

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt today asked the United Mine Workers union and the leaders of the steel industry to permit the question of the union shop in the captive coal mines to remain "in status quo" for the period of the national emergency, or "submit this point to arbitration" as a final decision.

"Work in the captive mines must recommence," the President said, in a letter addressed to UMW President John L. Lewis, and to Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel and Frank Purcell, president of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. Mr. Roosevelt made the letter public as the captive mine strike was in its third day, with a large number of UMW miners in regular commercial mines walking out in sympathy with the captive pit strikers. The strike in captive shafts was called by Lewis to enforce the UMW demand for a union shop.

Japan Press More Conciliatory Toward U. S.

TOKYO.—Japanese newspapers adopted a more conciliatory attitude toward the United States today and expressed hopes for improved relations. The altered tone contrasted with that of yesterday when the press resounded with government declarations that the army and navy were "fully prepared for the worst eventuality" no matter what the outcome of negotiations with the United States.

Carmody Nominated to Maritime Commission

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt today nominated Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody to membership on the maritime commission. He will fill the unexpired term of John J. Dempsey, now under secretary of the interior.

Murray Says Organization Is CIO Primary Aim

DETROIT.—President Philip Murray of the CIO evoked a thunderous response from convention delegates today when he said that "not even the national emergency" would "stop the great work of organizing American workmen."

"This is the primary function of our organization," he asserted. "That work rises above men."

Murray addressed the CIO's fourth annual meeting for the third consecutive day after delegates had approved his withdrawal with Thomas Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, from the national defense mediation board. As the assembly sat down after approving the NDMB bolt, the silver-haired CIO president walked slowly to the rostrum and emotion filled the hall.

1900 Commercial Miners Stage Walkout

PITTSBURGH.—Approximately 57,900 commercial coal miners in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland were on a walkout in 150 mines today in sympathetic support of the UMW strike for a union shop in the captive coal mines. Fifty thousand miners in West Virginia, taking advantage of the Thanksgiving holiday tomorrow, left the pits in 100 or more commercial mines to support the UMW contention that there can be no operation in the captive mines owned by the steel producer until the union shop clause is included in the contract.

Exemption Proposal Attacked

WASHINGTON.—Strong opposition developed today in the Senate foreign relations committee to a proposed treaty exempting all British defense contracts in this country from taxation, in return for similar exemption by Great Britain.

Steinhardt and Litvinov Reach Cairo

CAIRO.—Laurence A. Steinhardt, U. S. ambassador to Russia, Sir Walter Monckton, head of the British ministry of information services in Cairo and Quentin Reynolds, American magazine writer, arrived here today in a military plane from Tehran, Iran.

Maxim M. Litvinov, new Soviet ambassador to the United States, was expected to leave Tehran for Cairo by regular plane today.

Arrest of Rector Called 'Police Matter'

ROME.—Competent quarters said today that the arrest in Rome yesterday of the Rev. Hiram Wolf of Elmira, N. Y., rector of the American Episcopal church here, was purely a police matter. Wolf was arrested on suspicion. He is being held incommunicado for investigation but, competent quarters said, the American embassy is being informed of developments in the case. The arrest, it was said, "has no political significance whatever" and is not connected with his duties as pastor.

Nearly 81, Says He Will Retire

A member of congress since 1903, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska has announced he will not seek re-election. "I couldn't do it," he said, "because I would be ashamed to take my salary." He said, "I'll be 81 on my next birthday and I'm wearing out." He is pictured in his Washington office gazing meditatively at a picture of a Nebraska rye field after he made the announcement.

Britain Shakes Up Army Staff

by REUEL S. MOORE

LONDON.—Great Britain shook up its high command today with a drastic injection of younger generals expert in mechanized war, indicating that "fighting days will come again."

It appeared obvious that the government was preparing for the day when Imperial forces will take the offensive against Germany.

These new appointments were announced:

General Sir Alan Francis Brooke, 58, crack specialist in mechanized war, to be chief of the Imperial general staff, succeeding General Sir John Dill who retires Dec. 25 at the age of 60. Dill becomes governor of Bombay.

Maj. Gen. Archibald Edward Nye, 45, brilliant young commander who has risen from the ranks, to be vice-chief of the Imperial general staff. The post is a stepping stone to the high command for which, many thought, Nye is being groomed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Pownall, 53, transferred from vice-chief of the general staff to a "special appointment," the nature of which was not revealed.

Deer Hunter Gets 500-Pound Bear

A. J. Campbell, 406 Sunnybrook road, didn't bring home a buck but the substitution was quite satisfactory. It was a 500-pound black bear which Campbell and three companions routed out of its den Monday near Trout creek, Ontario. Sidney Maitland, 232 Woodside road, was also a member of the party.

Past worker E. S. Frey, 9 Wellesley drive, Pleasant Ridge, had an eight-point buck and a six-point buck bagged and dressed and hanging up at 7:45 p. m. Saturday in his camp near Fife lake in Grand Traverse county.

He brought one (the eight-point) which weighed about 140-150 pounds home and left the other for camp.

Arthur Carpenter returned to his home, 1125 East Hendrickson boulevard, Clawson, Tuesday evening, with a 160-pound buck and several cuts from another 110-pound deer he took on a camp permit. He shot both Sunday morning two hours apart. Carpenter left Friday night for Oscoda with two brothers, Victor of Hazel Park and Ted of Detroit, and Ed Bruff of Clawson.

'Thief' Captured but Won't Talk to Police

A "thief" with an ingratiating manner was captured in the home of Mrs. Catherine Bell, 2854 Burdett avenue, Ferndale, today, after winning her confidence with a "hello." However, the captive refused to make a statement to police.

Mrs. Bell was at a bedroom window when she noticed a crow sitting on the side yard fence. She thought she heard the crow say "Hello," so she opened the window to make sure. The crow repeated the greeting and Mrs. Bell returned it. Then she walked out of the bedroom and left the window open.

A few moments later she heard a clatter in the room and went to investigate. The crow was talking around Mrs. Bell's dresser picking up "bobby" pins and jewelry. After rejecting a miscellaneous assortment of pins, the crow picked out one with a bright red jewel and started to fly for the window.

Mrs. Bell checked the flight by starting a conversation. The crow stopped to listen, but didn't put down the pin. Mrs. Bell slipped outside and closed the window, trapping the thief. Then she went into the bedroom, captured the bird and put him in a clothes hamper pending the arrival of police.

The crow didn't like confinement to the clothes hamper. It would squawk, but wouldn't talk.

Rules Referendum on Revenue Bonds Is Not Required

A Michigan supreme court decision in a Garden City case Tuesday cleared the way for Southern Oakland county municipalities to issue revenue bonds for sewage disposal without submitting the issue to a popular referendum.

The court held that the constitutional requirement of a 60 per cent majority vote applied to only these utilities: water, light, heat, power and transportation.

Under a 1933 statute, governing bodies of cities, villages, school districts, townships and subdivisions may thus issue bonds to pay for such projects as housing, garbage collection and disposal, public markets, airports, parks, playgrounds, stadiums, auditoriums, hospitals, bridges and other utilities with the exception of those covered by the constitution.

Man Held, Woman Sought for Theft From Store

Harry L. Walker, age 41, of Chicago, is held for investigation by Ferndale police who are searching for his woman companion who stole an electric radio and electric clock from the Witbeck Household Appliance shop, 23365 Woodward avenue, Monday evening.

The man and the woman entered the store together. A V. Witbeck, son of the proprietor, said. While the man engaged Witbeck in conversation, the woman took the radio and clock and left the store. Witbeck said. Witbeck, however, held his hand in his pocket as though he had a gun and marched the man to a nearby real estate office where police were called.

Walker refused to give the woman's name. However, his fingerprints reveal he has a long record. Detective Lieut. Clifford E. Frits said.

Africa Probable Site of Winter War Front

by JOE ALEX MORRIS

Adolf Hitler was understood today to have tightened the Nazi grip on France by forcing the ouster of Gen. Maxime Weygand as proconsul for Africa at a time when Great Britain was realigning fighting forces for winter war on distant fronts. The dismissal of Weygand over the protests of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain because of his opposition to Axis plans in Africa involved not only a question of deteriorating Vichy relations with the United States but appeared to fit into the shift of the main war fronts toward the warmer climate of the Mediterranean, the Indian ocean and the Pacific.

British patrol activity on a major scale in Libya was believed to foreshadow important military developments in North Africa, the Royal Air Force continued to hammer almost every night at Naples and other points on the Axis supply line to Libya and the great new British battleship Prince of Wales touched at Capetown on Boyd L. Klopfenstine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Klopfenstine, 929 West Dayton avenue, Ferndale, left today for Kansas City, Kan., where he was notified to report Friday for training in the Naval Air Corps, by the Ninth Naval district headquarters, Great Lakes, Ill. Born Jan. 9, 1926, in Detroit, he has lived in Ferndale with his parents for 19 years. He was graduated in January, 1938, from Lincoln high school, attended Hilldale college for two years and also the Detroit Institute of Technology, last summer. At Hilldale, he was affiliated with the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and had been elected president of the "H" club for 1941-42. He was employed until two weeks ago in Detroit.

Weygand Loses Post in Africa

by United Press

NEW YORK.—Private advices received by the United Press today from Europe said the Vichy government has ousted Gen. Maxime Weygand from his post as chief of French defenses in Africa.

Taken at the insistence of Adolf Hitler, his dismissal was expected to have far-reaching repercussions. Vichy it was said, hopes it will open the way to "all-out" collaboration between France and Germany.

It also may bring radical re-examination of British and American policies toward French Africa. American supplies have been going to North Africa under an agreement which is understood to depend upon Weygand's guarantees to defend French Africa against Axis incursions.

Dismissal of Weygand, it was presumed, will lead to reconsideration of the agreement and also to re-examination of a more or less "hands off" policy toward French Africa by the British.

A Nazi Demand

Weygand's ouster is reported to be the second step in the preliminary steps for rapprochement between France and Germany.

The Germans were said to have laid down two conditions for resumption of negotiations. The first was an official expression of sympathy for the German war against Russia which was made two weeks ago by Petain when he gave his blessing to the French legion of volunteers being sent to the eastern front.

The second was dismissal of Weygand. Great pressure for his ouster was exerted by the Germans last month, it was understood, with the backing of virtually the entire Vichy government. However, Petain resisted, and, instead, sent Gen. Charles Huntziger, war minister, to Africa to make a personal report on defense dispositions there and Weygand's activity.

Huntziger was killed last week when his plane crashed up as he returned to France with the report. The Germans then utilized Huntziger's funeral to renew pressure.

Longfellow

The Longfellow kindergarten boys and girls have made Indian hats and blankets.

The 1B children are learning about the first Thanksgiving by pictures and stories. They are making decorations for the room and will take them home later to enjoy, too.

This week the 1A's have been working on their costumes for "The Little Red Hen." They designed and constructed them and think they are very effective.

The 2B's have been getting ready for Thanksgiving. They have listened to several stories about it and have illustrated them. They drew silhouettes of the Pilgrims and the Indians, made a miniature Pilgrim village showing the first Thanksgiving, and made a large mural showing Pilgrims and Indians. They have painted spoons to be boxed and sent to the children in hospitals, and last of all, each one is making a place card for himself for the table on Thanksgiving Day.

The 2A group has been working very hard on the play, "Old Man Rabbit's Thanksgiving." Each member of the class has a part. In handwork we have been making a picture book containing miniatures of famous pictures. We have been enjoying a story of the Pilgrim Children.

The 3B class has been learning about the way Dutch children live, in connection with our Thanksgiving work. We have a great deal of enjoyment out of the library work. We have planned a trip to the Public Library after Thanksgiving.

In reading the poem, "Thanksgiving Day," the 3B's were talking about different parts of it. Very few had ever seen a sleigh drawn by a team of horses or had ever heard sleigh bells.

The 4B's are learning their tables of 4's. We have a new multiplication chart which we are having much fun using.

The 5B's are enjoying the fact that they won again this month, having for the second time had the highest number of parents attending the P. T. A.

The girls won over the boys in their magazine contest, so the losers are treating the winners to cider and doughnuts after school Wednesday.

For their written work in safety this month, the 6B's wrote rules for the safe crossing of streets.

Glee Club and 6B's are memorizing Thanksgiving songs. Patriotic and safety songs are being sung. Christmas music is begun.

Art classes are making gifts. We are finishing safety posters and Thanksgiving drawings.

The various geographical journeys help us to be thankful for our own homes. This year as we turn the globe we find we have many things to remember and be grateful for this Thanksgiving season. Many things are being added to our list as each class discusses the country being visited.

The auditorium classes enjoyed seeing some of their favorite fairy tales in pictures. The films shown were "The Frog Prince," "The Tin Soldier," and "East of the Sun and West of the Moon."

George Elliott, 7B, has been placed on the Safety Patrol. A rat furnished much entertainment for the children in front of the building Monday noon. However, a great deal of respect was shown it.

The 4A's enjoyed a treat of frost sticks for winning the magazine contest.

Traffic Records Set on State Highways

LANSING.—New all time records for traffic volume were set on practically every highway in Michigan during the past year, State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy said today.

The commissioner reported that "regular" highway travel had increased 11.5 per cent during the past year and that recreational travel was up from 10 to 25 per cent over last year.

Increases of from 40 to 70 per cent in highway travel were noted in comparison with traffic count records of five years ago.

"Typical of increases on recreational highways," Kennedy said, "are gains shown in the Upper Peninsula where traffic climbed 15 per cent during the summer months over the corresponding period last year. In the northern part of the Lower Peninsula traffic gains of 14 per cent were recorded over 1940, while further south gains ranged from 19 to 20 per cent.

U. S. 27 Popular— "Increasing in popularity with pleasure travelers this summer was US-27, extending through the center of the state. Travel on this highway, taken by thousands of motorists in visiting Northern Michigan, climbed 20 per cent over last year's figures."

Other popular highways were US-31 on Lake Michigan and US-33 and US-25 on Lake Huron, showing gains of from 10 to 15 per cent over 1940. Travel on US-13, also gained steadily in favor of pleasure seeking motorists, was up 11 per cent over last year.

"These figures reveal that while a large part of the record 16,500,000 miles of travel on Michigan's highways this year is the result of increased industrial activity generated by the national defense program," Kennedy said, "Pleasure travel also kept pace and in many instances outdistanced commercial driving increases."

Kennedy said travel across the straits soared to a new record this year, with a total of 323,655 vehicles transported on the state-operated ferries during the first 10 months, compared with 296,762 for the entire year of 1940. This was an increase of 62,976, or 24.1 per cent, over the figures for the corresponding period last year.

H. P. High Gives 'Charley's Aunt' 49-Year-Old Play

Bill Michael is starred as Sir Fancourt Babberly as Hazel Park celebrates the 49th anniversary of "Charley's Aunt." This famous play first produced in London, Dec. 6, 1892, will now be presented in the Hazel Park high school auditorium, Dec. 4-5.

"Charley's Aunt," was recently filmed for the third time and starred Jack Benny as Sir Fancourt Babberly. Jose Ferrer portrayed the roll of Sir Fancourt Babberly last season when "Charley's Aunt," enjoyed more performances than any other play of the season.

This is a comedy which grows from a ridiculous impersonation. Jack Chesney and Charley Wickham being in love with Kitty Verdon and Amy Spettigue want to propose to them at a party, which is to be chaperoned by Charley's aunt, Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez.

Upon the failure of the aunt to arrive as scheduled, a college friend, Sir Fancourt Babberly, seeing the need of his assistance, impersonates the aunt.

THE ROYAL

Tax Program Is Tempered by Treasury

by DAYTON MOORE

United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON—Treasury officials today are revising their new tax program in an effort to make it as unobjectionable as possible to vote-conscious Congressmen and persons who have not enjoyed wage increases or profits from higher commodity prices.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said he may make public details of the Administration tax program—designed to collect additional billions of dollars to help pay the defense bill and to check inflation—before he leaves Wednesday for the Thanksgiving holiday.

"Lots of changes" have been made in the Treasury's program for additional taxes since it was shoved aside by the House ways and means committee two weeks ago, he said. During the fortnight, "hundreds" with low incomes have

Family Dinners in Homes Mark Day of Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day, the great all-American feast day for bringing families together, will maintain its position in Southern, Oakland and other communities tomorrow. Men of the armed forces will be included with the family groups at many tables and, in all, the college students who can will be home. A number of local residents will spend Thanksgiving week-end with out-of-town relatives or friends.

Original Wedding Party at 50th Anniversary

Bentley celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday afternoon and evening in the home of the couple's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Helmrich, 26590 Dundee road, Huntington Woods. The photograph shows the bridal party, J. W. Shillington of Blenheim, Ont., Canada, best man; Mr. and Mrs. Bentley; Mrs. Frank Foster (Dell McArthur) of Lansing, maid of honor; and Mrs. J. W. Shillington (Barbara Bentley), sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaid.

More than 200 persons were received at the Helmrich home where a tea table was laid with a hand-crocheted cloth made by Mrs. Bentley, crocheting being her hobby. An arrangement of fifty yellow roses centered the table and was flanked by golden candles in silver holders and silver tea services. Flowers, gifts to the couple, were used in profusion throughout the rooms of the house. Two girls, friends of Mrs. Bentley in Detroit, Mrs. Eugene Piper and Mrs. John VanHee, presided at the table in the evening. Mrs. H. C. McNaughton of Pleasant Ridge and Mrs. Chris Isager of Huntington Woods, friends of the family, presided in the afternoon.

Duncan H. Bentley and Luella Irene Tucker were married at a 5 o'clock ceremony, Wednesday, Nov. 18, 1891, when the Rev. George Barlow officiated in the Calvary church on Michigan avenue, Detroit. Mrs. Bentley was born in Detroit to Mr. and Mrs. Galen L. Tucker (Esther Close). Mr. Bentley was born Sept. 27, 1888, in Blenheim, Ont., to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bentley (Isabell Haggart), and came to Detroit in 1889. He was in partnership in the Bentley-Hubbard company of Detroit, decorating business for 33 years, and retired ten years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bentley moved from their home on Marston avenue, Detroit, to the Huntington Woods residence eight years ago. They have two other daughters, Mrs. F. L. Parker of Sylvan avenue, Pleasant Ridge, and Mrs. F. C. Hall of Borgman avenue, Huntington Woods; two sons, LeRoy M. Bentley and Duncan H. Bentley, Jr., of Detroit. There are seven grandsons, one granddaughter; and one great-granddaughter. Their grandson, Bobby Reid, is a Daily Tribune carrier-salesman.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bentley have been active in the Woodward Avenue Presbyterian church of Detroit. The Rev. Herbert B. Hudnut was present for the festivities as was the Rev. Robert S. Steen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Royal Oak, the Helmrich family church.

House Studies Plan for Future Veterans

WASHINGTON. — Congress, having paid out more than $14,000,000,000 to veterans of five major wars, today is studying legislation in the interest of its future veterans — veterans of the draft army of 1941.

Pending before the House is a bill by Rep. Fred Douglas, Republican of New York, which would permit incorporation of an organization to be known as "veterans of selective service" to protect the future interests of today's selectees.

Also pending is legislation which would permit incorporation of the "ex-National Guardsmen and service men's association" which would "defend the United States from all enemies and combat Fascism, Nazism, Communism, and un-American activities."

The House pensions committee today will consider a bill which would provide pensions at full wartime rates to all soldiers killed or injured while on especially hazardous work even while the nation is not at war. The regular, non-war-time pension rate is about 75 per cent of the war-time rate.

The nation, nowhere near through paying its debt to the wounded and orphaned of its past wars, has paid to date:

List Payments —
To World War veterans and their dependents, $4,399,612,276; Spanish American, $1,688,065,208; Civil War, $8,060,979,585; Mexican, $61,468,805; Indian Wars, $86,602,848. To veterans of its regular establishment it has paid $207,388,239. These figures do not include more than $3,000,000,000 in bonus payments.

The veterans administration still is paying a pension to the daughter of a veteran of the war of 1812. Still living and receiving pensions are 425,123 veterans of the World War, 151,630 veterans of the Spanish American war; 1,316 veterans of the Civil War, and 1,915 veterans of the Indian wars.

Already more than 570,000 selectees have taken advantage of the special low-rate insurance offered by the Army to its men. This represents a total of $1,935,491,000.

None of the legislation pending before Congress to incorporate future veterans organizations envisions the payment of any stipends to them. It merely would permit these organizations to be set up on the model of the American Legion.

Selectees Requested Bill — Douglas introduced his bill at the request of a group of four selectees from Utica, N. Y., now stationed at Fort Bragg. They declare their organization would "perpetuate the principles and ideals gained during the period of training under the selective training and service act of 1941 by those men who had the privilege of serving their country's interests."

BEP Suggested
A canvas of possibilities suggested that he may be slated for command of a British expeditionary force—a post for which he is fitted by experience, having been chief of staff of the BEF in 1940.

The new commander, Brooke, is known as the "wizard" of the British army. He is a noted expert on mechanized weapons and is credited with putting over the vigorous program to put the army on wheels and into tanks and give it every possible ounce of striking power. He was commander of the Second Corps of the BEF in Flanders and went through Dunkirk. He is known as the inventor of the barrage map which is used by artillery in spotting barrages.

Key Assignment
However, it was the appointment of Nye which aroused the greatest interest because of his youth and his key assignment which normally leads to elevation as chief of the Imperial general staff.

Nye is known in army circles for his "quick brain and inexhaustible mental energy." He has commanded every kind of military formation, beginning with the infantry squad. Born in Dublin, Nye is the son of a non-commissioned officer. His rise through the ranks is equalled only by the World War field marshal, Sir William Robertson.

what may be a journey to the Far East.

On the eastern fighting front, the Germans reported "new attacks" in a generalized statement apparently referring to the Moscow front as well as the Donets basin, where the Axis is trying to get an offensive under way against Rostov and the Caucasus oil area. No important gains were indicated.

Reds Hold Initiative

Russian dispatches continued to report that the Germans had been unable to advance on Rostov and that the Red army still was holding the initiative on the Moscow front, having pushed the Germans back at Volokolamsk and held at Tula and Kalinin. The Soviets also said they still held the Crimean city of Kerch on Tuesday.

A Soviet spokesman at Kuibyshev said that Hitler's promise to end the war in Russia before winter was "just so much verbiage," and that the war would end with the extermination of the Germans. The disclosure that the 35,000-ton Prince of Wales had been at Capetown followed reports from the Dutch/East Indies that Germany's 35,000-ton modern battleship Tirpitz was believed to have made its way to the Pacific ocean, presumably to lend striking power to the Japanese fleet in event of war in the Orient or to act as a surface raider.

The Japanese also were reported to have concentrated four more cruisers at Saigon, where they already had a destroyer fleet in Indo-China waters, in connection with persistent indications from Tokyo that a blow was planned against Thailand or the Burma road. These naval movements as well as the hints of impending action seemed to be primarily part of the war of nerves in the Pacific, at least for the time being.

Strike-Curb Legislation Studied

under government supervision.

The administration also leaned a compromising ear to proposals to outlaw violent picketing, backed up by Federal enforcement.

This program eventually will take form in a bill sponsored by Chairman Mary T. Norton, Democrat of New Jersey, of the labor committee. Mrs. Norton said yesterday she had drafted a bill embodying the first point and added later that she would incorporate the second point.

Against this background House leaders worked desperately to hold the lid down on Congressional unrest over presidential handling of defense strikes.

The advocates of strong action against all labor interference with defense production were confident of enough House votes to pass drastic legislation. They were not sure that sentiment would be so overwhelmingly on their side two weeks from now, when Congressional leaders reported the President would be ready for action.

It is possible for the strong-action forces to bring a showdown at any moment by calling the Vinson compulsory mediation bill, which has been on the speaker's table since last June.

While the administration leaders indicated they might accept a ban on violent picketing in a compromise with the Smith bill they made it clear they would fight to the end against too extreme legislation.

Federal Seizure Bill

In the Senate, Sen. Tom Connally, Democrat of Texas, announced he would start judicial subcommittee hearings Friday on his bill to empower the government to take over struck plants. The Senate passed a similar measure earlier in the session but the House killed it.

But not all the talk in the Senate was for drastic action.

Sen. Abe Murdock, Democrat of Utah, said he could not believe the labor situation "calls for legislation."

"You can't legislate unity any more than you can legislate morality," he said, adding that if legislation were adopted it should merely provide mediation facilities without penal clauses.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democrat of Wyoming, issued a preliminary report urging development of western mineral resources. The group has held hearings for several months.

"Monopolistic control of mining industries has prevented the exploration and development of new sources of supply by centering the fabricating plants in the East," the report said.

"The purpose of this report is to call attention primarily to the fact that we have neglected our own resources and have been content to depend upon the output of other lands. Instead of developing the tungsten minerals of the intermountain states, for example, we have sought tungsten in the remote parts of China."

The investigation, the committee said, casts doubt upon the necessity of strict rationing of raw materials which is threatening small business throughout the nation.

"The information which has been gathered by this committee pointedly raises the question as to whether or not it is necessary to make such severe cuts in civilian industry," the report said.

"In the western states there are huge undeveloped resources of most of the very materials for lack of which the defense authorities are shutting off the supply of civilian industry in order that defense industries may not be crippled. Increased production of these materials would obviously tend to meet the demand of both defense and civilian industries and to offset dangerous inflationary tendencies."

Since his return from England, the Michigan police captain has been appointed a special assistant to Mayor F. H. La Guardia, commissioner of civilian defense, and has been "loaned" to the Federal government for special service in promotion of civilian defense.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By GENE ALLEMAN
MICHIGAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

LANSING.—A threatened strike of C. I. O. workers in the Chrysler tank plant at Center Line, one of Michigan's key industries in national defense, has focused attention again on the role of the state mediation board.

The idea of requiring labor to serve notice of intention to strike and thus to permit voluntary mediation during a "cooling off" period was conceived during the 1939 state legislature. The late Frank Fitzgerald had sensed the public's critical reaction to the sit-down strikes of 1937. Labor peace became one of his promises, and the state mediation board logically followed when he was elected governor.

During the present emergency, Governor Van Wagener has made frequent use of the mediation machinery established by the state board. To seek a settlement of the Chrysler tank dispute, the governor appointed a special mediation committee headed by Thomas J. Donahue, chairman of the state board. The governor said to the press:

"I will do everything in my power to make sure that the continuous flow of tanks from the arsenal is not interrupted for as much as one day."

Labor Policy

The rise here of labor disputes, some of which have seriously hampered defense production, is in rather sharp contrast to the cordial relations existing in England between unions and employers.

While strikes in war industries have been banned in England, the government's order was agreed to in advance by both labor and employers. Furthermore, it contained no penalty provisions against strikers.

In the first World War Great Britain introduced compulsory arbitration of disputes in war industries, and yet more than 1,500,000 munitions workers took part in illegal strikes during thirty-three months after adoption of the act in July, 1914. Compulsory arbitration is difficult to enforce.

Even the United States during the last World War never prohibited strikes or lockouts. The national war labor board was without authority, as is the present national labor mediation board, to enforce its decisions. Yet, the record shows that the board's decisions were generally accepted.

Morale Is Key

Capt. Don Leonard, Michigan State Police executive who visited England last summer on a national civilian defense mission, was impressed greatly with the high morale of the British worker in support of the government's war efforts.

He visited industrial plants in which men and women were working long hours daily to produce vitally needed tanks, airplanes and munitions. Any thought of depriving the government of defense material was considered by the British "man on the street" as subversive, unpatriotic, and downright sabotage.

"One factory was hit by bombs during an aerial raid," Captain Leonard relates. "The workers were so outraged at the Germans that they voluntarily increased their own production and stepped up the normal output 20 per cent for the next few months."

British labor unions are of long standing, contrasted to the newness of many unions in this country. The regular machinery for collective bargaining has been effective in adjusting disputes without recourse to interference in production.

Complacency

Since his return from England, the Michigan police captain has been appointed a special assistant to Mayor F. H. La Guardia, commissioner of civilian defense, and has been "loaned" to the Federal government for special service in promotion of civilian defense.

How has the average American citizen received the civilian defense program?

According to Captain Leonard, the attitude of Americans today is somewhat like the attitude of Britishers before the Nazi invasion of Belgium and Holland and the collapse of the French army. Britishers were unimpressed by the possible dangers of bombing attacks from the air; invasion of the island was considered a fantasy; industrial production of war materials took an easy-going pace.

Lagging Morale

Because the United States has 3,000 miles of water between the Atlantic coast and Europe, the average American is complacently confident of the country's security from military attack, the captain observes. He is inclined to overlook the military hazards that would follow a few years from today should Hitler triumph in Europe; he is confident also that the Japanese are bluffing, that we will not be engaged in a two-ocean war with a one-ocean navy.

The combined result of such circumstances and thinking is a lagging morale with regard to defense production. Rise of labor strikes is current proof of it. Even the so-called "shooting war" on the Atlantic has not been enough to create a spirit of determination to defeat Hitler. We present this conclusion not in criticism of labor, nor in defense of any administration, but as an observation objectively borne out by the facts.

As Captain Leonard puts it, many of us still do not realize that our government has pledged America's entire national resources to secure the military defeat of Hitler, regardless of the cost.

A costly tie-up of tank production, should the C. I. O. strike actually develop, might create a 1942 political liability akin to the sit-down backfire that proved so disastrous to Governor Frank Murphy.

The public moves slowly, yet public opinion, once aroused, becomes a swinging pendulum that tends to go from one extreme to another.

Fire Insurance Hearing Ended

LANSING.—Members of the state rating commission which for four days heard evidence for and against reducing fire insurance rates in Michigan cities where first-class fire departments are maintained, said it probably would be next spring before a decision is reached.

The hearing ended yesterday with an announcement that the City of Detroit would be given 30 days in which to file a brief after a transcript of the testimony had been submitted; that Edmund C. Shields, chairman of the Democratic state central committee who was representing 371 fire insurance companies, would be given 30 days in which to reply to the Detroit brief, and that the City of Detroit would be given a chance to reply to Shields.

The insurance companies had been ordered to show cause why premiums charged for residential fire insurance should not be reduced 15 per cent or more.

SYNOPSIS

FRED MOSHER, up-and-coming young real estate dealer in a southern town, long has been the suitor of SUSAN FARMER, who has rejected all his proposals because she feels that she has the duty of replenishing the family fortune for her aunt.

YESTERDAY: Fred and Susan hear a radio program announcing a contest to find a "typical farmer's daughter." The winner will receive $5,000 and a trip to New York.

CHAPTER THREE

LEANING downward so as to see by the bulb in the dashboard of the roadster, Susan began writing.

"Send your picture to Dainty Diana Dairies. In care of this station," said the voice. "That is if you feel you can qualify as the typical farmer's daughter for whom we are searching. Also send us a letter of not more than 250 words, telling something of your life on the farm, and your background."

On and on . . . On and on . . . Susan's pen flying, her eyes shining. And Fred's face taking on a look of comprehension. Slowly but surely into his mind was seeping an understanding of what was going on inside the lovely head of Susan Farmer, of Ardendale.

"There!" said Susan. Fred switched off the radio and stopped the car.

Then he faced Susan, his eyes blazing.

"Do you mean to tell me YOU plan to enter that darn fool contest?" he said.

"I do," said Susan.

"Well, all of the—the—" "My father was a farmer," said Susan. "So that makes me a farmer's daughter. I have a perfect right to enter the contest—and it's not a darn fool one, either."

"But you're not typical," said Fred.

"That," Susan retorted, "is a matter of opinion."

"You look more like something straight from Park avenue than you do something straight from a farm."

"Thank you, Fred, darling. If that's meant to be a compliment."

Fred ignored the endearment. "And," he said, "you never milked a cow in your life."

"Didn't you hear that man say the 'lucky girl' would milk a Dainty Diana Dairies cow in front of a moving picture machine?"

"I did."

"Well?"

"Well, WHAT?" said Susan. "I've got plenty of time to practice. The contest has one week more to run."

Fred grabbed both Susan's hands—held them in a firm grip.

"Listen, you," he said angrily. "If you think I'm going to let you go up to New York and make a perfect sap of yourself, you're badly mistaken."

"You've got nothing to do with it," Susan told him. "And let go my hands. You're hurting me."

"Will someone tell me what I've got an advertising department?"

"What sort of picture?" Fred asked, suspicious.

"One of me as the typical farmer's daughter," he demanded.

"Good Lord, Susan, have you gone completely out of your mind?"

"I want you to snap me in a sun-bonnet," Susan continued, "holding a milk pail, and standing beside Esmeralda."

"Who's she?"

"Aunt Alice's cow."

"Oh!" said Fred. "But I thought she died last winter."

"She's pretty thin and didn't after her long illness, but she'll do for background."

"Susan—PLEASE!"

"My mind's made up," said Susan. "I'll look for you just before noon, when the sun is good and bright."

Fred groaned.

"Good Lord!" he said miserably. And that was all. No other words would come.

He started off into the distance, noted that the moon had hidden its face behind a cloud, and didn't wonder at it. Of all the crazy, silly, idiotic things he had ever heard about, this thing that Susan Farmer was planning to do took the cock-eyed cake.

Susan suddenly broke the silence between them.

"Don't stand here wasting time!" she said. "Hurry! I want to get home and start writing my 250-word letter while I'm still inspired."

"But, Mr. Jones,"

gan. "We—"

Mr. Jones waved speaker to silence.

"The Dainty Diana Dairies," rushed on, "turn cheese and butter milks to be had this the Milky Way. As housewives buy them, they laugh! The Dairies products are while a lot of lip-dairies sells all over country of ours. Why wait for anyone to 'Why? Because the original idea is to be a tire office. If my staff put together head, all that would be a fairy story that the attention of a kind of half-wits."

Oak 1925 Team Gathers for Reunion

Determined to keep the Little Brown Jug in their possession, the above group of Royal Oak high school football players are ready for action as they await the start of the game to send them into action.

against Baldwin high of Birmingham in the Thanksgiving Day classic at 10:30 a. m., Thursday, on Case field. The game will mark the 30th meeting between the two schools since the series was opened in 1913.

Oaks Fight to Retain Brown Jug

Keyed to the highest pitch for their most important game of the season, Royal Oak high school gridders are rarin' to go as they await the call of action that will send them onto the turf at Case field against Baldwin high of Birmingham at 10:30 a. m., Thursday.

At stake in this 30th annual Thanksgiving Day struggle will be the Little Brown Jug, symbol of football supremacy between the schools. Royal Oak regained possession of the jug in 1933 and has held it ever since. Birmingham has put up two great battles in the last two years, tying Royal Oak, 6-6, in 1939, and losing, 3-0, in 1940.

Coaches John S. French of Royal Oak and George J. Wurrter of Birmingham report their squads to be in top form for the game. Birmingham will play without the services of Jo Armstrong, outstanding back, who suffered a fractured collar bone several weeks ago.

Whether or not Bruce Flu, Royal Oak's sensational sophomore punting back, will be able to play against Birmingham in the season's grand finale is still a big question mark. The odds are against Flu playing but his sprained ankle may respond to late treatments, and enable him to get into the fray.

With the exception of the aforementioned injured players, both teams will be in good physical shape for the contest. Considering the contest from all angles, it appears that a close game is in prospect for an expected crowd of 6,000 persons.

Paul Kelley, senior halfback, will carry the bulk of Birmingham's offensive hopes into the game. One of three team captains, Kelley should gain considerable yardage for the Maples through his hard plunging efforts. Bill Spiegel, 146-pound back, will be a constant threat to Royal Oak with his brilliant open-field running.

Senior Bob Martin, triple-threat star, will lead the Acorn attack against the Maples. Martin scored all of Royal Oak's points at Ferndale in his last performance. An able runner and punter, Martin excels in the passing department.

Assisting Martin with the back-field duties will be Don Shannon at quarterback, Jack Shader at left half and Charles Knox at right half. Shannon filled in Flu's spot against Ferndale and turned in a praiseworthy showing. Shader has been a consistent player all season while Knox has been the spark plug of the club. Outstanding on defense, Knox is also a good offensive player.

Probable starting lineups:

Royal Oak	Birmingham
Papageorge	Dahlquist
Jensen	Jones
Lester	Hanson
Groves	Watts
Stauffer	Ballard
Dallavo	Porter
Gauss	Martin
Shannon	Golling
Shader	Spiegel
Knox	Kelley

Oaks Hold Edge in Past Games

When football teams of Royal Oak and Baldwin high school of Birmingham tangle at 10:30 a. m., Thursday, at Case field they will be engaging in their 28th year of competition during which 29 games were played. The Oaks have won 14 games, Birmingham, 10, and five ties.

The series opened in 1913 when Royal Oak nosed out the Maples by a 7-6 score. Royal Oak kept the "Little Brown Jug" in its trophy case until 1917 when Birmingham emerged on the long end of a 17-7 count. The Acorns gained back the jug in 1919 with a 10-6 victory.

After a lapse of two years, the gridiron feud was resumed in 1922 when Birmingham gained a 3-0 triumph. The jug moved from school to school until 1933 when Royal Oak downed the Maples, 18-0, and has stayed in the ROHS show case ever since. Royal Oak won, 3-0, last year by the margin of Bob Martin's field goal.

Turns Home in Convoy He Got His First Buck

King, 812 Florence avenue, home Monday in convoy with first buck and a claim to his automobile insurance.

He had been at the Michigan Chemical company plant in Detroit for the past several days, but because of the hunting before, but because of the license and thought he'd go to the sport.

He finished his inspections in the hunt Saturday and part of the hunt Sunday. So, he was home. As he mounted a rise in US-23 about 12 1/2 miles north of Harrisville at dusk, King started to drive. The buck stopped. King swung back way, but the buck reared and was struck with the front fender of the car. The collision killed the three-year-old buck and ruined the front end of King's car.

Up at Lewiston half of an eight-man party stayed at camp and half of the boys came home. They were lucky. Back home are F. F. Kaufman of Ferndale, Roy Hutchings of Royal Oak, Eddie Lane and Gene Bell of Detroit.

Carl E. Doyle, 335 West Harrison avenue, a Martin bus driver, had an eye for left as he fired away about 8:30 Saturday morning. Leastwise a six-point 225-pound buck is a little more than just something you tuck under your arm.

Harry Comstock, 1225 East Fifth street, returned home Sunday night from Cadillac with a 150-pound deer, shot within three hours after he set out to hunt Saturday morning. Herbert Rock of Clawson was a member of the same hunting party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bergen returned to their home, 725 West Breckenridge avenue, Ferndale, Monday evening, with a small buck shot near their hunting lodge at Canada Creek ranch, Onaway.

Ralph Chaffee, 437 West Breckenridge avenue, Ferndale, and Mrs. Bert Kress of Detroit are spending the remainder of the season at the lodge.

Edward Neiger, 132 East Farmington avenue, caught a 150 pound 8 point buck Sunday morning near Mio.

Miscellaneous Shower Honors Bridal Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kitzmiller entertained in their home, 2806 Ardmore avenue, honoring Blanche Barrette, 2828 Ardmore avenue, and Irvin Kitzmiller of Detroit who will be married Dec. 7. The event was a miscellaneous shower attended by thirty-eight guests who played buncos for which the first prize was awarded to Mrs. John Beyerlein. A buffet style luncheon was served from a table centered with a three-tier table wedding cake decorated with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Racine Hostess at Luncheon Party

Mrs. J. A. Racine, 1017 Cherokee avenue, entertained Unit 10 of the Shrine chapter of the League of the Little Flower at a desert luncheon and card party Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Ray P. Conlin was awarded the prize for bridge. Mrs. Florence Gibbins the prize for pinocle. Mrs. Frank Henderson for pedro and the two door prizes went to Mrs. Louis O. Weskalis and Mrs. J. A. Siegel.

Wesley E. Hemlin, 1010 Longfellow avenue, and Ervin Buchanan, 429 West Harrison avenue, Hemlin felled a six-pointer and Buchanan a four-pointer in Chippewa county Monday.

E. R. Noble, 1018 Batavia avenue, ended his hunt at 8 a. m., Sunday near Stirling. He garnered eight points.

E. G. McMahon, 1039 Knowles street, scored a buck's eye near Frederic, Saturday. His grandson, Garry Wilson, accompanied him. McMahon reported a snow fall Sunday night.

Another to pour home an accurate shot Saturday was George Randall, 722 Lawson avenue, who dropped a 140-pounder near St. Helena.

Up at Lewiston half of an eight-man party stayed at camp and half of the boys came home. They were lucky. Back home are F. F. Kaufman of Ferndale, Roy Hutchings of Royal Oak, Eddie Lane and Gene Bell of Detroit.

Hayes Celebrates 25th Anniversary

Thanksgiving Day was moved ahead two days earlier than even the official Michigan date by Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hayes, 502 Hilldale drive, who had an important occasion to celebrate yesterday—their 25th wedding anniversary. Their guests for dinner and the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Orndorff of Detroit. The two couples were married about the same time and became friends when they moved into the same apartment building as newlyweds.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hayes are natives of Connecticut. Frank, a Hartford man, met Mrs. Hayes, the former Nina Downs, while on a sales trip to Bridgeport. After establishing himself in Detroit, he sent for her and they were married Nov. 18, 1916, in St. Patrick's Cathedral in Huntington road in Huntington Woods in 1926 and lived there until two and a half years ago, when they moved to Ferndale. After a short period of residence there, they moved to their present address in Royal Oak. They are parishioners of the Shrine of the Little Flower.

Mr. Hayes is a life insurance broker with offices at 2900 David Stott building, Detroit. He has been active in the insurance field for many years, particularly in selling insurance, recruiting and training new salesmen. He has traveled extensively within the United States and has written several articles concerning insurance.

The Hayes have two sons, Frank Matthew, Jr., age 20, and Patrick Sherman, age 11. Frank, Jr., played football at St. Mary's high school for four years and was a student at Michigan State college last year. His studies were interrupted, however, when he suffered a compound fracture of his left leg in the accident in which his friend, Horter McVeigh, assistant pro at Red Run Golf club, was killed last summer. He expects to have the cast removed from his leg this week.

Enamel used for gas ranges is a form of glass, but it is unlike table glass for it is subjected to greater heat and stains from foods spilled and spattered upon it.

Value of Child's Book Told Pre-School Group

Miss Laura B. Long, director of the Hans Andersen room of the Royal Oak Public Library spoke to the mothers of the Franklin Pre-school group last evening on two subjects—books to give the preschool child for Christmas, and her trip to South America. Mrs. George S. Jacobs, 903 Wyandotte avenue, was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Perkins, who substituted for Mrs. Duane Swibold who is ill.

"Books develop discrimination and concentration and educate a child's imagination," Miss Long pointed out. "A child likes to think of himself as the character of the book he is reading. He likes plenty of action, animals, sound and rhythm in stories, and blended colors in the illustrations of the books he reads."

Miss Long displayed coins, baskets, dolls, hand-embroidered linens and other unique souvenirs and pictures of her South American trip.

The Franklin pre-school group will have a Christmas party on Dec. 10 at the home of Mrs. Ernest Perkins, 831 Wyandotte avenue. Admission to the party will be a ten-cent practical gift. Meetings will be held the second Wednesday of each month beginning in December.

Coolidge Girl Scouts Enjoy Week-End at Camp

Girl Scout troop, No. 23, of Coolidge school, Ferndale-Pleasant Ridge, met Tuesday afternoon in the school to witness a demonstration on flower arrangement given by Mrs. Alexander Ball of the Royal Oak Garden club.

The past week-end these eight members of the troop spent Saturday and Sunday at Camp Sherwood near Lapeer. Joyce Bernard, Joan Billett, Carol Cady, Suzanne Harris, Nancy Myers, Barbara Reeves, Joan Russell and Bernice Cadler. As the girls expressed it, "Time was too short," but all returned much enriched over the duties they had performed at camp which were sufficient to enable them to pass in campfire. Part of the badge earned included in their achievements was an enjoyable hike on a fall day. Before retiring the girls enjoyed a campfire program eating pop corn and apples before the fireplace.

The camp was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. William Harris, Mrs. Harris being the leader of the troop. Transportation was also furnished by Mrs. Paul Myers.
