole operation.

What Others Say

Canada's Example

Canada has been much wiser than the United States in its regulation of radio broadcasting. It has had the advantage of watching the more intense development of broadcasting in this country and also the British policy of government ownership of radio stations.

Now the Canadian government has gone even farther. It has enacted a new law which provides that eventually the operation of broadcasting stations shall become a Dominion function. At present the Dominion will permit privately owned stations to continue under strict regulation and at the same time the government will set up a coast to coast chain of its own stations.

When the Japanese, I have read, make a gift of flowers, they send buds.

Now we understand why kittens and puppies and all babies are so interesting. They are in the unfolding stage. Each day they do something they never did before. Each day they reveal what is in them to a pleased and interested world. They are buds.

Austin Scholars Plan
European Study Trips

Evanson, Ill. — Northwestern University's 10 Austin scholars of the junior class will leave the United States, shortly after school closes, for a trip to England and the Continent.

Each will have a project to investigate in Europe and a report to make on his return. With the aid of a board of advisors, each will plan his own trip, which will last for 12 to 15 months. Courses will be taken by some at Oxford, University of London, the Sorbonne, University of Munich, University of Berlin, and University of Madrid.

Originally, the trip was to have been in the nature of a five year study, but was changed at the request of the group, who would prefer to spend the last year at Northwestern to facilitate making contacts for employment upon graduation.

Dr. Myers Pleads for Our Schools

Opportunities Feared Lost by Some Economy Programs

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

ON BEHALF of the annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which met recently in Minneapolis, I brought a message from that city to our schools. Our chief interest is in our children. Nothing else in all the world can mean so much to us as our children. A good many of us parents would willingly give up our lives for them.

But our children now are faced with crises which we do not readily comprehend, with dangers some of which will be registering after we, their parents, will have passed away. These are subtle dangers, dangers to their physical, mental and spiritual growth. For years we have abolished and progressed gained lives sacrificed by the opportunities afforded by the public schools. But almost everywhere these opportunities lately have been limited or entirely destroyed. Whole departments have been ruthlessly cut off. With a single stroke, health and recreation, art and music, for examples, have been abolished and progress gained over half a century has been wiped out.

We, of course, cannot deny the painful fact that public tax returns have dwindled, that taxpayers have been overburdened, that the funds available for all sorts of public services have grown smaller. Accordingly we don't have the money we once had to spend. We parents are faced with similar problems in our homes. But when we thoughtfully sit down and think of what we have to spend we are going to put our children first. While we are tempted to complain about the amount of money spent to educate our children and the children of our neighbors, we have gone on enjoying our luxuries, consuming more cosmetics and tobacco. We go on drawing barrels and barrels of liquid through the straw and adding to our dangerously increased bills by eating sweets. Even if all parents who declare they love their children were to cut out their budget for "bootleg" their children and their neighbors' children would next fall enter school that would offer richer opportunities and not schools impoverished. The innocent children! They have nothing to say about the matter but are made to suffer most.

In this desperate machine age, with leisure hours heaped upon our children and their parents without welcome, what is needed is ability and ways and means for proper amusement, creative enjoyments, pleasures in the beautiful so as to forget the world, burdensome burdens of the soulless world about us.

It is my humble opinion that those things in school which thoughtful critics have called educational trills, such as art and music, are the most valuable means of real education we have stumbled on. If the worst were to come our children might well afford to get along with less reading, "fittin" and "rhythmic" if things which make life more abundant could be increased, or even kept. What do you think about it?

TRIPLETS GRADUATE

Don't Look Quite Alike

By Central Press
IT ISN'T often that triplets are graduated together. But among the 22 graduates who receive diplomas at the commencement of the Pine Grove, West Virginia, high school are the triplets, Ara Langdon, Fannie Lou and Toy Lee Long. The three sisters entered the Pine Grove graded school together in September, 1929, and moved up grade by grade together.

Asked whether they like school they answered all at once. When their replies were sorted out it seemed that Ara Langdon said she likes it very much, but Fannie Lou and Toy Lee's replies were, "Most certainly not!" Just like that.

Does the Milking
These triplets do not look exactly alike. Fannie Lou has brown eyes, while the other two have blue. Fannie Lou is the tallest, too, being five feet nine; Ara Langdon is an inch shorter, and Toy Lee still another inch shorter. All have brown hair, but Fannie Lou's is much darker than the sisters'. Toy Lee does the milking at their Jackie farm home on the outskirts of Pine Grove, named Tripledale Farm in their honor.

Back to Filling Station
"It wasn't what you might call entirely successful from a financial standpoint," says Toy Lee, "so we're going back to the filling station this summer."

Gifts in Threes
Mr. and Mrs. Long never buy a present for any one of the three girls. Gifts always come in threes in the Long household.

Poison Ivy Worst Pest Of Summer

Capt. John Smith Was First to Write Account of Weed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH probably was walking through the woods with Pocahontas, favoring her with those charms of manner, of conversation and personality which later saved his life, when he said, "Oh! look at—the pretty ivy!" And before she could stop him he reached down and picked a leaf. He probably wondered at the silvery laughter of the simple Indian girl, but he soon found out the reason because he wrote about it thus:

"The poison ivy weed being in shape but little different from our English ivy, but being touched caustic redness, itching, and lastly blisters, the which however after a while they pass away of themselves without further harm; yet because for the time they are somewhat painful and in aspect dangerous, it hath gotten itself an ill name although, questionless of no very ill nature."

Such is the first account we have of that pest of the American summer woods.

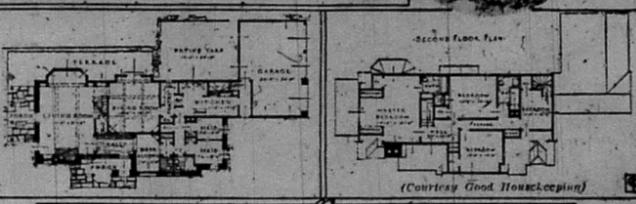

There are several plants of the rhus family which cause poisoning. Poison ivy can be readily distinguished by the characteristic three-leaved branch. The leaves are dark green on the upper surface and velvety underneath. It may grow in the form of a vine or in that of a sort of bush.

Poison sumac always is in the form of a bush. Its habitat is in moist, or swampy ground. The branches have from seven to thirteen leaflets on them, with a single one on the end. The berries, like the berries of the poison ivy, are cream colored.

The active principle of all rhus poisoning is virtually the same. In physical appearance it resembles a fixed oil, and it has a resinous quality. It is very adhesive, almost impossible to remove from the skin or clothing with soap and water. On account of its adhesive qualities it is easily conveyed from one part of the body to another.

INTERIOR SEVENTEENTH CENTURY

Exposed Beams, Sheathing Used

This plan is certified by the Good Housekeeping studio of architecture and furnishings, Helen Kous, director, and its staff of architects, Dwight James Baum, A. I. A., and a select architect, and associate architects, Henry Ives Cobb, Jr., A. I. A., New York; Myron Hunt, F. A. I. A., Los Angeles; C. Herick Hammond, F. A. I. A., Chicago.

typical of early New England colonial style. There are double Dutch doors in this room with windows on either side. There is a play room in the basement treated ruzgedly. It is also suitable for dancing.

The second floor has four bedrooms and two baths, one in connection with the master's room and the other accessible to the remaining rooms. Ample storage space, wardrobes, linen and towel closets have been provided throughout the second floor. The walls are covered with paper of colonial design to obtain an antique finish.

The interior of the house is frankly seventeenth century workmanship, with exposed beams, sheathing over for walls and ceilings in some rooms, and a brick floor in the entrance hall.

The main body of the house is built of local granite, selected to make an interesting color tone and texture. The gable ends and the garage wings are finished with heavy hand-split shingles, while hand-hewn beams are used to frame the porch and entrance motif, and, in a few instances, are used as lintels over window openings, giving a sturdy, seventeenth century feeling.

Marriage Is A Problem To Mary E

Has Lovely Home, Car, but Hubby Goes Out Every Night

By VIRGINIA LEE
I WONDER how many gallant men and women are fighting the good fight, trying to keep their homes together and make a success of their marriage when their hearts are heavy with the burden of a disapproving husband and a disheartening wife.

"I have been married five years and the greater part of the five I have been alone, except for my little child who is not yet three."

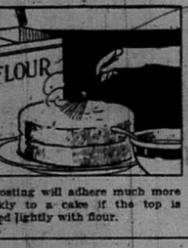

"My husband has a good job, we have a lovely home and nice car. I keep the house as nice and pleasant as possible, never spending any money foolishly and very little on clothes. And still my husband is not satisfied. He has always been of a will nature, but now he is even worse. He goes out every night, I don't know where. And he always heavily laden with liquor, which is one thing I can never get used to."

"He has never asked me to go home with him. He never goes anywhere with me. When I ask him to go to the bottom of it. Of course he has some good qualities, but few. Please help me."

I wonder whether you are not just too good, Mary E. For instance, why should you not have nice clothes if your husband has a good salary and you have a lovely home and car? You always looked nice before you were married, I presume. That is one way you attracted him. Why try so hard to save his money when he goes out every night and spends it on drink?

I imagine that your husband does care for you, but that he thinks you are a good body which makes him feel that he's in the wrong and to show you that he doesn't care he goes right on amusing himself in this way. This is my guess.

Swiss Steak, Boiled Potatoes, Rice, Frieding With Raisins, Tea or Coffee.

Today's Recipes

Swiss Steak—One and one-half pounds round steak, one inch thick; one onion, six dried carrots, one-half cup lima beans, two or three slices green pepper. Brown steak on both sides. After a few minutes, pour a little water over meat and cook about an hour and a half. Half an hour before serving add vegetables with salt and pepper to taste, cover and cook half an hour, adding a little water if needed. Serve four.

Facts and Fancies

Blanket Protectors
For comfort or blanket protectors use an old sheet or old cotton blanket ends, as they are just as wide as the comforts or blankets in use. These can be fitted to match color scheme of room. Instead of sewing to the comfort or blanket, pin them with seven or eight small safety pins, and in this way they can readily be changed when soiled.

Bride's Evening Gown

Sprinkle halved berries with remaining sugar. Cool tapoca mixture. Stir in halved berries and fold into egg white beaten with salt. Pipe into sherbet glasses and serve very cold with a soft custard sauce garnished with the whole berries.

THE BLACK evening gown is one of the most useful and stunning garments in the wardrobe of any well dressed woman, and why not the bride's?

This lovely and unusual gown has huge white flowers applied on the skirt and bodice. It is worn by Grace Brinkley, stage player. Extremely narrow bands of self-material form the shoulder straps, and the belt also is narrower.

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"
THE TINY African jungle babies who toddle about naked in the fields and woods certainly are sturdy youngsters. They are gloriously healthy, and never have rickets, as babies in civilized countries often do.

Now's the time to begin accustoming yourself to sun basks. If you intend indulging in them during the summer, for you can't take a lengthy sun bath right off the bat, you know. Your tender skin is not used to exposure. So you've got to begin circumspectly. Expose yourself to the sun for only 15 minutes the first day or two. Then gradually increase the time of your exposure day by day until you are finally spending as much as an hour or two under the sun each day.

In this zone, the best time to take sun baths is between the hours of 11 and 3 o'clock, for the sun's powers are then at their fullest. As few clothes as possible should be worn, for the ultra-violet sun rays do not easily penetrate clothing. And if you lie in the sun as much as you can from early spring to late fall, you'll find that this mysterious source of life will bring about an amazing increase in your strength and loveliness.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Hands
Patsy: The hand lotion to which you refer is composed of three parts of rosewater and one part of glycerine. A half and half mixture of rosewater and glycerine is also effective.

Your Luck For Today

If you kill a chicken on Monday, you will meet with delay and financial loss.
If it rains on the sixth of June the trees will bear no nuts.
Your whole week will be unlucky if you eat in a strange house on Monday.
Lucky to throw onions after a bride; you throw her tears away.
Leases and contracts should be drawn for an odd number of years, as even numbers in such cases do not turn out well.

ners. Holder of the world's 440 and 880 yards records. Ben is a strong favorite to win both these events in the games at Los Angeles next summer and earning lasting fame as equals of Mel Sheppard, Paul Pilgrim, Archie Hahn, Tom Burke, Ray Ewry and Bud Hauser, all victors in two Olympic events.

Pilgrim, athletic manager of the New York A. C. won the 440 and 800 events in the International games at Athens in 1906. He won the 440 title on a Monday afternoon and the 800 crown the following day. No other runner has matched that feat in those events, but hope is running high for Eastman.

BRONZE TABLETS WILL COMMEMORATE 3 ROMEO SCHOOLS

A bronze tablet in a huge boulder, dedicated to the memory of three old schools of Romeo which, at one time, played an important part in making educational history in Michigan, will be presented to the village of Romeo with impressive ceremonies on June 15.

The Romeo Monday Club, a woman's organization which is more than 50 years old, is sponsoring the affair through Mrs. Orren L. Palmer, president, who conceived the idea and has carried through on the actual plans.

The tablet will be placed on a strip of land known as Victory Place, on the east side of the present high school building. Victory Place was formerly a double roadway, half of which was little used. The idea of years ago when the Romeo high school debating team won the state championship the part of the road was named Victory Place and decided to the village as a park place.

On the tablet will be inscribed the names of the old schools which were popular educational institutions in the state many years ago. They are the Romeo Academy, 1835-1843; the Romeo branch of the University of Michigan, 1843-1851, and the Dickinson Institute, 1854-1867.

The building once occupied by the Romeo Academy and later by the Romeo branch, U. of M., has long since been torn down. The old Dickinson Institute at present is the Romeo high school.

At the ceremonies the tablet will be presented to the village of Romeo. Prominent men will speak made by the Romeo Monday Club. Mrs. John Brewer is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Christian Scientists Hold Annual Meeting

Boston.—Six thousand members of the Christian Science church from all parts of the world attended the annual meeting of The Mother Church in Boston. Election of new officials was announced as follows: President, Ralph O. Brewster, former governor of Maine; First Reader, Gordon V. Comer, of Denver; Second Reader, Miss Lucia C. Coulson, of London, England.

In his address former Governor Brewster said: "The disciples of Christian Science face with others the challenge of a testing time to determine whether their conception of the universe is founded on words of sand or on the rock of an understanding that is equal to every test. To the extent that disciples of Christian Science shall exemplify its teachings for suffering humanity, hungry after the things that really satisfy, to that extent the world will be restored to the path from which it has wandered."

It was announced that ninety-two new branch churches have been added to the denomination in the past year, including churches in Greece, Belgium and Czechoslovakia. There are now 2592 Christian Science churches and societies. Three and a half million people attended the public lectures on Christian Science during the year; Rome, Athens, Shanghai, Java and India were among the places where lectures were given.

Attention was drawn to the progress which is being made in the construction of the publishing house for The Christian Science Publishing Society. It will cost approximately $3,500,000, and will be completed, it is expected, in about a year. Funds for the erection of the publishing house are being contributed by Christian Scientists all over the world.

Relief work has been carried on in the past year by The Mother Church in the Southern Miasisippi Valley, in Germany, Estonia, Finland, Poland, Canada and China.

2,000,000 Baseball Bats Manufactured Yearly In Louisville

(International News Service)
Louisville, Ky.—Louisville is known as the home of baseball bat manufacturing, but few realize that some 2,000,000 weapons based to wallop out home runs and hits are turned out here every year.

Bats of every description for boys to the specials made for big league stars are made here each year.

Every week during the spring and summer from 45,000 to 50,000 ash sticks are made and in the winter months the weekly total jumps to 65,000.

An average bat requires five hours to be made, from the time it starts through the factory as a square edged length of timber until it emerges polished and banded after machine and hand labor.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

The fact that the passing of John Joseph McGraw as manager of the New York Giants brings universal expression of regret from baseball men is indicative of how far baseball has gone from where it was when the fiery, sharp-tongued Baltimore infielder came to New York in 1902.

In his great and illustrious career McGraw made many enemies. Reared in a rough-and-tumble baseball school he was a hard boss and a harder foe. You had to play ball for McGraw—or else. He wanted pennants—and got them. No easy-going, gentle managers ever become known as "Little Napoleons." That tag fitted John McGraw throughout his career like a tailored glove.

A terror to incompetents, McGraw made many lasting friendships among the men who played for him. The case of Christy Mathewson was a shining example. But Big Six was not alone among those who after their playing days were found John McGraw had not forgotten them. Through McGraw the late great Mathewson got his chance as manager of the Cincinnati Reds and through McGraw many other old Giants found good jobs.

McGraw was not always right. But his errors in judgment of baseball ability were extremely few, so few that he did fall to recognize potentialities—as in the case of Hack Wilson—it was a good story. Those who disagree need but recall that in 30 years McGraw had 10 pennant winners and 10 second-place teams—the best managerial record in major league history.

McGraw's critics were innumerable when on July 19, 1902, he deserted the Baltimore American league club of which he was manager, following a quarrel with the late Ben Johnson. He immediately accepted an offer of the New York Giants and enticed four Baltimore stars—Pitchers Joe McGinity and Jack Cronin, First Baseman Dan McGann and Catcher Roger Bresnahan—to quit the Baltimore team and join the Giants.

Around these four and Pitcher Mathewson, the only holdover from a wretched 1901 New York team, McGraw built the first of his 10 pennant winners. His success was almost instantaneous. His team finished second in 1903 and first in 1904 and 1905.

Today McGraw has gone from that bench in the Polo Grounds. And those of us who often saw that stocky, smiling figure, looking just a trifle ridiculous in the uniform he always wore afield until recent seasons, sense that the name has changed, never to be exactly what it was before.

McGraw has gone and he's left behind a thousand stories—a few tales of fist fights beneath the stands, of clubhouse brawls, of umpire baiting and many legends of lost games snatched to victory because one little guy could think of nine men of 10 pennants won—

Maybe it wasn't a sports writer's joke, after all—maybe John McGraw was really a Master Mind!

Mr. Seeterlin's formal announcement, in which he states "political opinions have no relation or connection with law enforcement," is: "While I personally believe and have always believed in the basic principle of the Democratic party, a strict interpretation of the Constitution of the United States and a strict adherence to that interpretation, I respect the rights of others to their own opinions. Political opinions, however, have no relation or connection to the business of law enforcement.

"I am a business man and if selected to handle the law enforcement agency of this county, I will expect to give an honest, serviceable business administration in keeping with the necessary efficiency and economies demanded by the conditions of the times and pocketbooks of the taxpayer today.

"I am forty-five years of age, was born in Oakland county, Waterford township, and educated in Waterford school; served six years under Dr. Christian at Pontiac State Hospital; was street car conductor on Woodward Avenue line two years and was two years with Oakland Motor Car company under R. A. Green. On recommendation of Congressman Samuel W. Smith, I was appointed to the postal service in Detroit where I served six years, 1911 to 1917. I was elected treasurer of Waterford township in 1919. I am senior partner of Seeterlin Brothers, Inc., Chevrolet dealers in the Village of Clarkston, where we have been in business 14 years and where I reside with my wife. ## R. O. TOWNSHIP CREATED IN 1832

former city commissioner, State Senator James E. Lawson.

The history of Royal Oak township officials, but other men of the stern stuff of which American pioneers were made, served their community with loyalty and devotion in many capacities. To them we owe a debt of gratitude for concretely manifesting a quality of faith and confidence that helped to make possible the Royal Oak in which we live.

Because the City of Royal Oak is the oldest community in the township, because 30 per cent of the township's total area now lies within the boundaries of our city, and because our municipality has played a major role in the development of the township district, it was but natural to hope and expect that it would take the initiative in sponsoring an observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the events which I have just described.

Inasmuch as our city's finances have been severely crippled by the prevailing economic depression, and because it was believed that other celebration should be permitted to interfere with the work of the Royal Oak Committee on the United States George Washington Bicentennial Celebration, the idea of promoting a Royal Oak centennial celebration was abandoned.

The year 1932 will offer our community, however, an opportunity to observe the one hundredth anniversary of its founding, and it is hoped that this city will seize upon this occasion not only to do homage to its founders, but to sing its own praises to the people of Michigan.

As a private citizen who is deeply interested in the study of the history of his city, and in memory of her sturdy pioneers, I present to the City of Royal Oak this photographic enlargement of a copy of the bill organizing the Township of Royal Oak, as it appeared in the Democratic Free Press and Intelligencer, Detroit, June 21, 1832. It is accompanied by a copy of this historical account which was not prepared by me in my capacity as a city employee, but during my leisure time, in its small hours of the morning.
