Postal Service Seeks Rate Hike

Ask 23.9 Per Cent for 3rd Class Mail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service today applied to the Price Commission for a 23.9 per cent increase in third class mail rates, the largest boost in prices sought since Phase II of President Nixon's economic stabilization program began two weeks ago. The proposed increase would affect mainly advertising circulars and "junk" mail. First class and air mail would be unaffected.

The Postal Service originally scheduled the rates to go into effect Sept. 15, but they were caught in the 90-day wage-price freeze which began Aug. 15.

Reject Request—

The Price Commission also rejected a price hike request for the first time — from the Bassett Furniture Company, Bassett, Va., for a 1.8 per cent boost. The Commission said Bassett's application was "denied because of insufficient justification." It gave no other details.

The Commission received 36 new applications, including 13 from coal companies and four from steel companies.

The coal applications came from the Consolidation Coal Co. and from 12 coal companies owned by the Prittston Co.—the Clinchfield, Badger, Buffalo, Feds Creek, Jewell Ridge, Kentland-Elkhorn, Ranger Sewell, Amigo Eastern, Snap Creek and Elkay coal companies.

Steel Applications—

The new steel applications came from Inland Steel Co., Armco Steel Corp., Steel and Tub Division of Carpenter Technology Corp., and CF&I Steel Division of the Crane Corp.

The applications today brought the total since Nov. 14 to 143 firms.

Sen. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.), said he would attempt to put stronger controls on public utility rate increases into Mr. Nixon's Phase II economic legislation.

Administration spokesmen have noted before that these rates already are controlled by state regulatory agencies, but Metcalf said he would offer a series of amendments to the legislation which the Senate will consider after it returns Monday from the Thanksgiving holiday recess.

Has To Use—

"It is in this area that the consumer is locked in," Metcalf said. "He has to use these services. He has virtually no way to avoid the sting of inflationary price increases and the economic impact on the country of rate hikes for electricity, gas, telephone, mass transit, rail and air transportation, which, if permitted, will total billions of dollars."

Under guidelines issued by the Price Commission, utilities with more than $100 million in annual gross receipts must notify the Commission of intentions to raise rates. Companies with receipts between $50 million and $100 million are required to notify the Commission when they receive permission to raise rates from regulatory commissions.

Metcalf's amendment would enjoin any utility with $10 million or more in annual receipts from charging a rate higher than it charged on Aug. 15, the day Mr. Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze went into effect, without first receiving approval from the Price Commission.

Hazel Park Fire Probed

Police are investigating a fire at a Hazel Park house early Thursday morning.

A witness told police he saw someone throw a flaming object on the roof of the home of Cheri L. Sturgeon; 1011 East Woodward Heights, Hazel Park, shortly before 12:06 a.m.

The damage was limited to burned shingles on the roof, police said.

The witness told police a passenger got out of a white Chevrolet pickup truck, the third time the truck had passed the corner of Cayuga and Woodward Heights.

The object he threw appeared to be burning and burst into a large flame when it struck the roof of the house. The man who threw the object was described as white, age 25-30, 5 feet 7, and wearing a three-quarter length plaid coat, police said.

3 Cities Can Escape Tax Factors If They Raise Assessments

City assessors in Berkley, Ferndale and Huntington Woods will be asked to raise some tax assessments slightly to avoid an equalization (multiplying) factor from being put on all property assessments in their communities.

The county's Equalization Department hands out the factors to communities whose total assessed valuation is not within 3 per cent of one half of actual market value as determined by the county's Equalization Department.

Tax bills are determined by multiplying the assessed valuation by all tax rates and any equalizing factor.

If the factor is "one" there is no change in tax bill. If the factor is more than "one" it raises tax bills.

The only South Oakland city apparently certain to get a factor larger than one is Hazel Park. As in most recent years, the city has again decided to "take a factor" rather than readjust property assessments.

If the factor, tax rate and assessment are the same as last year, there is no change in the tax bill.

City assessors soon will receive tentative factors for the 1972 assessment rolls from the county Equalization Department, said its director Herman W. Stephens.

The assessors can discuss these tentative factors with department staff on Dec. 15 and 17, he said.

Stephens said Berkley, Ferndale and Huntington Woods will need "slight adjustments" of some tax assessments to get a factor of "one".

Other South Oakland cities will be handed a tentative factor of "one," he said. He cautioned that some of these cities may also be forced to make some assessment adjustments later.

Several cities are close to the lower acceptable assessment limit, 47 per cent of market value, to qualify for a "one" factor he said. The state allow's city assessors to be three per cent of the mark of 50 per cent.

Stephens expects his department to complete reappraisal of Clawson assessments in time for next year's tax bills. This community will get a factor of one, he said.

He added that some property assessments in the city will be increased "drastically," while a few will be reduced. Every property owner will be notified of his new assessed valuation, he said. Persons can complain about assessments before the department's review Board, and before the city's annual Board of Review.

Milliken Pushes Drug Bill

LANDING (UPI) — Gov. William G. Milliken said it would be "tragic" if a bill to revise the state's drug laws does not pass the Legislature this year.

A bill to rewrite the law has passed both houses in differing forms and is now in a conference Committee.

The principle difference has revolved around the marijuana section. The House version would make possession of marijuana a misdemeanor while the Senate would keep it a felony.

"In considering the bill, I have urged the conferees to adopt a final version closely resembling the House version," the governor said. "The final bill should include both stiff penalty provisions for pushers and a humane, progressive approach to individual users of drugs.

Vote for More Information to Public on Taxes

Herman Stephens, director of the Oakland County Equalization Department, thinks taxpayers should receive more information about tax assessments and tax equalization factors.

Some day Stephens said, he would hope to see assessments on all individual parcels of property printed in local newspapers. A property owner then could compare his property assessment with the assessment on an identical parcel of property elsewhere.

He acknowledges that is a difficult goal to accomplish.

But he would desire at least to see the tentative equalization factor for every community published before the community's Board of Review meets in March. The final equalization factor is determined after the Board of Review meets and sets the final assessment on each parcel of property.

Stephens said he wants to give property owners all the information they need to properly appeal their assessments to the Board of Review.

If a property owner can prove his assessment is 50 per cent of its market value before an equalization factor is added, and the factor would put the assessment above 50 per cent, the owner might be able to justify a reduction in the assessment before the Board of Review.

Chrysler Takes Less Than Authorized Price Hike

Sticker price changes on 1972 automobiles are changing under Phase II of President Nixon's new economic program.

Chrysler Corp., which late Wednesday received Price Commission approval for an average 4.5 increase on new cars announced a three per cent across the board increase from previously frozen prices. The increase will apply to new cars, optional equipment and trucks and became effective with shipments from the factory today. Firm orders placed with dealers previously but not yet delivered will not be affected.

Chrysler said its-less-than-authorized increase reflected automotive competition.

Toyota, leading Japanese exporter of cars sold in the U.S. also announced a further increase in its passenger cars, the third since President Nixon imposed a 10 per cent surcharge on imported cars and announced the U.S. government no longer would support the value of the dollar abroad with gold.

The newest Toyota increase averages 1.6 per cent and ranges from $18 to $62 per car, the company said. It blamed the hike on upward valuation of the Japanese yen in terms of U.S. dollars and higher manufacturing cost for some models.

The increase makes the sticker price for the Corolla 1200 two door sedan $2,054. It is Toyota's least expensive car on sale in the U.S.

Ford, American Motors and GM already have received price increase authorizations. Imported cars are not subject to price controls beyond duties imposed by the government and market place competition now being affected by the U.S. demands foreign nations raise the value of their currency in dollar terms.

Prices of both foreign and domestic autos will be reduced under the new U.S. tax bill which removes the seven per cent Federal excise tax on all new cars. Manufacturer's announced prices generally establish a bargaining ceiling under which individual deals are concluded by buyer and dealer.

Rain Mars Search for Hijacker

From Tribune Wires

WOODLAND, Wash. — Fog and rain today hampered the search for a daring hijacker who parachuted from an airliner with $200,000 ransom and disappeared in the western wilderness.

Police, sheriff's officers and FBI agents fanned out along the foothills of the Cascade Mountains, but a search by planes and helicopters was restricted by the weather.

Collected Ransom—

The hijacker, who used the name "D. B. Cooper," took over the Northwest Airlines 727 jet over Oregon Wednesday, collected the ransom — largest every paid in an American skyjacking — along with four parachutes at Seattle, ordered the plane to Reno, and disappeared somewhere along the way.

It was reported today that one of the two parachutes missing when the plane landed at Reno was sewn shut, but authorities said an experienced parachutist would have used the other one first, and there was even some question as to whether he could have even strapped on the nonfunctioning chute.

Center Search—

About 35 to 40 law officers took part in the ground search, which the FBI said was centered around Woodland since that was the last place of contact between the crew and the hijacker.

There were no Federal sky marshals aboard the Northwest flight, considered a "milk run" among scheduled flights.

Took Control—

The hijacker, described as tall, thin and of Latin American appearance, took control of the plane Wednesday night, told a stewardess he had a bomb, that he wanted to go to Mexico and then gave a series of precise orders — including landing and getting the money and parachutes — which eventually led to his escape. It was the first time an aircraft hijacker had used a parachute.

Two stewardesses were allowed to deplane with the passengers at Seattle-Tacoma. Two flight officers and a stewardess were locked up in a rear compartment while the pilot flew the aircraft to Nevada.

The pilot, Capt. William Scott, said he last communicated with the hijacker near the Washington-Oregon border.

Freeze 'Pains' Anesthetists

by The Associated Press

An Oakland County Circuit Court Judge was scheduled to hear arguments today challenging the constitutionality of the wage-price freeze.

Judge William J. Beer, in a case concerning a strike at a hospital here, said, "We can blame the President" for the strike, and invited the attorneys to challenge the President on the issue.

"I want you to look into the constitutional question," Beer told the attorneys. "There may be serious doubts about the constitutionality of a president — in the absence of war — telling the people in the state what they can and cannot do."

Attorneys for the employer, the North Oakland Anesthesiologists and the 12 anesthetists on strike since Monday, said all that is standing in the way of settlement is the refusal of the Federal Pay [illegible] to allow them to implement their agreement.

The strikers are not employed by the hospital, but work for the Association which has a contract with the hospital, officials said.

The strikers were making $9,500-$10,600 under the old contract and under the new contract would be making $13,000-$15,000.

Officials said both sides were about to ratify the contract when the freeze was imposed on Aug. 15.

U.S. Records Huge Trade Deficit

WASHINGTON — The United States recorded in October its largest monthly trade deficit with other countries since World War II, the Commerce Department reported today. The Department said there was an import-export deficit of $821.4 million in October.

That figure compared with a $265.4 million surplus recorded in September.

A Commerce Department spokesman attributed the huge deficit to the East and West Coast dock strikes. He said many East Coast shippers anticipated the walkout by shipping heavily in September.

On the West Coast, President Nixon invoked the Taft-Hartley law ordering dock workers back to their jobs during October.

"These strikes, if permitted to continue, will imperil the national health and safety," the President told Mitchell in a letter.

Policemen's Thanksgiving Spirit Not Reciprocated

Two policemen — from Troy and Madison Heights — said they tried to help a Madison Heights youth they considered unable to drive himself home at 1:25 a.m., Thanksgiving morning. The youth responded by taking their Madison Heights patrol car and attempting to run down the officers with it, they said.

As a result, Leonard L. Ketelhut Jr., 19, 27095 Vance, Madison Heights, is in William Beaumont Hospital today with gunshot wounds in his chest, a possible broken jaw, and charges facing him for the unlawful driving away of an auto and fleeing arrest.

Ketelhut was found in a car parked on eastbound Fourteen-Mile east of North Avis with part of his car sticking out into the roadway by Patrolman James Mowery of Troy police.

Mowery notified Madison Heights police because the car was within that city's limits.

Patrolman Max M. Petit of Madison Heights responded. Both officers decided that Ketelhut was under the influence and unable to drive, so they put him in the back seat of Petit's patrol car, No. 107.

Police said they were going to drive the youth home because he was apparently under the influence of alcohol.

The two officers walked up to the front of the Troy police car to determine where they could park Ketelhut's car off the road.

"At the time I put Ketelhut in the back seat of his patrol car, he seemed to be in a stupor and I didn't (hand) cuff him," Petit said.

Petit said he heard a noise and turned to see Ketelhut climbing into the driver's seat and starting to back up the police car. Petit ordered him to stop and Mowery yanked open the driver's door.

Then Kelelhut put the car in drive — forcing Mowery to jump out of the way to avoid being hit by the car door, the officers said.

"The vehicle was coming straight at me," said Petit. "As the suspect passed me, I fired a shot at the vehicle." Petit fired six shots at the car and Mowery fired four.

About a quarter of a mile down the road, the police car struck a utility pole.

Police found two bullet holes in the car's rear window molding, and one each in the trunk, rear fenders and front seat.

Ketelhut was to be arraigned this afternoon at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where he is a police prisoner after he was admitted for the gunshot wound he received before he crashed the police car, police said.

Baha'is Observe Anniversary

Today marks the beginning of the year-long observance of the 50th anniversary of the death of Abdu'l Baha, third prophet of the Baha'i faith.

Mrs. Lillie Pickens sponsored a dinner and slide program today, at her home, 21011 Hart Place South, Royal Oak Township. A program of prayers, slides and raedings will be presented at midnight, Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, 323 East Thirteen-Mile, Royal Oak.

The Davison Baha'i School in Davison will have a special commemorative session from 5 p.m., today, through Sunday. Classes will include "The Life of Abdu'l Baha," "The Covenant Fulfilled," and "The Formative Age of the Kingdom of God."

The Baha'i faith is a relatively new religion, begun in Persia (modern day Iran) in 1844 by the prophet Bab. It closely follows the prophecies of the Bible.

Baha 'u' llah became the prophet in 1863, to fulfill the prophecy of Bab that someone of greatness would arise to bring new commandments and a new covenant of God to the people of the world.

Abdu'l Baha son of Baha 'u'llah, carried on the work of his father until his own death, Nov. 28, 1921.

The Baha'i faith is now ministered to by the Universal House of Justice, composed of nine members, chosen by Baha'is throughout the world.

HP's Mayer Family To Have Special Tree at City Hall

The family of a partially paralyzed former sheriff's deputy will find its own special Christmas tree in Hazel Park City Hall Dec. 10. The tree is the focal point of a citizen campaign to make Christmas brighter for the family of 46-year-old George Mayer, 23061 Davey, a former Oakland County Sheriff's deputy who has been unemployed since undergoing surgery for removal of a brain tumor over a year ago.

The tree will be set up at city hall Dec. 8, by the Hazel Park Chamber of Commerce and decorated with cash and gift certificates from Hazel Park businesses.

In addition to the business gifts, the chamber also invites individual contributions.

The afternoon of Dec. 10, members of the Chamber will decorate the tree with the donated money and certificates, said Mrs. Thelma Holtzman, chairman of the Hazel Park Beautification Commission.

The live tree, donated by Manhattan Container Corp., will later be planted in the island at the intersection of Hughes and Woodward Heights, Mrs. Holtzman said.

Woman Bilked Out of $125

A Ferndale businesswoman told police she was tricked out of $125 by a man who said he was a truck driver for an appliance firm and would sell three color television sets at a discount.

Mrs. Virginia J. Parkington, age 33, owner of Jo Dees Hair Salon, 165 West Nine-Mile, told police the man came into her shop about 4 p.m., Wednesday and offered to sell her three sets for $50 each because customers canceled their orders.

The man said he worked for the Good Housekeeping Shop, 251 West Nine-Mile, Ferndale. He walked with her down to the shop, pointed out a display model which was similar to the three he would sell her, she said.

She said she put the $125 in three white envelopes and gave them to the man. The envelopes were for the television sets' warranties, the man told her.

She was to meet him behind the store with her car and he would return with the sets, she said.

She waited behind the store for five minutes before she went inside the store and was told by a salesman that the man had just left through the front door.

The suspect was described as white, age 30-35, 170, stocky build, wearing a black parka and dark pants.

There was no ready explanation why $125 was taken instead of $150 for the three sets, police said.

Eye Hearings on Troy Plan

Troy officials plan to hold hearings early next year to air public opinion on the community revised long range master plan.

No dates were set, but City Manager Frank Gerstenecker said the hearings will probably follow distribution among residents of 20,000 color maps showing the plan.

Commissioners told the manager to arrange hearings in separate parts of the city.

Commissioner Peter A. Taucher said no action should be taken on the plan until the City obtains "feedback" reaction from residents.

Troy Cancels Regular Meeting

Three Troy city commissioners will leave this week to attend the National League of Cities convention, being held this year in Honolulu, Hawaii.

City Manager Frank Gerstenecker said Commissioners Norman D. Michaelson, Arthur Molinar and Sherwood E. Shaver have announced plans to attend and will leave "Friday or Saturday." Other city commissioners may decide to go at the last minute, he said.

Because of the convention, Troy has canceled its regular commission meeting Monday night and will not meet again until Dec. 6.

Gerstenecker said funds are provided in the city budget each year to pay for transportation, lodgings and food of those attending the convention. The men may take their wives but must pay for their wives' expenses, the manager said.

Tax Reverted Land Sale Set

LANSING (UPI) — The Department of Natural Resources today announced 235 tax reverted state land units in Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties carrying a total minimum bid price of $90,000 will be auctioned off Dec. 15 at Detroit's City County Building.

Fascist's Gripes

ROME (UPI) — Neo-Fascist deputy Giovanni Roberti complained in Parliament Thursday that the state television network titled a program about the Fascist seizure of power in 1922 "How a Dictatorship Is Born."

He said the proper title should have been "How a Democracy Dies."

Gas Utility To Hike Prices

LANSING (AP) — Because pipeline companies have raised their rates, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. customers will be paying about $1 more per month. Consumers Power Co. furnishes gas for South Oakland County.

The Michigan Public Service Commission gave the firm permission to boost its rates by $10.6 million Wednesday. The increase is to allow the utility to meet the higher pipeline costs. The rate increase is effective Nov. 14, the PSC reported.

Earlier this year, the state and the company agreed Michigan Consolidated Gas would not seek any rate increases until 1972, except in cases where necessary to reflect higher costs of wholesale gas. The utility received a $12-million rate in-

Dress Code for Teachers

CHELSEA, Mass. (UPI) — The Chelsea School Committee, which rescinded a dress code for students last year, has voted to impose a dress code on teachers.

Board members voted 4-3 for the code after committeewoman Doris Waxman said that on a recent visit to the city's schools she saw male teachers wearing dungarees with frayed cuffs and women in T-shirts without bras.

"It is unbelievable that teachers, who should set an example in dress for students, should dress in such a manner," said board chairman Andrew P. Quigley.

The committee indicated the code would be drafted for presentation at next week's meeting.

City Cuts Price 20 Cents on Plastic Garbage Bags

Plastic gargage bags will be available to Hazel Park residents approximately Jan. 1 for 20 cents less per 100 bags.

The bags will be sold for $3.80 per hundred. The price is now $4. They're available at the treasurer's office in city hall.

The price will be reduced because the city will purchase them for less under a new contract awarded Monday by City Council. They'll be purchased for $3.3759 per hundred bags by the city from Cherrin Products division of Cherrin Corp., Dearborn.

Bags are currently purchased by the City for $3.50 per hundred. In fiscal 1968-69 cost was $3.60 per 100, in 1967-68 $4.20 per hundred.

Bids were taken by the South Oakland County Joint Purchasing Committee. Cherrin Products was the lowest of 13 bidders.

Parking Regulations

Council Monday passed three parking regulations.

Parking is now allowed on Harding between Nine-Mile and Woodward Heights between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Council removed the parking restrictions after receiving a petition signed by 142 persons.

Parking will be permitted on John R between Nine-Mile and I 75 until Dec. 30. Council originally banned parking along the strip Dec. 15, but extended it until after Christmas to aid merchants. Parking space is now being readied behind the buildings for customers.

Council temporarily banned parking on Coy between Palmer and I 75 during mornings, and asked city officials for recommendations on whether parking should be banned permanently along that part of Coy.

Hike Permit Fees

Council hiked permit fees which paid builders to install wiring, electric signs, gas and oil burners, refrigeration units, plumbing, and connect with city sewers and water lines.

Thomas A. Scott, building inspector, said the fee hikes brought the various fees to levels comparable with cities around Hazel Park.

Permit fees for 67 different classifications were changed by Council.

Insurance Bids

Hazel Park City Council Monday asked for bids for life insurance for city employes after Vance C. Fouts, city manager, said he received a proposed insurance premium rate lower than the city now pays.

Fouts said the city now pays approximately 50 cents per $1,000 of insurance coverage to John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., which has carried the city's life insurance for 16 years.

Another company offered proposed a premium rate of 35 cents per $1,000, and Hancock agents, then said it could lower the rate to 43 cents per $1,000.

City employes can receive up to $5,000 for death by any cause or for any dismemberment, said Fouts.

Department heads and assistant department heads, or their families may receive up to $10,000 for the death or dismemberment of an employe, Fouts said.

In contracts with police, firemen and Department of Public Service employes, the premium costs are split, each paying for $5,000 of life insurance, said Fouts.

In the 1969-70 fiscal year, Fouts said the City paid $8,012 in life insurance premiums, a total of $5,815 was paid out to beneficiaries, and the city received back $913.

Hart Apology

U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart wrote an apology to City Council for not attending a rally against busing held Oct. 24 in Hazel Park High.

Hart said his reply to the invitation first sent Oct. 19 was garbled, and Western Union didn't get a clear message delivered to him until the same day as the rally.

"He didn't want to come, that was the whole idea," Mayor Wallace F. Cormier said.

Equipment Bids

The City will advertise for bids for a two-day, portable radio for the Fire Department, three two-way radios for police cars, a jeep and a brush chipper for the Parks and Forestry Department, a portable welding machine for the Water Department, a street sweeper and a leaf colloecting machine for the Department of Public Service, and a service agreement for maintenance of office machines owned by the City.

Fur Ordinance

James Paterson, city attorney, recommended that Council not adopt an ordinance prohibiting the sale in Hazel Park of furs or other products of animals which species which are in danger of becoming extinct.

Paterson said such an ordinance probably would be found unconstitutional in the courts.

Council ordered Paterson to research check on the possibility of an endangered species ordinance after the Ann Arbor City Council passed one, and asked Hazel Park Council to pass a similiar one.

Tree Inspections

Council passed a resolution urging that the state Department of Agriculture continue to work with cities in testing and inspecting trees for Dutch elm disease, and force quick removal of dead or dying trees.

The Department of Agriculture has been phasing out a program to work with cities in attempts to control the disease, the resolution states.

Set Hearing on Kirts Zone Change in Troy

A proposal by the Troy Plan Commission for a zone change to permit apartments on Kirts east of Crooks will be put to a pubiic hearing before the City Commission at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 10.

It calls for rezoning a site on Kirts 1,200 feet east from Crooks from single family to highrise use.

Also due for Jan. 10 hearings:

• A proposal by the Plan Commission to rezone from single-family to high rise use a 120-foot lot on the east side of Crooks north of Kirst. Laurence G. Keisling, plan director, said the change would bring the property in line with the master plan.

• A proposal by the Plan Commission to rezone from business to residential use a 26 by 49 foot lot at the northwest corner of Dequindre and Nineteen-Mile (Square Lake) to conform with surrounding property.

The City Commission decided to take no action on proposals:

• To rezone from business to residential use a 300 by 370 foot lot at the southwest corner of Nineteen - Mile and Dequindre.

• To rezone from business to residential use the northwest, northeast and southeast corners of Nineteen-Mile and John R.

The number of stars visible to the naked eye, provided one stays at a single place in the United States for one year, would total approximately 4,000.

RO Twp. Renewal Bonds Sold to Detroit Bank

Royal Oak Township's bonds for its $4,515,000 urban renewal project will be sold to the National Bank of Detroit, the lowest bidder for the proposed bond loan.

The Board of Trustees is scheduled to sign the final papers awarding the bid to the bank at a special meeting at 9 p.m. today.

Signing of the bond papers was scheduled for the special meeting held Tuesday night, but could not be done because the Board of Trustees lacked one member of having a quorum needed for the action.

Under a time schedule set by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Renewal, the bond notes are supposed to be in the Chicago HUD office by Friday, so that necessary paperwork is completed by Dec. 26.

National Bank of Detroit will receive an interest rate of 2.68 per cent — which works out to $336.11 per day — until July 7, 1972, when the note matures. There is a "premium" of $49 which means the bank refunds $49 of the interest charges as part of contract.

The "premium" is a standard practice in bond sales — in effect lowering the interest rate because it is a refund.

The Township renewal project includes a 200 foot depth on Eight-Mile, between Mitchelldale and Wyoming, for commercial redevelopment.

The rest of the residential area in the township — with two exceptions — is subject to loans and grants to bring homes up to new building codes.

The area at Ten-Mile and Greenfield, along with the area northwest of Eight-Mile and Wyoming, are not included in the renewal project.

The one-year renewal project has been financed through June 30. If the Township urban renewal project achieves satisfactory progress by then, HUD officials may decide to finance the project for a second and final year to allow its completion.

The project was started in 1959, but was slowed because of reported mismanagement and failure to follow HUD guidelines by various renewal directors in the past.

Bill To Hike Federal Pay Abandoned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backers of a move to give 3.8 million Federal workers, including the military, a pay raise Jan. 1 conceded they have little chance of sucess this year. They hope to revive the issue early in 1972 on a retroactive basis.

Spokesmen for Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, and Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., told UPI that a decision by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana not to include the pay bill as "must" legislation before adjournment this year killed its chances of consideration.

Fong and Udall had introduced identical bills that would order President Nixon to give the estimated 1.2 million civilian Federal workers a raise effective Jan. 1. An earlier law automatically would include 2.6 million military personnel, who already received a $1.5 billion pay boost when the wage-price freeze ended Nov. 13.

Mr. Nixon earlier announced that a scheduled 5.5 per cent boost for the civilian and military on Jan. 1 would be deferred until July 1, 1972 as part of his drive to combat inflation. Resolutions that would have overturned Mr. Nixon's order failed in both the Senate and House.

Oldtimer's No Novice

CAIRO (UP) — When it comes to robbing trains, an 80-year-old Egyptian could give Jesse James a run for his money.

Police said recently scores of passengers riding an express train between Alexandria and Cairo arrived in the Egyptian Capital in a doped condition with their baggage and pockets rifled.

They subsequently arrested the 80-year-old man, who admitted drugging the passengers with sandwiches stuffed with tranquilizers and then robbing them.

Personally speaking...

A Tale of Two Buddies

THE SWITCHBOARD OPERATOR buzzed me the other day, routinely enough, and said, "There's a Tom Fortune here to see you."

Well, I jumped right up, because Tom and I were in high school together; he was the drummer in our five-man combo, in fact, while I played sax. He joined the Air Force soon after graduation and it had been, as the phrase goes, a dog's age.

So in came Tom, wearing a loud pair of bell-bottoms (he's on leave) and a grin that I must have mirrored. In the few minutes before he had to move along, we managed to fill each other in on the highlights of more than 10 years. The more we talked, and the more I thought about our conversation later, the more it amazed me how two fellows with almost identical backgrounds could end up doing things so dissimilar. His sketchy tale of his career was as real to me as if I'd lived it myself, because of our similarities, and at the same time as unreal to me as science fiction.

TOM AND I ARE the same age. We're both Royal Oak kids, both married to classmates, both have two children. We got out of high school the same day, and went off to gain more education—I in college, he in the service. Tom and I are both specialists to a degree, he in electronics, I in newspapering. We're both heavier than in high school, he a little, I a lot. His hair is a little shorter than in high school, mine a little longer.

The old empathy was there, and it's not surprising. After all, we played together on weekend dance jobs and in hours of rehearsal. If you don't understand someone a little bit doing that, you never will. But there were dramatic differences, and at times I listened to Tom open-mouthed, shaking my head.

For Tom has done two lengthy tours in Vietnam as part of his ten and a half years in the Air Force, and during the most recent which just ended, he flew nearly 400 missions and almost 800 sorties. He logged better than 2,000 hours in the air over Vietnam — north and south—and, upon my asking, fessed up to a chestful of medals.

I'VE BEEN at The Tribune for four and a half years out of the past ten: Tom's been on "Nam" duty for the same amount of time. In recent years, we've lived in Royal Oak, while Tom and his family have been at Clark AFB in the Philippines, from which he would leave for missions.

In 1965, I volunteered for the Army and was turned down cold. In 1965, Tom went to Vietnam for his first tour, and stayed there until 1967, while I'd been working on Macomb County newspapers for two years. Tom went back to Vietnam duty from 1968 to just a short time ago. Meanwhile, I was back at The Tribune in a variety of functions including, lately, publisher.

Undoubtedly, there were moments when I was racing a deadline and Tom was, too, only his was a literal deadline. There were moments when I'd come home for supper and he'd land at Clark to see his family again, too. Our tales were like a car track across the sand—parallel lines that will still always have a space between them. But Tom picked the job that would get him shot at.

And I thought going broke in a weekly newspaper of my own was dangerous! Tom, you see, wasn't up there in a big old B-52 or at least a fighter in which he could shoot back. No, his job was in a small jet roughly corresponding to a Lear-Jet executive type, checking out electronic beacons which guided the warplanes around the Vietnamese skies. No offensive — or defensive — weapons aboard at all, and I decided Tom had had some experiences I wouldn't want to share.

SO I ASKED the obvious question: Why?

Said Tom, "I'm not a hawk or a dove. My philosophy is that someone has to do it. I do it."

That's about as logical a philosophy of Vietnam service as I've ever heard. Tom accepted his job on that basis, and came back to tell about it. Kismet has taken both of us and placed us in situations far different from the "normal" for men of our age. I think that was another bond, when he came into my office. Both of us accept our situations, I think, and that's something.

A lot of things have happened, and we still seem to understand each other. We're still buddies. Today, that's something, too.

China-Soviet Confrontation Nears

by JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — The first Chinese intercontinental ballistic missile has now been tested. The test was made over a limited range, but this is still a world event of incalculable future meaning.

To get the key data out of the way first, despite the partial nature of the ICBM test, it is considered by our technicians to have been a rather striking success. It is therefore expected to be followed by one or more further tests at considerably longer range in the relatively near future.

Can't Recover—

It is not at all clear, to be sure, whether the Chinese, at this stage, can really manage an ICBM test over the full range of 6,000 miles or so. A full-range test would mean an "impact area" fairly far out at sea. And Communist China can hardly organize the necessary naval armada to recover the newly tested missile in the open ocean.

At this stage, however, this difficulty facing the Chinese is of relatively little consequence. The Chinese are turning toward the once-hated Americans, in fact, solely because they are deathly afraid of a surgical nuclear strike by the Soviets to destroy the Chinese nuclear program.

Fear Balance—

We Americans are also turning toward the Communist Chinese, partly because it serves the President's temporary political purposes, but partly, too, because the Government's insiders are beginning to be deathly afraid of the upset in the strategic power balance we have foolishly permitted. It is another classic case, in short, of the fearful huddling together, to try to restore a better balance, that one also saw in the Hitler time.

At this stage, therefore, Peking has no visible need of an ICBM that can reach Washington. What Peking needs very badly is an ICBM that can reach Moscow—an ICBM, in fact, that will help to deter the surgical stroke the Soviets have been methodically preparing for. This is why a full-range test is not urgent now.

Within Range—

Thus the first meaning of the Chinese ICBM test is that Moscow and Leningrad will come within range of Chinese nuclear attack within 18 months to two years. A longer period would have to be estimated, if it were not for the astonishing speed of the Chinese nuclear program's development.

Because of this speed, however, 18 months to two years is an excellent bet for the terminal period, after which the Chinese will begin deploying operational ICBMs capable of reaching the most vital and remotest nerve centers of the Soviet Union. Since we now know about the first Chinese test, furthermore, it must be presumed that the Soviets also know about it.

Warning Bells—

That means, beyond doubt, that the warning bells are ringing in the Soviet defense ministerium with almost deafening persistency. Lin Piao and all the Chinese equivalents of our chiefs of staff of the armed services, have fallen from power and very probably died. That leaves the Soviets with no hope of any alternative government in Peking that might do business on Moscow's terms.

Prime Minister Chou En-lai is now the unchallenged leader, under Mao Tse-tung. Prime Minister Chou En-lai was the man who turned toward the United States precisely because he was not, and is not, ready to do business on Moscow's terms. No threats will change a man like Chou, either.

New Stage—

So China's independent nuclear power is no longer even imaginably negotiable; yet it is China's independent nuclear power that the Soviets regard as intolerable. Furthermore, this independent Chinese nuclear power is now going to reach a quite new stage in a very short time, thereby greatly increasing the orders of risk for the Soviets. If the Soviets really want to launch a surgical strike, what may be called the "now-or-never point" will thus most probably be reached at some time in 1973.

To most people in this flaccidly complacent country, all this may sound like the language of a nightmare. But in cold hard fact, the Soviet military preparations on the Chinese frontier to date have cost the equivalent of at least $60 billion, if the costs are cumulated over the last six years. So would any sane government, when already hard-pressed for funds, invest $60 billion to no purpose whatever?

No doubt there are some people in Moscow who do not want to do what the Soviet defense ministerium has so long been getting ready to do. These people may win the final argument in the Kremlin. But the fact had better be faced that a truly breathless moment in world history is pretty near at hand.

Campaign Reforms Stir Partisan Fight

by ED DOOLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House supporters of campaign spending reform are worried about the effect of the furious partisan battle waged in the Senate over using tax funds to finance presidential campaigns.

The House next week is to vote on new rules to govern the raising, spending and reporting of campaign money, and without bipartisan action there is little hope of true reform.

Checkoff Plan—

The $1 tax checkoff-financing plan was backed by nearly all Senate Democrats against the wishes of Republicans and the White House. GOP House members already are working on strategy to scuttle the plan when it comes to the House.

But Democrats, led by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, are expected to back the campaign finance provisions attached by the Senate to the tax bill.

'Bad Time'—

Such political maneuvering "could not come at a worse time," according to a moderate Republican who has been leading a bipartisan effort to shape true reform out of the three reform bills pending in the House.

The measures each contain different spending limitations — primarily aimed at ending communications media advertising blitzes — but one bill would limit individual contributions which Republicans warn would prompt a Presidential veto.

Lots of Talk—

Despite the rhetoric, there has been little pressure in the House by either party for reform. Due to dalliance by both sides, House action was put off until the final weeks of the session.

With momentum building for adjournment, the House now faces a parliamentary quagmire. There are three competing sets of bills which must be reconciled by amendment and compromised with the Senate before Congress goes home for Christmas if final action is not to be delayed until 1972 — an election year.

Chief Fear—

The chief fear is that House members will override an attempt supported by GOP House leaders to repeal the equal time provision of the communications act for presidential and congressional candidates.

Word has been circulated by White House aides that unless the repeal includes House candidates, the reform legislation would be vetoed by President Nixon.

Hot Debate—

Republicans are backing the Senate-passed bill which repeals the equal time provision for all Federal candidates, but the two chief sponsors of the House bills are bitterly opposed to repeal for House members.

Rep. Torbert H. MacDonald (D-Mass.) argues the provision "gives us the protection of equal broadcast time. If we give that up we would be turning over the country to the broadcasters."

Power—

Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) told the House that repeal would make the measure a "television announcer's bill" because they would "turn over the television broadcasting stations in our districts the right to name the next congressman from that district, which they would do in many instances."

Hays, MacDonald and other House members worry that without the equal time provision — which inhibits TV debates — broadcasters could give unlimited free time to candidates they support.

Supporters of repeal for all Federal candidates maintain broadcasters would be fair and if the Presidential candidates are to be allowed to debate so should House members and senators.

Hope for Compromise—

There is hope for a compromise. Reps. Morris K. Udall (D-Ariz.) and John B. Anderson (R-Ill.) plan to seek repeal of equal time for President, Vice President and Senate but not House candidates.

Under this plan, which the White House does not support, the Federal Communications Commission would conduct a study and recommend after the 1972 elections whether to include repeal for House candidates.

The vote on the equal time provision may be the first recorded vote when the amending process starts Monday. It could serve as an early indication of the sentiment for campaign reform.

Profit Margin Limits May Not Hurt Industry

by JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As the complex economic guidelines are examined in detail it is becoming clear that one of them, the limitation on profit margins, will have little immediate impact on most industries.

The realization is apparently late in dawning on the consciousness of businessmen. And even when the full significance is understood, there is a hesitancy on the part of some corporate officials to act.

Can't Get Data—

In the words of one economist who has spent long hours studying the situation, "Once you understand what it is you have to calculate you don't know how to calculate it. You don't know where to get the data."

For certain, however, many corporations will be able to pass along cost increases by raising prices, and private economists wouldn't be surprised to see a strong trend in this direction beginning shortly.

Ruling—

The profit ruling states that increases will be disallowed if they raise profit margins above the average level of a company's profits in the two best of the three years 1968-1969-1970.

The first interpretation of this ruling was that it would serve as a heavy lid on profits. Uncertainty of businessmen about the future and falling stock prices suggest that the feeling is still widespread.

Survey—

A review of corporate profit margins shows, however, that the number of industries in which price increases are permissable is double the number of those in which increases are prohibited.

One study, by Rinfret Boston Associates, list these industries as among many now operating below the 1968-1970 base:

Aerespace, auto, distilling, heating and plumbing, chemical, confectionary, paper, home furnishings, packaged food, household appliances, motion picture, department store, real estate, apparel manufacturing.

Subject to Ceilings—

Among the industries which may be subject to profit margin ceilings, Rinfret lists these:

Brewing, air conditioning, soft coal, drugs, finance, meat packing, food chain, soap, cigaret manufacturing.

An example of the guidelines at work is provided by the auto industry, which in the second quarter of 1971 had an after-tax profit margin of 3.06 per cent. The margin was 6.01 per cent in 1968, about 5.14 in 1969 and 2.32 per cent in 1970.

Best Years—

The two best of the three years were 1968 and 1969, the average of them being 5.61 per cent. Since 1971 profits have been around 3 per cent, the conclusion is reached that price increases are permissable.

The figures quoted are aftertax profits whereas the ruling refers to pretax profits. And the 1971 profit margins are through the second quarter only. Some figures might change on refinement, but the overall conclusions are said to be accurate.

Consumer Hit—

The immediate consequence for companies with profit margins below the base period is that they can pass along cost increases through higher prices. It does not mean they can raise price by more than their costs have increased in order to lift margins to base-period levels.

The consequence for the stock market is questionable, as is anything involving the stock market. It is conceivable that some priee might rise as the realization grows that future profits might be higher than foreseen.

And the most important effect, the impact on the consumer, is likely to be in the form of higher prices. It sounds like an old story.

Action on an offer by three General Motors companies to lend Oakland County $335,000 to meet county expenses until tax money is available was deferred by the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon until Dec. 4. At that time the Board of Auditors and the Poor Commissioners are to report on the exact amount of money required to operate the county and to whom the money should be paid on past due obligations. The loan would bear four and one-half per cent interest and would be payable on Jan. 11.

Rent Board Head Picked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon appointed Thomas B. Curtis, a former congressman from Missouri, to head a 14-member board to make recommendations on rents and other landloard-tenant matters during Government economic controls.

The Rent Advisory Board will have no real power but will provide advice to the Price Commission on matters involving rents. The Commission has deferred most rent matters pending appointment of the Board.

Curtis, a Republican, is now vice president and general counsel of Encyclopedia Britannica. He represented a St. Louis district in the House from 1950 to 1969.

The Board members include four besides Curtis representing the general public, five representing landloards and four representing tenants.

President Deserves Respect

Listening to Mr. Meany's remarks before and after our President spoke on the AFL-CIO Convention — whether Mr. Meany likes our President or not, the President deserves all our respect, which Mr. Meany did not show him.

How do we ever expect to have peace in our country when we have the likes of Mr. Meany heading one of our big unions?

I feel Mr. Meany owes our President a public apology. No wonder why youth is so rude, when they see and hear the actions of Mr. Meany on TV.

A Cause for Thanksgiving

A year ago Christmas, I wrote you a letter in "Letters to the Editor," a plea for help, do you remember?

Well, I thought you would be wondering how we've made out since then. If ever there was a time to be thankful, we sure are this year. So many wonderful things have happened in this past year, I thought it would be nice to share it with you, hoping that somehow this letter may be of some help and encouragement to others.

If you'll recall, I mentioned my husband was an alcoholic, and Christmas was very dim as we were in the process of a divorce. My children were all unhappy and frightened. All this has changed now.

Shortly after Christmas friends called and asked me if I would be interested in visiting their church, and thank God I did, as I hadn't been to church for sometime as I had lost all hope. My husband never attended either.

We had tried doctors, A.A. and nothing seemed to help. So I went to church that very week with them and was so encouraged by the sermon that I went and asked my husband to go with me the foollowing week, as he was still in the hospital.

He was discharged from the hospital the second week of January, and on the 17th of January we accepted Christ as our Savior. Now, through Him and only Him my husband has stopped drinking. To this very day he hasn't touched a drop of any kind.

He is a happier man and has been so good to all of us since. He works hard and steady now and feels that no matter what happens he can face his problems instead of running from them. We have been attending church ever since.

What a wonderful life we have now. We are by no means any richer money wise, but spiritual wise, we are the richest family ever. What a wonderful Thanksgiving, and I give all my thanks to Our Lord Jesus.

For those who don't believe in miracles, how unfortunate for them, for they don't know what they're missing. And to you and your staff, thank you so much for your help and to everyone else who helped and encouraged me to go on. I wish all of you a blessed and happy Thanksgiving.

30-Member Youth Advisory Proposed To Guide Ferndale

A Ferndale city commissioner is proposing a Youth Advisory Board (YAB) consisting of 30 young persons to study city problems and present their recommendations to the City Commission

"I brought it up because I'm concerned about young people having a voice in the community," said Frank T. Luxon. "I think they could give us the viewpoint of the young people in the community — one we don't hear too much from."

It was discussed at Monday nights City Commission meeting.

Southfield started a similar program in August, but only four persons, all under 21 years old, were appointed to city advisory and quasi-legislative boards but have no voting power.

Luxon wants support for his idea before presenting it to the Commission for approval, and asks anyone between the ages of 18-25 to write him a letter expressing their interest. He can be reached at 660 West Breckinridge, Ferndale, or City Hall, 300 East Nine-Mile.

As currently proposed the board would be made up of 25 or 30 persons and have a function similar to the Citizens Advisory Board, which is composed of a cross section of residents who present their opinions to the City Commission. Their recommendations are only "advisory," and the group is supervised by Kenneth A. Johnson, assistant to the city manager.

The YAB would operate the same way, Luxon said. "We now have an adult group which gives us its opinion, and I think we should have a group of young people to give us their views."

The youths would have a wide range of areas to study, with those age 16 and 17 acting as non-voting members of the board. "They could look into the charter, recreation program and ordinances to see what they feel should be changed or updated," he said.

He says many young persons don't want to become involved in city government because they are not eligible to hold office until they are 30 years old. "They feel they're handicapped and assume it's no use in getting involved."

By charter, a person must be 30 years old to run for the City Commission and 35 years old to run for mayor.

If the YAB is successful, Luxon says some persons could be put on one of the existing city advisory boards, and be a liaison between the two.

Should Luxon decide to establish the YAB, it would be sent to the City Commission for final approval, which would be adopted by ordinance. Commission would also limit the powers of the board.

Commissioners Monday night favored the YAB, and Mayor Bruce D. Garbutt says it would not become final until next year after the new commission is sworn in Jan. 1.

Commissioner Robert J. Paczkowski suggested placing the youths on individual advisory boards as in Southfield rather than creating one, saying: "We should get them involved as adults and not as youths. Anyway they can benefit the city is alright, but I feel they can best do the job as an adult."

The mayor agrees with Luxon, saying young persons should be directly involved in city government. "This is a practical matter, and it seems to me we should do something if we want to know what they are thinking," he said.

"In spite of what others have said I think it would be better to have them on one board because they would feel confident enough to perform on any given board after they get some experience," he said.

Martha's Car Costs Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whenever Martha Mitchell wants to leave her luxury apartment by the Potomac she telephones for a sleek, chauffeured black sedan leased by the Federal Government.

Keeping a 1972 Mercury at the disposal of the attorney general's wife 24 hours a day costs the taxpayers $850 a year, plus the driver's salary of about $8,300.

"Those cars are supposed to be for official use only, not for Cabinet wives," said a General Services Administration official when told Mrs. Mitchell has been assigned her own car and driver since President Nixon took office.

The GSA assigns Government-owned cars for use by bureaucrats with the exception of top executives and is responsible for seeing that they are properly used.

Mrs. Mitchell's car comes from a pool reserved for top Justice Department officers, but the GSA official said he finds it "highly unusual" that she has her own.

Children's Village Plans Believed Endangered

Two influential committees of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners will meet Tuesday to discuss 1972 building plans.

The Finance Committee scheduled the meeting with the Planning and Building Committee after receiving a request from circuit judges to allocate more expansion funds for Children's Village.

The judges fear that only part of expansion plans for the village which houses neglected and delinquent children who are wards of the county, will be started next year.

Chairmen of the commissioners' other 10 standing committees also will be invited to the meeting.

Detention Center—

The county Planning and Building Committee last week decided the county could afford to build only a new detention center for Children's Village, located at the county service center, Pontiac.

The probate judges asked that a new kitchen, and a girls' work education building be built at the same time. They said they were willing to delay construction of two rehabilitation cottages for several years.

Plans for the Children's Village expansion were started in 1965. The complex's chief problem is frequent overcrowding.

Allocation for Roads—

In related matters, the Oakland County Road Commission may get no funds from the county in 1972, as county officials debate how to write a balanced budget.

The Commission says it wants county funds so it can qualify for more Federal money to repair roads.

Budget writers previously chopped the road agency's current allocation of $700,000 in half in the proposed 1972 spending plan. Now they want to eliminate the remaining proposed $350,000.

The spending plan designers say the road department may get an added $5 million from the state in 1971. If those funds are delayed, the county could temporarily loan up to $700,000 to the agency, they suggested.

A Road Commission aide said his agency can use money either from the county or state as "matching" funds when applying for the Federal funds.

'Hurt No One'—

A key administrator attempting to prepare a balanced $40 million spending plan for Oakland County, Robert E. Lilly, said Friday this plan would "hurt no one" and would ease county budget problems.

Lilly is vice chairman of the county Board of Auditors.

He suggested the plan to the Finance Committee of the county Board of Commissioners, along with other suggestions to bring planned spending in line with anticipated revenue.

The Committee also is considering asking the road agency to return a $500,000 loan the county made to the agency in 1969. These funds would help erase the county's anticipated $627,000 degicit.

The Road Commission has been lending the $500,000 to townships at 8 per cent interest for road projects.

City Manager Frank Gerstenecker of Troy went on record Friday before the committee opposing any cut in Road Commission funds.

He wrote the committee that the agency should be given $700,000 in 1972. That letter was read an hour before the committee considered Lilly's suggestion to eliminate the entire allocation.

Despite the prospect of additional funds in 1972 from the state, the agency "still needs all the financial help it can get," Gerstenecker said.

The Road Commission maintains several major streets in Troy, and many need improvement or widening, he said.

Other Suggestions—

The proposed elimination of Road Commission funds is one of a series of suggestions by Lilly.

The others include:

- New spending. Add $407,000 in spending to the budget to cover the county's obligation for certain road drain payments. These payments are distinct from Road Commission's work. County commissioners have insisted these payments come from the general budget, rather than from a new countywide tax.
- New spending. Add $249,000 to the $501,000 proposed to raise salaries in 1972. This $750,000 would mean a 4.6 per cent average pay increase to county employes.
- New anticipated revenue. The state probably will give the county $260,000 in revenue sharing money.
- New anticipated revenue. Lilly now believes the county will get $100,000 more in state income tax rebates than first proposed in the 1972 spending plan.

Committee members, however, doubt that the county will get all the state income tax rebates that are anticipated. It prefers not to count on an additional $100,000 while attempting to balance spending and revenue.

The state this year took back $600,000 of the county's income tax rebate payments to cover "overpayments" before 1970. County officials are uncertain whether the state next year will demand back "overpayments" from 1970 and 1971.

The Finance Committee faces a Dec. 31 deadline on the 1972 spending plan.

On Friday, the committee decided that $177,000 in salaries or new jobs will be whacked from the staff portion of the $40 million budget. The committee is considering cutting $123,000 from other portions of the budget.

What It Means—

The reduction in spending plans by $300,000 apparently would mean a balanced 1972 spending plan.

The proposed $177,000 spending cuts in salaries and staff, and $123,000 cuts in other spending areas, would give the committee $300,000 in non-allocated funds.

Committee chairman James M. Brennan (D-Berkley) suggested that $100,000 of this be substituted for the anticipated additional $100,000 in income tax rebates. The remaining $200,000 could bolster the county's building fund, he said, which he believes has been "underfunded" for several years.

Brennan hopes the committee soon will give the budget writing a definite direction. "I don't have five votes for any one plan," he said. Five votes are needed to approve any measure.

S'field Begins Blood Donor Campaign— Center Claims December Supply Low

by LILLIAN A. HASTINGS
Tribune Staff Reporter

There is never enough blood on hand at the Michigan Community Blood Center of Detroit, according to technical director Kathryn M. Beattie.

The center, which supplies almost half of the blood used by hospitals in the metropolitan area, runs lower on its ever-needed supply during December because of the holidays, and in the summer months when persons are on vacations.

To alleviate the situation this year, Norman Feder, mayor of Southfield, has declared December, 1971, as Blood Month in his city.

"It is a strange but simple fact that when you give yourself blood by depositing it in advance you are actually giving your family and your community one of humanity's most priceless gifts," he said.

He is urging citizens to participate in a planned blood donation program, to form blood donor clubs and to assist in the recruitment of donors so that Southfield might build its own dependable blood supply.

Special Gift—

"This year when you look for that special gift, give blood," Feder suggests.

Wednesday afternoon, to kick-off the Southfield effort to obtain blood, Dr. Martin Selik, DDS, of Southfield, gave blood to the Lathrup Village Donor Station, 18181 West Twelve Mile, Lathrup. Dr. Martin, Southfield Citizen of the Year, has offices in Madison Heights.

President Nixon will declare January as Blood Month for the nation, but December is a more critical month, according to Miss Beattie.

"We would like to get people in the suburbs to participate in volunteering their blood to help themselves as well as others. We have programs (the blood assurance plan) where persons can donate one pint of blood and cover their total family needs for one year," she said.

She stated there are 270 blood types, and blood typing is as individual as fingerprinting.

"In view of all the clamor in the media about the use of paid donors, it behooves all of us to volunteer blood to satisfy our needs," she explained.

Blood received at the center is processed and tests run on it to determine factors besides blood types, she said.

Checked—

"Persons receiving transfusions now in area hospitals can be assured blood has been checked to match theirs and been tested for various things which might have side effects," she stated.

Though she admitted there are many dangers in the use of transfusions, some of them can be diminished by the physician's judgment.

The Michigan Community Blood Center is an independent, local organization which specializes, exclusively, in blood technology. It receives no subsidies from the United Fund or from any other source than the minimum fees required to cover the costs of laboratory services, according to a center spokesman.

The mechanism for making these services available is the Blood Donor Club. Industrial, civic, religious and fraternal groups may, through donations by their members, cover the blood needs of their group. The center has a mobile unit and donor stations throughout the metropolitan area.

The center, with a staff of 130, has a rare donor file, an extensive blood components program, and a teaching program for medical technologists.

It is not a commercial blood business, and should not be confused by comparing it with national organizations with local offices.

"We are Michigan's largest voluntary, non-profit, community blood laboratory, and we exist to help people meet their own blood needs whenever possible," according to Joel Garrett, manager of customer services and donor procurement at the center.

Area persons wishing to give the rare, unusual gift at Christmas this year may call the Lathrup Station, at 357-2030, or the Pontiac Station, at 334-9947, for donor hours.

Discovers Rare Blood Type— RO Woman Honored by Peers

Because it was thought a pregnant woman during delivery in an area hospital might need a blood tranfusion, Kathryn M. Beattie of Royal Oak discovered a very rare variant of Group A blood.

She wrote a report of the study and gave it recently at the 17th annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Blood Banks, held at the University of Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor.

For the report, she was presented the group's technical award for the year. Several hundred physicians, who are directors of hospital blood banks, and other technical personnel, attended the meeting.

Miss Beattie, M.T. (ASCP) BB (medical technologist, American Society Clinical Pathology and blood banking certification), is technical director of Detroit's Michigan Community Blood Center. She was called for consultation by the hospital where the pregnant Detroit woman was a patient.

Because her blood couldn't be typed, doctors were holding up transfusion, should it be necessary, until Miss Beattie could type the woman's blood.

Within a 24-hour period, Miss Beattie, after running many different blood tests, identified the woman's blood type as A-el.

Prior to the test, only six other persons, world-wide, had been reported to have such a blood type.

While Miss Beattie checked the blood sample, she advised the hospital to use red cells from a Group O individual, but no transfusion was needed.

"The importance of the recognition of this rare blood type is that no donor should be mistakeningly identified as Group O and transfused into a Group O patient because of the hazard of a severe hemolytic transfusion reaction," she stressed.

Since her report, two persons, one in Toronto, Ont., Can., and one in Ann Arbor, have been found to have the same A-el blood type.

MISS K. M. BEATTIE

Via explanation, Miss Beattie said Group A is fairly common in the general population, with about 44 per cent having it. Of that 44 per cent, three-fourths would have A-1 and the other fourth, A-2.

Beyond that, one in every 5,000 persons have A-3 and, very rare cases, one in 40,000 will have A-m or A-x blood types, she said.

The soft-spoken, pleasant woman has had numerous papers published in medical journals to-date, and she may publish her current report later. She has had articles in Transfusion, a publication of the American Association of Blood Banks, and The Journal of Human Genetics. Two of her papers have been read in Russia and Australia at international society of blood transfusion meetings.

She said she had written two articles this year on data she felt more important than the blood study just completed.

One was a description of a blood factor found in some Rh negative blood. The other was an additional report concerning ABO blood typing errors because of dye in the typing serums.

Miss Beattie, at the Michigan Community Blood Center for the past 11 years, has made her home in Royal Oak since 1948.

She was a medical technologist at the Royal Oak Hospital, formerly located in the Washington Square Building, and was in charge of the blood bank at Children's Hospital, Detroit, prior to going to the center. She was graduated from Wayne State University, in 1944, having spent one year in the medical school as part of her medical technology training.

Christmas Items

Among some of the more "elegant" decorations you can make for your home at Christmas is a flowering tree of gold.

The tree is set in a frame and it is sturdy enough to be used year after year. The cost is about $4 depending where you purchase your materials or how much you already have on hand.

MATERIALS:

23 inch by 11 inch mat board

plastic foam base

assorted plastic flowers and greenery

small piece of dowel or tubing

METHOD:

Cement the gold painted molding to the outside edges of the mat board. The suggested color of the board is green and the board should be available at hardware stores.

Cut your plastic foam cone in half. The cone should be about 10 inches long. Cover the cone with the cove cement and attach the flowers. Spray with gold paint.

Cut the plastic foam base in half and spray with gold paint.

Cement the flower-covered cone to the mat. Under the cone, cement a two inch piece of dowel or tubing that you have painted gold. Cement the base under the tubing.

The final step is to cement greenery to the top section of the base. Let it dry and it's ready to be hung.

Your Problems . . . by Ann Landers

Mom Does Screaming Bit, Drives Teen Up the Wall!

Dear Ann Landers: Everybody sees himself in your column, sooner or later. I saw myself a few days ago. It was the letter from the girl whose mother yelled at her constantly over nothing. I get chewed out by my mom regularly. I realize she is not really mad at me but she has to take out her anger somehow and I'm the handiest target. No matter how hard I try to stay out of her way she finds something to holler about.

Her pattern of yelling is always the same. It starts out over nothing and builds. The more she yells the madder she gets. Pretty soon she is screaming about a completely different subject than the one she started on.

Please tell me what I can do about it. I have another two years to go before I can get out of the house and go to college.

—BATTERED EAR DRUMS

Dear Battered: A person who understands a problem has it half solved, and it is obvious that you DO understand. There is no way you can change your mother. She needs professional help. You can, however, protect yourself by listening quietly and remembering that her rage has nothing to do with you—that she is really angry with herself. Make no attempt to reason with her when she's off on a screamer. She's not rational. And if it will make you feel better, dear, you have lots of company.

Insignificant Remarks

Dear Ann Landers: I work on a newspaper and have written heads and subheads for your column for many years, so I've read every word you've written for a long time. Today I see another letter from someone who is upset because someone SAID the wrong thing. Bereaved mourners are unhappy because of a thoughtless comment. An adoptive dad is distraught because someone made a snide crack. A mother with a homely child is miserable because a friend made a hurtful remark.

Even the kindest and most considerate people are frequently surprised when a thought that seemed all right in the head, comes out of the mouth in a cloddish manner. It happens all the time. So why should anyone allow himself to become totally fragmented by an insignificant, ill-phrased statement that wasn't intended to hurt?

Most folks are decent. The malicious and mean devils are definitely in the minority. Wouldn't it be a happier world if we didn't attach so much importance to what people say! I hope you will print this, Ann, and I hope I said it right.

—I UNDERSTAND

Dear Understand: You did and I thank you.

Sometimes An Insult

Dear Ann Landers: My mother and grandmother both smoke like a couple of chimneys. They always seem to be lighting up during a meal—a cigaret with the breakfast coffee, a cigaret after the salad, a cigaret before the dessert. It ruins my appetite and makes me sick to my stomach. Does a 13-year-old have the right to say anything? If so, what?

—CHOKING TO DEATH IN GREENWICH

Dear Choking: In some countries, smoking during a meal is considered an insult to the cook. In our country it is bad manners to smoke during a meal unless one asks permission from the non-smokers. Since your chimneys — I mean your mother and grandmother—are not about to ask your permission, I suggest you tell them that their smoking spoils your appetite and if they would please cut out the cigarets between courses, you would be glad to leave the table when they light up with their dessert and coffee.

Hints From Heloise

Accent Macaroni Heloise's Way

DEAR FOLKS:

I got the shock of my life at the grocery when I bought a box of Macaroni and Cheese. (I put that in capital letters because there was such a difference in price!)

They were out of the brand I had used for years. So? I picked up another one. Looking at the price on it I thought I'd dropped my bifocals.

I decided to try a brand I'd never used before for a third as much. It was great! I did improvise to make it out of the ordinary—but I usually do that anyway.

Here's what I did:

After cooking and draining the macaroni in a strainer, and while it is still hot, I added a blub-blub of hot sauce, some fancy pepper ordinarily used for steaks, a tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, a dab of leftover grated onion to the packaged mix, and then poured it into a buttered casserole dish.

Now as Longhorn cheese (cheddar) being way out in the tight line like everything else, I used my potato peeler for slicing cheese for topping. Talk about s-t-r-e-t-c-h-i-n-g cheese! Melted instantly, too. Then sprinkle with paprika and put it in the oven until the cheese gets to your liking.

It sure was good. The hot sauce and Worcestershire sure changed the flavor of plain old "Mac-and-Chee"!

Heloise

P.S. Do you know that this can be varied umpteen ways by using bits of leftover meats? Even a can of Vienna sausage can be cut into bits and added.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

My neighbor and I went over to peek in her pine tree to see if there was a new bird's nest—and lo and behold—holding the nest together was a nylon net!! We both broke into laughter and said, "Wait 'til Heloise hears this."

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's a hint to share with you—

I am active in my temple. We prepare large luncheons, etc.

One afternoon I was mixing a tuna fish salad. The large mixing spoon was locked in the cupboard. I looked around and found a saucer—used that to mix my salad.

Now, I have everyone doing it!!

DEAR HELOISE:

Being the mother of eight beautiful children I've found a great use for worn-out chenille bedspreads.

Tear the bedspread into squares to use for wash cloths and handwipers for babies. I keep them handy in the kitchen.

When taking a trip I put a damp one in a plastic bag and it saves the day in a million different ways!

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a great idea for making some of those handy little gifts which are really useful.

I use scraps or remnants (preferably jersey material) for making "shoe mittens."

Sleeves from sweaters and jerseys that are not too badly worn can be used. All I have to do is sew up one end, hem the other and run a cord or ribbon for a drawstring.

Felt appliques decorated with sequins, beads or buttons add a nice touch.

You are a doll to come up with this cute idea, Freda. They would be useful gifts for most any occasion!

DEAR HELOISE:

This hint is especially nice for those who wear dentures.

To enjoy eating corn on the cob, take a sharp paring knife and cut down each row of kernels, then butter up and start eating!

The juicy goodness slips out and leaves the hull on the cob . . .

Grandma

Nobody likes corn-on-the-cob any better than I—so I can feel for anyone who can't eat it that way—and get butter from ear to ear!

This sure makes a dandy way of solving the problem.

Cranberries make cheery confections for Christmas giving, adding color and flavor to fudge, nut balls and chocolate candy. Brandied Cranberries make yum-yum toppings and relish too.

Homemade Yule Gifts Made With Cranberries

What better way to show your affection to family and friends than by making the gifts you give at Christmas. These luscious cranberry confections are most appropriate to the season and so easy to prepare that even the children can join in making them.

Beautiful bouncy red cranberries add a gay Christmas touch to many different kinds of candies and cookies. For instance, what could be prettier than creamy white fudge dotted with the tangy red berries. Use them, too, in nut balls and chocolate candy. And, for a little more sophisticated confection, try Brandied Cranberries — you'll find them delightful as a topping for ice cream or pudding, as well as served as a relish.

CRANBERRY WHITE FUDGE

Ingredients:

4 cups sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup half and half
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 cups fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries

Method:

Combine sugar, milk, half and half, corn syrup and salt. Cook at a boil until temperature on candy thermometer registers 238, or until a soft ball forms when small amount of syrup is dropped into cold water. Cool until candy is lukewarm or 110 degrees. Beat in butter and vanilla. Beat until fudge becomes thick and holds its shape. Quickly stir in cranberries and spread into a buttered eight-inch square pan. Cool until firm and then cut into squares.

CRANBERRY NUT BALLS (MAKES ABOUT 4 DOZEN ONE-INCH BALLS)

Ingredients

1 tablespoon butter or margarine, softened
¼ cup light corn syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ cup non-fat dry milk powder
¼ teaspoon salt
7 cups (32 ounces) sifted confectioners sugar
1 cup coarsely ground or chopped fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries
½ cup finely chopped nuts

Method:

Combine butter, corn syrup, vanilla, milk powder, salt, confectioners sugar, and cranberries. Knead with the hands until mixture is smooth and creamy. If mixture is too wet, add more confectioners sugar. Shape mixture into one-inch balls. Roll in nuts. Let dry at room temperature until firm, then store in an airtight container in a cool dry place.

CRANBERRY CHOCOLATE CAKE (MAKES APPROXIMATELY 80 PIECES)

Ingredients:

1½ cups fresh cranberries
½ cup sugar
1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
⅔ cup (6 ounce can) evaporated milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
4 cups graham cracker crumbs
2 cups miniature marshmallows
½ cup chopped pecans

Method:

In saucepan, combine cranberries, sugar and ½ cup water. Bring to boil; simmer for three minutes, or until cranberries are tender but hold their shape. Drain, reserving two tablespoons syrup. Melt chocolate with milk; stir until smooth. Add vanilla. Stir in remaining ingredients, cranberries and reserved syrup. Pat in well-greased nine by nine by two-inch baking dish. Chill until firm. Cut in squares.

BRANDIED CRANBERRIES

Ingredients:

8 cups sugar
4 cups water
4 pounds fresh cranberries
2 cups brandy

Method:

Combine sugar and water in a large kettle. Bring to a boil and let boil for 10 minutes. Add cranberries and simmer for five minutes. Remove from heat and remove cranberries with a slotted spoon, spooning them into clean hot pint jars. Return syrup to heat and boil until syrup is the consistency of honey. Stir in brandy and spoon syrup over cranberries covering them completely. Seal and cool; then store in a cool dry place. Delicious on vanilla ice cream, apple or mince pie or as a relish.

Your Health

That Old Laxative Hop

by LESTER L. COLEMAN

For as long as I can remember I have taken some kind of medicine for constipation.

The medicines seem to work for a while, and then become ineffective. Whenever I see a new advertisement or TV commercial I am tempted to try another laxative. The same thing happens.

I wish you could recommend some way that I could kick the habit.

Mr. S. K., Mo.

Dear Mr. K.:

"Laxative hopping" is part of the great American fixation on the false mystique of "regularity."

Americans spend more than $50,000,000 a year making a ritual out of the "sluggish bowel."

It seems to me that, for some diabolical reason, every TV commercial promoting the cause of regularity and explaining the mechanics of bowel movement always coincides with the dinner hour.

Constipation is a condition that can be easily controlled in most instances by proper diet and especially by a sufficient intake of water each day.

Unfortunately, there is a misconception that the whole life cycle of the individual depends on the daily bowel movement.

Some people develop a tremendous sense of anxiety if their digestive system does not function on a pre-planned time schedule.

Actually, a bowel movement every two or three days is normal for many people in good health.

The result is that many do exactly as you have been doing, jumping from a cathartic to a purgative, to physics, enemas, bulk-producers, and irritants... all to ensure ritualistic punctuality of elimination.

Unless your doctor definitely prescribes a laxative, try to interrupt your dependency on them. Give your body a chance to function naturally.

Our daughter was born with a strawberry birthmark. At what age is it safe to have it removed from her face?

Mrs. T. C., Me.

Dear Mrs. C.:

The so-called strawberry birthmarks are considered to be vascular in origin—that is, they stem from a blood vessel.

The exact reason why these occur is not known. They may be due to some disorder of development, or related to heredity.

Many superstitions and folk tales are related to birthmarks. The false notion that a pregnant woman was frightened by an animal or that she ate the wrong food merely serves to enhance an unnecessary sense of guilt in the mother.

There are a number of different kinds of reddish birthmarks. Some get smaller and tend to disappear. Others grow as the child develops. There is, therefore, no single rule about the ideal time for the treatment of these birthmarks.

The doctor will keep your child under observation and will recommend one or more of the new techniques by which birthmarks can be handled.

Surgery is not always necessary.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." Proposal Would Cut Power of Blue Cross

A proposed bill which would eliminate Blue Cross' right to determine which hospitals participate in its insurance plan is expected to reach the floor of the State House Tuesday.

The proposal would clear the way for more hospitals to participate, giving policy holders a wider selection of hospitals.

Oakland County Hospital may not be included in the plan, warns Rep. Bill S. Huffman (D-Madison Heights) who wrote the measure.

Predction—

Huffman Wednesday predicted county and state hospitals, and nursing homes will not be included in HB 4030's final form.

County hospital officials have failed for several years to persuade Blue Cross to allow their facility to participate in the hospital insurance program.

They complain that mayn potential patients go instead to other, participating hospitals.

Different versions of the plan have been passed by the House and Senate. A joint conference meets Monday to iron out differences. This final form then goes back to the House and Senate for approval.

Huffman's Contention—

Huffman, a member of the joint committee, believes the county and state facilities and nursing homes will be chopped from the final form.

Basically, both versions set standards for participation in the Blue Cross plan. The Senate version would extend it to all state-licensed hospitals, while the House version calls for accredited, licensed, nonprofit status.

Blue Cross now sets the criteria under which a hospital qualifies for participation. It banks heavily on advice from the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council, a planning agency.

Hospitals without Blue Cross participation often find themselves with empty beds and financial problems, while the participating hospitals are often overcrowded.

All South Oakland hospitals now participate in the plan. Some hospitals such as Madison Community Hospital, Madison Heights, and Patrick MacNamara in Warren, complained of their financial problems before they were allowed to participate.

A companion bill, 4949, also written by Huffman, would require any group which plans to build, enlarge or convert a hospital to first get a "certificate of need" from a special commission. HB 4949 will reach the floor of the House Tuesday, for the first time.

Seven of 11 members would be "consumers," Huffman said. The members would be appointed by the governor, and confirmed by the Senate, he said.

Power Curtailment—

This plan curtails the power of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council to, in effect, veto hospital building plans.

Huffman links the Council and Blue Cross comparing them to an interlocking directorate.

If the Council concludes no need exists for a planned hospital or hospital addition, Blue Cross will not extend its participation to the facility, and the facility will not be eligible for Federal construction grants.

"We're tearing down their castle," he said.

Huffman is confident the measures will pass. Supporters, he said, include the UAW, Teamsters, building trades, state Health Department, Governor, and House speaker.

Awesome Power—

Huffman said the proposals "will take an awesome power away from the Council and Blue Cross"

The director of the Hospital Council, Symond Gottlieb, said his agency endorses the "certificate of need" proposal, but "strongly opposes" the Blue Cross participation plan.

If the participation plan is approved, he said, unneeded hospitals may spring up. Some nursing homes may convert to hospitals, he said.

His agency favors the certificate of need plan, he said, but fears the 11-member commission will give only cursory study to whether a proposed facility is actually needed.

He pointed out only $30,000 is included in the bill to pay for all commission expenses through July 1, 1972. This small sum may mean a limited staff for the commission, he said.

If the plan is approved, his agency would make planning recommendations to the new commission, rather than to Blue Cross, he assumed.

Boy Takes Plane for 'Joy Ride'

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (UPI) — A 14-year-old boy with no piloting experience took a light plane for a solo ride Tuesday. He suffered a cut on the chin when the plane crashed 10 minutes later in a swampy field.

"By gosh, he just cranked ther up and flew her off," Deputy Sheriff Jay Beerman said.

Playing Hooky—

Beerman said the boy, William Rulla, was playing hooky at the time and was worried what his stepfather would say.

"He'll probably tan me black and blue," Beerman quoted the boy as saying after the crash. Beerman said the youth told him the flight was "too much for me."

Authorities did not know if any charges would be filed against William, an eighth grade student at Rosedale Country school. The plane, a 1968 Champion owned by Jerry Boyle, was heavily damaged.

William was released to the custody of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Volkers of rural North Platte.

Wanted Ride—

Beerman said William "has been up in planes previously and flies model planes, a hobby, but had no training as a pilot."

"He was after the owner of the plane a couple of days ago to give him a ride, but it was foggy that day," Beerman said. "He asked again the next day but the weather was still bad. Today it misted a little and was kind of damp, but he went anyway."

Auto Repair Law Tightened

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed into law a bill to license California auto repair dealers and to put any fraudulent ones out of business.

Calling the measure "the toughest consumer protection bill of the year in California," Reagan said it is "aimed at cracking down on a certain irresponsible segment of the auto repair industry which persists in using dishonest and unethical operating methods."

In signing the bill, Reagan said state officials have received more complaints about auto repairs than about any other business. The legislation doesn't require licensing of mechanics — only the dealers they work for. California has the most motor vehicles of any state.

Violators are subject to revocation of their business license plus a penalty of up to $1,000, six months in jail or both.

Area Furniture Firm Purchases Florida Facility

Englander Triangle, Inc., a metropolitan Detroit area furniture company has purchased Worrell's Interiors of Palm Beach, Fla.

Worrells, a full service studio with a large staff of designers, was established in 1931.

According to Marvin I. Danto, chairman of the Board of Englander Triangle, Worrells will be remodeled, with a completion date set for January 1972.

British Government, Rhodesia Reach Accord

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Conservative government embarked today on an uphill campaign to win acceptance of its plan to recognize Rhodesia as an independent republic by next summer.

The deal disclosed on Thursday is not likely to give control to Rhodesia's black majority until around the turn of the century but in explaining the agreement to the U.N. Security Council the British said this is probably the last chance to prevent the former colony from becoming "an appendage of South Africa."

ALEC DOUGLAS-HOME

Opposition—

Though opposition seems certain to come from both Labor Party critics at home and Africans and Asians in the Commonwealth and United Nations.

Some commentators even forecast that the coming U.N. row raised the prospect of an attempt to impose sanctions on Britain, just as the United Nations imposed sanctions against the breakaway Rhodesian regime.

But the government, convinced that the deal is the best that can be won for Rhodesia's five-million black Africans, is certain to push it ahead through Parliament.

Independent—

Rhodesia declared itself independent Nov. 11, 1965, in defiance of British insistence that blacks must be brought to majority rule. All effective power was held by the 250,000 whites and the Rhodesian Front Party headed by Prime Minister Ian Smith.

The new deal, worked out between Smith and Britain's foreign secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, holds out a distant prospect of African rule — but sets no date.

Some British officials believe it may be achieved within 20 years. Smith himself has said it won't happen in this century.

Douglas-Home, presenting his proposals to Parliament Thursday, insisted that they meet Britain's long standing demands for unimpeded progress toward African rule, with safeguards against racial discrimination and constitutional backsliding.

Rhodesia's 1969 constitution will be changed, he said, to increase African representation in Rhodesia's House of Assembly and to give more Africans the vote.

Voting Rights—

Voting rights for both blacks and whites will be linked to income and educational standards. Britain will put in aid to help Africans meet the voting requirement.

Rhodesia's controversial land tenure act, which designates black and white areas, will be reviewed and, Britain hopes, modified. The act now reserves 44 million acres of Rhodesia's best land to whites and only 42 million to Africans.

United Ireland Proposed

LONDON (AP) — Harold Wilson's radical scheme for a united Ireland won a guarded welcome in both London and Dublin today as a starting point for talks on Northern Ireland's strife.

British government ministers nodded approvingly as the former Labor prime minister outlined his plan before the House of Commons Thursday night — an indication that they are ready to think in terms of ending Ireland's partition.

Welcomed—

Leaders of the three main parties in the Irish Republic welcomed Wilson's recognition of Irish unity as a long-term objective. They were less than enthusiastic, however, on Wilson's suggestion that the Republic should rejoin the Commonwealth as a gesture to Northern Ireland's pro-British Protestants.

The key point of Wilson's plan was for an all-party conference representing the London, Dublin and Belfast parliaments to draft a constitution for a united Ireland to come into being 15 years from now.

Continue Fight—

Meanwhile British and northern Irish security forces would continue their fight to victory over Irish Republican Army guerrillas now seeking to unite Ireland by force, Wilson said.

Under the plan the Irish Republic would amend its Catholic-oriented constitution and legal code to make it acceptable to Northern Protestants.

Teacher-Author Signs Books at Whittier

Miss Hillert, a first grade teacher at Whittier Elementary School since 1947, has published several poems and children's books.

Her poems have been published in "McCalls," "The Christian Science Monitor," "Jack and Jill Magazine" and "The Lyric." She also has had two poetry books published, "Farther Than Far" and "I Like To Live In The City."

In 1963, distressed that children in first grade could not read until six or eight months after beginning the school year, she was inspired to begin a series of primers entitled "Just Beginning To Read."

The easy to read books are aimed for youngsters on zero reading level. The books were based on old nursery tales. She has added books to the series at various intervals since origination.

All of Miss Hillert's books will be available for purchase.

The program will also include a toy demonstration.

Limits Planned on Pep Pills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is readying the nation's first production limits on pep pills, amid indications the drug industry may be permitted to make as many, if not more, than it did this year.

The Department's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs says its final decision will be influenced greatly by a recommendation lost in Government channels two months ago, and now being hastily resuscitated by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Meanwhile, study under by the Food and Drug Administration on the safety and effectiveness of amphetamines and methamphetamines for short-term weight control could wipe out most of the legitimate market for these frequently abused drugs.

The Bureau is shooting for a Friday decision on 1972 production quotas authorized by the 1970 Drug Control Act, and for publication in the Federal Register at the end of this month.

Exposition OK'd for Spokane

PARIS (UPI) — The International Bureau of Expositions (BIE) voted its approval Wednesday of the Spokane, Wash., exposition for 1974 on man and his environment.

Representatives of the 32 nations who belong to the BIE unanimously voted at their regular bi-annual meeting that only Spokane can stage an international exposition in 1974 and that no other nation can use the environment theme beforehand.

The BIE approval means that President Nixon now can extend official invitations to foreign nations to participate in the Spokane exposition by building national pavilions, as opposed to commercial pavilions of private firms.

Congress now is permitted to consider approving construction of a U.S. pavilion at the Spokane fair.

Inmates Are United in Hatred of Prison, Master Guards

EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press newsman Carl Zeitz was one of three reporters permitted inside Rahway State Prison to hear the grievances and demands of inmates before they ended a 24-hour rebellion Thursday night. This is his first-person account.

by CARL ZEITZ

RAHWAY, N.J. (AP) — His eyes were penetrating as I took notes. Every time I looked up from my notepad, they were fixed on mine.

"I learned it all in here," the middleaged white convict said in a voice that reminded me of a lawyer arguing his case clearly and articulately in court.

"It all starts in the courts. They give us excessive sentences, illegal sentences. They don't give us the opportunity to remake ourselves."

Says 'Kidnaped'—

And finally, he said, almost spitting out the words, "It's not just a prison, it's a failure, the men were kidnaped to jail."

He didn't say why he was in Rahway State Prison and I didn't catch his name.

The inmates crowded to the bars, shifting from one reporter, then to another and then to the last of the three of us who had gone into the prison as part of an agreement to end their rebellion.

"I got two to five years for possession of 75 cents worth of marijuana, for having a reefer," said Miguel Soto.

"Just for that?" I asked.

"Yes," he said, "just for that."

Gets Dope—

Another inmate, Leroy Bunting, rolled up the sleeve of his olive drab prison work jacket to show what he said were tracks from taking injections of heroin.

"You get it from the police," the lean, bearded black man said. "It's just like being on the street. Anything you can get in here you can get out there."

He said prison narcotics pushers got their supply from state corrections officers.

Price—

"It's $10 and five cartons of cigarets for a bag of heroin," he said.

And he said that anything else, from pep pills to wine, could be purchased behind the walls of Rahway.

INMATES of Rahway State Prison peered through a barred, broken window of the maximum security prison while a banner fluttered in the wind. The prisoners held five hostages while their leaders negotiated demands. (Unifax)

Those to whom I talked denied that racial tensions existed among the inmates themselves, but they accused guards of racism and provocations.

One after another they described beatings, arbitrary confinement in solitary — even the drowning of pet cats by guards.

Mostly Blacks—

Most of the inmates were black. Nearly all of them were young. Those to whom I talked were united in their hate of the prison and of its masters, the guards.

Behind the bars the stairs were barricaded with linen, wrecked furniture, clothing, towels and metal objects that had been ripped from the walls and cells. A fire blazed.

Officials anxiously listened as inmates complained of bad wages and a price-gouging commissary.

'Slave Labor'—

They said they received $13.50 a month for working six days a week in what one man called "a slave labor camp," a regional prison laundry.

The commissary, they said, charges prices twice those of retail stores on the outside. They said they had to buy all the necessities — including toothpaste and razor blades — and out of their $13.50 still have something left for cigarets and an occasional can of corned beef costing 68 cents.

Asked why they had released the seven hostages they had taken, inmate Herbert Smith said, "We released them for the love of human life."

Expect Reprisals—

Many said they expected physical reprisals despite assurances by Gov. William T. Cahill that there would be none.

"You couldn't live here and not see the use of clubs," said Smith.

Before we were allowed to talk with the rebels, they released one of the five hostages they still held, as they had promised to do if three newsmen were allowed to talk with them.

We saw the hostage first behind the bars. I can only say I really saw a frightened man, a scared man, before me.

Released Hostages—

Later, while we were still talking to the inmates, they released their final four hostages, including the injured superintendent of the prison, U. Samuel Vukcevich.

And when I started to leave I was handed a list of the demands the inmates were making. Folded inside the list was my press card, which I had surrendered to the prisoners, who sought credentials as we entered their stronghold.

The last words I heard from one of the inmates was: "Hey man, tell 'em what you saw."

RAHWAY STATE PRISON guard Kenneth Koetsier, age 32, his face bearing marks sustained during prisoner-guard scuffle after inmates took over part of the facility, tells newsmen of his ordeal following release of the hostages. Koetsier said his prisoner-guard, on learning state police might enter the prison to quell the rebellion, told him, "if they come through that door, we're going to kill you." (Unifax)

Senate Trims Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Blocking moves to bring 60,000 U.S. troops home from Europe and to hold a $4-billion spending line on military intelligence, the Senate has passed a defense bill trimmed below presidential requests.

But the net dollar effect of Tuesday's voting was to restore about three-quarters of the $800 million cut from the bill by the Senate Appropriations Committee, bringing the total new spending authority for the Pentagon to $70.8 billion. The total is $2.7 billion below the administration's request.

The 80-5 vote by which the measure finally was passed and sent to conference with the House did not reflect the heated floor debates over U.S. European troop deployment and intelligence spending secrecy.

Bruising Debate—

The Senate did avoid a potentially bruising debate when an expected move to bring another Vietnam withdrawal move to a vote failed to materialize.

Only once in a long series of votes on amendments did the Senate choose to go against the express wishes of the President, Administration officials and military leaders.

Then, on an 82-14 roll call, it added to the bill an amendment by Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.) earmarking $500 million in credit to help Israel buy Phantom jets and other arms.

Ceiling Defeated—

The Senate later voted, 54 to 39, to remove from the bill a proposal drafted by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield which would have placed a 250,000 ceiling on the number of troops stationed permanently in Europe and brought about 60,000 men home.

That vote came after an appeal from Mr. Nixon who said a unilateral cut would, "with one stroke, diminish Western military capability in Europe and signal to friend and adversary alike a disarray and weakness of purpose in the American government."

Whale Meat Seized by FDA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spurred by anxious pet lovers and conservationists, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has rejected a pet food company's tentative plans to feed sperm whale meat to dogs and cats.

The problem now for the FDA and the company, Kal Kan Foods of Los Angeles, is how to get rid of more than one-million pounds of frozen sperm whale meat, now on ice at a Vernon, Calif., warehouse.

Seized Meat—

The FDA formally seized the whale meat last week on grounds it contained excess mercury.

The sperm whale was declared an endangered species in December by the Interior Department, and Kal Kan's catch is believed to be one of the last commercial shipments of sperm whale meat allowed into the United States.

Effective Dec. 2, all such imports are barred except for scientific purposes.

Kal Kan officials said they bought the meat more than a year and a half ago from Japanese fishermen. "It's a particular type of whale meat, real black, and we didn't have any use for it," a Kal Kan spokesman said in a telephone interview. "But we thought we might have use for it eventually."

Received Letters—

Meantime, however, excess mercury in tuna and swordfish was declared hazardous by the FDA. Herbert Friedlander, a case chief in the FDA's Bureau of Veterinary Medicine, said letters poured in from pet lovers fearing that fish barred from human food because of mercury contamination would be quietly mixed into pet foods.

Conservationists also wrote in, Friedlander said, urging the FDA to discourage whale imports prior to the ban least the creatures become extinct.

Woodcock Guest at Area C of C Meet

Leonard Woodcock, president of the UAW, will be guest speaker Tuesday at the Birmingham - Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce executive breakfast.

The breakfast will begin at 7:30 a.m., at the Birmingham Community House, Townsend and Bates.

Woodcock is currently serving as a member of President Richar M. Nixon's Pay Board. "Mr. Woodcock will likely have more definite views to express regarding the program as it relates to the UAW membership," said Knowles Smith, executive director of the Chamber.

Great Britain brought its calendar up to date some 150 years after Pope Gregory corrected the Julian calendar. This was done by dropping 11 days from September. Sept. 2nd, 1732, was to be followed by Sept. 14th. At the same time, the date of New Year's Day was changed from March 25th to Jan. 1st.

Fund Population Control Studies

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan Center for Population Planning has received two grants to develop methods to induce early abortions by drugs.

The projects, included in a $1.1-million grant from the U.S. Ageney for International Development, are intended to aid population control in underdeveloped countries.

One study is aimed at the development of antibodies which will cause abortions early in pregnancy when given orally or injected.

In the other study, electronic transmitting devices will be implanted in the uteruses of female volunteers. The devices will allow researchers to study the normal function of the organ and the effects of various hormones.

Law May Withdraw Support of Added Track Revenue Bill

A proposed state law which would give Hazel Park additional revenue from betting at the Hazel Park Race Track may have lost the support of a co-sponsor, but may gain the support of Michigan's governor.

Both moves are related to attempts to finance a stadium either in Detroit or Pontiac.

State Rep. Arthur J. Law (D-Pontiac), co-sponsor of the racing bill, said he might withdraw his support because state Rep. Philip O. Mastin (D-Hazel Park) didn't support a move by Law to allow Oakland County to place an excise tax on hotels to raise money for a Pontiac stadium.

Amendments?—

And Mastin said Gov. William G. Milliken may have amended two bills dealing with race track betting in order to channel approximately $2.5 million in betting money to support a Detroit stadium.

The House Tuesday passed a bill allowing Wayne County to place a five per cent excise tax levy a five per cent, hotel-motel tax to help finance a proposed Detroit stadium.

Law's amendment would have allowed Oakland County to collect the same tax to finance a stadium near Pontiac, which Law supports.

Another amendment introduced by Law would have allowed all counties to collect the excise tax to be used for general operating expenses. Both lost by substantial margins and both were voted against by Mastin.

Second Season—

Law also co-sponsored a bill now on the House floor which would bring Hazel Park additional revenue by creating a second racing season.

Currently Hazel Park receives 20 per cent of the money taken from by bets by with a ceiling of $600,000. Currently eight cents of every dollar bet goes to the state, and seven cents goes to the track during thoroughbred racing.

Hazel Park will continue to receive 20 per cent of the state's share from betting during the second season an addition to the $600,000, under the bill. The winter season would be from Nov. 15 to April 15. This year racing season ends Dec. 18.

The bill also provides that track owners and horse breeders would receive an additional cent for each dollar bet.

Milliken's Plan—

Mastin said Milliken's amendment may propose that an additional 1½ cents is taken from each dollar bet, and that the extra half-cent go to the Wayne County Stadium Authority.

The race track owners and horse breeders would still receive the extra cent for every dollar bet.

A spokesman for Milliken said the amendments are part of several options being discussed to help finance a Detroit stadium, but a final decision hasn't been made.

Mastin said he would support Milliken's proposal only if it appeared that the bills otherwise wouldn't pass. Mastin said he couldn't yet predict whether they would.

Law said he may still support the bills, unless Milliken's amendments are added, even though Mastin didn't support his (Law's) amendments.

'Why Should I Worry?'—

"I felt that if Rep. Mastin didn't have any more consideration for the city I represent than what he indicated, why should I worry about the persons he represents?" Law asked.

"But I may vote for the bill anyway," Law added. "I still recognize the plight Hazel Park is in."

Mastin said when he voted against Law's amendments he wasn't aware how strongly Law felt, or that Law might threaten to withdraw his support from the racing bill.

Mastin also pointed out that the Oakland County Board of Commissioners has twice rejected efforts to involve the County in a proposed stadium, and said

It's also important to win the votes of the 25 representatives from Detroit in the racing bill Mastin said. "They're all Democrats, and I think I can swing them over," Mastin said.

Mastin said he didn't favor allowing counties to levy the excise tax for general operating expenses. Cities should be allowed to do it instead, Mastin said.

Example—

He pointed out that the Holiday Inn at Nine-Mile and John R in Hazel Park was built on land cleared through an urban renewal project, partly at city expense. "The city should be able to receive the revenue," Mastin said.

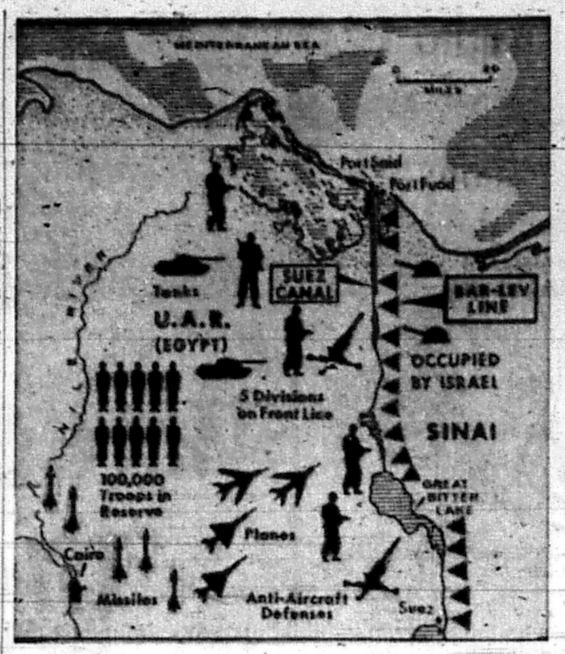

Hazel Park City Council, however, in a resolution opposed limiting the hotel-motel excise tax to Wayne County, and urged that all local governments be allowed to levy the tax.

Mayor Wallace F. Cormier has also said, "If Pontiac is foolish enough to want a stadium, I think we should support them."

Law sent a letter to Cormier protesting Mastin's lack of support for his amendments on the excise tax bill.

Troy Board OK's Preliminary Plans for New High School

The preliminary design for Troy's new $11.5 million high school was approved by the School Board Tuesday. With the general arrangement approved, the detail drawings and a building design to incorporate the educational planning can be started by architects.

Spokesmen for Warren Holmes Co., architect for the project, explained the 1,800-student school will include open classroom areas and conventional enclosed rooms arranged by "houses."

The houses are clustered areas arranged by related subject matter: communications; human sciences, math-physical science; world of work (vocational education). Physical education including a swimming pool, library, offices and a 2,000-seat auditorium are the support areas for the houses.

Open Areas—

Open classrooms are large open areas for several teachers and a varying number of pupils. They have no permanent walls or dividers but rely instead on moveable cabinets, shelving or chalk boards for space divisions as required.

Laboratories are designed to be shared to avoid duplication of equipment and for space saving

Site for the new high school, the second for the growing District, has not been announced by the School Board as yet, although site work and planning has begun.

Financing—

The new high school and five other projects including two middle schools, two elementary buildings and a new administration building will be paid for with the $24 million school building loan voters approved in 1970.

The money has already been borrowed and is earning interest for the building fund but some of the 1970 fund has been spent on site and equipment projects for the 1969 building program now being completed.

The Board expects to review initial planning on the five other projects in the 1970 building program at a special meeting Dec. 7.

Arena-Type Stage—

The Board approved an arena-type stage area for the auditorium which will also double as overflow lecture areas with the use of dividers. The audience will be seated in a fan shaped arrangement around three sides of the extended stage. This area of the new building will be designed for community use with easy access and parking nearby.

The extensive vocational educational area is designed to complement but not duplicate the enlarged vocational programs at Troy High. The pre-vocational and job training programs will be operated on a District-wide basis with pupils changing schools for specific programs.

Ian C. Ironside, architect, said in answer to an audience question that $8.5 million had been allocated for the building proper but the total cost including equipment is an estimated $11.5 million. Target date for completion of the facility is fall 1974.

Troy Resets Conduct Code Discussion

The delayed discussion of the proposed student conduct code for Troy High School will be held by the School Board at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in Baker Junior High, 1291 Torpey, Troy.

A special meeting for the purpose was canceled last week when only four of the seven Board members appeared. Board members promised that if there is a quorum again next week the code will be discussed.

A committee of 12 persons headed by Robert R. Tewksbury, Board trustee, developed a new student conduct code. Other Board members say there are "questionable sections" in the proposed code involving student rights and responsibilities.

Church Offices Ransacked

Two offices in the First Baptist Church of Troy were broken into and ransacked Tuesday evening, a church spokesman told police.

Nothing was reported missing, however.

Virginia Craig, 2064 Isabell, Troy, an employe at the church, told Troy Patrolman Robert Crawford that the church was locked at 6 p.m., Tuesday, and when she returned at 7 p.m., she discovered the break-in.

Cpl. Lawrence Halsey, Troy detective, said entry was gained through an unlocked door. The window in one office was broken. A door to the other office was kicked in. Files and desk drawers in both offices were ransacked and mail was opened.

Boat Used in Railroad Theft

PORTSMOUTH, England (UPI) — Burglars used a boat to break into the Portsmouth Railroad Station, police said.

They paddled the boat under a pier adjoining the station, climbed up the pilings, cut a hole in the station floor and got away with $250 dollars in cigarets and whisky.

HP Council OK's Cabinet, Press Button Phone Gear

Hazel Park City Council Monday approved the purchase of a file cabinet, and the rental of two machines which dial a phone number at the press of a button. Both will be used in the Police Department.

The file cabinet makes it easy for victims of crimes to check through photographs of criminal suspects, Charles W. Young, police chief, said.

Young estimated that the file cabinet would cost approximately $470, and would hold descriptions and pictures of 2,500 suspects.

Council decided to rent two of the automatic dialing machines at a rate of $10 each a month. One will be placed at the police desk, the other in the detective bureau.

Not for Young—

Council decided against renting a third for Young's office, which Young requested.

The automatic dialing machine would save precious seconds at the time of an emergency, Mayor Wallace F. Cormier said.

Young said policemen waste time in searching for telephone numbers and dialing them.

Numbers Stored—

Telephone numbers can be "stored" in the machine for future use, and can be found quickly in the machine, Young said. Once the telephone number is shown on the face of the machine, the press of a button dials the number, said Young.

The machines are owned by Michigan Bell.

The file cabinet contains pictures and identification of suspects arranged so they can be leafed through quickly.

Still No Plan on Districting

LANSING (AP) — The House Elections Committee has not yet found a congressional redistricting plan acceptable to both parties.

That became apparent when the committee failed Tuesday to report a plan to the floor. The committee chairman, Rep. Alfred Sheridan (D-Taylor) has been saying for several weeks that the committee should move quickly to send a plan to the floor with bipartisan support.

He has also said that he could use his party's 6-5 edge on the committee to report out a Democratic plan, but he's aiming for one that Republicans can also buy.

The Legislature has no time deadline on redistricting, but if it lags into early next year, it's possible a suit could be filed putting the matter into the hands of a Federal court.

4% Fewer Farmhands

WASHINGTON — As they increase their labor-saving technology, U. S. farm operators are relying on a more productive but smaller force of hired workers. In 1970, operators hired 100,000 fewer farmhands — 4 per cent fewer — than in 1969. The hired farm working force in 1970 totaled 2.5 million people.

25-Year Love Affair for Tracy-Hepburn

by BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Spence was the only PURE person I ever met in all my life . . No affectations — not a selfish bone in his body . . . He took his work seriously — never himself — and such a good, clean brain . . . I'll miss him every day as long as I live."

The words are Katharine Hepburn's speaking of Spencer Tracy, whom she knew intimately through nine movies and 25 productive, sometimes tumultuous years.

Tracy died on June 10, 1967. They met on the set of their first movie together, "Women of the Year," in 1942.

Their association, one of Hollywood's best-kept secrets during Tracy's lifetime, is now described in an affectionate memoir by Garson Kanin, "Tracy and Hepburn."

Kanin knew both actors during most of the 25 years except for a year and a half rift after a disastrous play in which Kanin directed Tracy. Kanin and his wife Ruth Gordon, also wrote two of the best Tracy-Hepburn films, "Adam's Rib" and "Pat and Mike."

Never Divorced—

The Tracy-Hepburn romance went unreported because he never divorced his wife Louise. Kanin scarcely touches on this aspect of Tracy's life. The actor continued to make visits to "The Hill," the term he used for the hilltop home of his wife and two children.

Kanin writes:

"During these times there was always something for Kate to do . . . She never felt bereft or sidetracked. She understood the necessity for Spencer to stay close to his family, since she lived with like instincts."

On one near-tragic occasion, the Tracy-Hepburn association made the newspapers. That was on July 31, 1963, when he collapsed of a respiratory congestion while he and Miss Hepburn picnicked at Malibu. She quickly summoned help to save his life.

"We cannot help but marvel at Kate's behavior in this crisis," Kanin writes. "She gets Spencer into the hospital. As soon as she has done so, she informs the family of the situation and allows them to take over."

A director of films, "Tom, Dick and Harry" — and plays "Funny Girl" — as well as playright, "Born Yesterday" — Kanin has long kept a daily journal that reports his friendship with a wide range of celebrities. That was the source of "Tracy and Hepburn," which recreates scenes and conversations with rare intimacy.

Among the disclosures:

During his first film, "A Bill of Divorcement," in 1933, John Barrymore lured Hepburn to his dressing room and stripped before her. She fled. She recalled to Kanin "how terrified I was — and I recall that he was furious — hardly spoke to me for the rest of the picture."

"Movie, Not Lifeboat"—

Their billing was always Tracy and Hepburn, gentleman first. When Kanin chided the actor lack of gallantry, Tracy replied: "This is a movie, chowderhead, not a lifeboat."

Hepburn has never owned a house in Hollywood, always tented. Once Kanin took her to see a prospective rental and she disappeared. When she returned, she explained she had been taking a shower. Said she: "If I'm thinking of renting a house, I've got to find out what it's like taking a shower in it, don't I?"

Tracy usually called her Kathy, somethimes Kath or on occasion Flora Finch, Olive Oyle, Laura LaPlante, Madame Curie, Carrie Nation, Milly Malone or Coo-Coo the Bird Girl.

Tracy remarked that he had been drunk for 25 years during his Hollywood heyday. His later view: "There's nothing wrong with a drink, and there's nothing right with a drunk. Booze kills brain cells. For good. You don't believe that, ask around. That's why big drinkers reach the point where it's too late to stop." But he did.

Hepburn is famous for protecting her privacy, but Kanin reports that the book has not upset their friendship.

"Ruth and I dined with her twice last week and I talk to her almost every day on the telephone," he said. "When I told her I was writing the book, she said, 'Do what you want to do, but don't ask me to read it.'"

Speak 34 Languages

MUNICH — The organizing committee for the 1972 Olympic Games is hiring 1,500 hostesses who, together, speak all 34 of the registered official languages and the principal idioms of Asian and African countries.

Celebrities Bilked in 'Bubble Up' Fraud

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Investigators probed deeper today into the tangled financial affairs of Bubble Up, a soft drink company that went flat in what a detective called the biggest stock fraud in California history — $4.5 million.

Among those allegedly bilked were singer Glen Campbell, auto race driver Sam Hanks and celebrity auto dealer Ralph Williams.

Investigators also were looking into what became of $1 million in Federal funds entrusted to the company.

After four days of secret hearings, a county grand jury Tuesday brought charges of grand theft and violation of state security laws against 20 persons.

The charges in the indictment were based on the sale of $358,000 worth of stock to 66 investors, including the celebrities. Campbell, Hanks and Williams sank a total of $28,750 in Bubble Up, the district attorney's office said.

The Bubble Up shares are "virtually worthless" now and those allegedly fleeced have no recourse except to try to sue for their money, the district attorney's office said.

Frank Beeson, head of the city police bunco squad, said the case involved $4.5 million in stock in all, and 800 investors. He called it the biggest stock fraud in the history of the state.

Central figures in the indictment were Leonard Key, age 46, coproducer of the Broadway hit "Pal Joey," and former chairman of the board and president of the company; and the Bubble Up's former vice president, Maurice W. Barbakow, age 33, of Philadelphia.

They each were indicted on one count of grand theft for allegedly deceiving investors by claiming the stock would quickly triple in value; and 19 counts of violating state security laws by selling unregistered stock. California law requires all stock offered for sale to be registered with the state Corporations Commission.

State Securities Commissioner Brian R. Van Camp said a sweeping investigation into the firm's affairs was still going on, subsidiaries were being investigated, and authorities are trying to determine what happened to $1 million the corporation got from the Federal government in 1969 to train the hard-core unemployed.

Half of RO Parking Lot Opens Next Week

The first half of Royal Oak's 400-car parking structure at Second and Center is scheduled to open next Friday a week later than originally scheduled, a city spokesman said.

The four-level structure was scheduled to open with space for 180 cars on Friday, the start of the Thanksgiving-to-Christmas shopping season.

But more time was needed to prepare concrete, said Howard D. Linders, an engineer employed by Carl Walker and Associates, the Kalamazoo firm which designed the structure.

"Everything will be in," Linders said. "But we need time for the concrete to cure."

The second half of the structure is scheduled for completion in early spring. When it's finished, ramps will be one-way, with motorists parking at an angle to walls.

When the first half opens Dec. 3, Linders said, ramps will be two-way and motorists will park at right angles to walls.

Barricades and cables will prevent motorists from driving into the partly decked second half of the structure, Linders said.

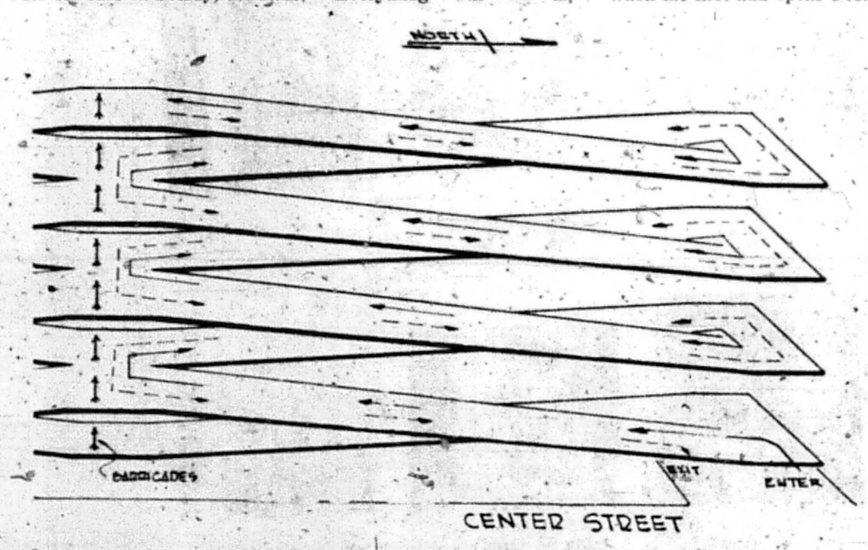

Maneuvering space "won't be overly generous," he said, "but it will be adequate."

The garage will be manned by an attendant to take parking fees, and with a mechanical "ticket-spitter" and gate for incoming customers.

Contractor for the $1 million job is Walter Couse and Co., Detroit.

About 30 merchants in Royal Oak's central business district will validate parking stubs or will paste stamps on them, each good for 10 cents toward the total parking charge in the new structure, David Gabler, director of the Greater Royal Oak Chamber of Commerce said.

Participating merchants also pay for parking in the surface lots on Lafayette, Gabler said. "Those who participate usually tell their customers, and some display counter cards," he said.

Customers of Royal Oak's new parking garage at Second and Center will use two-way ramps and park at right angles to walls when the first half opens Dec. 3. Barricades and stretched cables will prevent access to the unfinished portion to the south. Fees will be 10 cents for the first half-hour and five cents for each additional half-hour.

Pakistani Army Claims Indian Advances Halted

330 Men 'Killed on 5 Fronts'

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Pakistani army claimed today it has halted Indian troops it says have been advancing on five fronts into East Pakistan.

At the same time, President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan acknowledged the existence of political unrest in West Pakistan by banning the National Awami party. He accused it of "trying to foment revolt in West Pakistan," Radio Pakistan reported.

Border Areas—

A dispatch from Dacca said an army spokesman reported that forces repulsed Indian attacks in border areas at Jessore, Benapole, Comilla, Chittagong and Sylhet. Dacca is the capital of East Pakistan province.

He said the Indians were "badly mauled," suffering more than 330 men killed — including some 200 in Comilla alone — and losing a huge quantity of arms and ammunition.

Indian Denials—

Indian officials here have consistently denied that any government troops are fighting in East Pakistan on a sustained basis.

In the Rajshahi district at Sardah, Indian troops have been seen digging trenches and laying antipersonnel and antitank mines, the Pakistani spokesman said, adding that more reinforcements are being brought in to be deployed on the borders.

Halted—

In the Sylhet area the Indian attack was launched by the 5th Gurkha Regiment at Jantiapur but was halted Thursday and the area littered with the bodies of Indian soldiers, he said.

In the Comilla area, the Pakistani army spokesman said, all Indian maneuvers failed to gain any ground.

A major offensive came from the Indian side at Hilli in East Pakistan's northern sector but the Indians were "dislodged from the area" where they had earlier gained a small portion of territory.

The battle at Hilli had been raging during the night and continued through the early hours of the day, the army source said.

The national Awami party banned by Yahya Khan had emerged as the largest single

Prisoners Release Hostages

(See Also Page 11)

RAHWAY, N.J. (UPI) — Five prison guards and the warden, held hostage for 24 hours by rebellious prisoners at Rahway State Prison, were set free Thursday night when Gov. William T. Cahill guaranteed no reprisals and said he immediately would consider the inmates' other demands.

Warden U. Samuel Vukcevich, suffering "stab wounds" which inmates insisted were inflicted accidentally by a guard, and the other hostages were released about 10 p.m. Thursday.

'Will Meet'—

Following their release Cahill said his administration "intends to carry out our part of the commitment to guarantee there will be no brutality and that we will meet with and talk to the prisoners in relation to their complaints."

Archibald Alexander, head of the citizens committee advising the governor on penal affairs, went to the prison to sleep overnight. He was accompanied by Raymond Brown, a prominent criminal lawyer.

Main Negotiators—

Alexander said "there will be no repraisals of any sort taken against the inmates." He and Brown were the two main negotiators for the state in the talks with the inmates.

The prisoners complained about the medical care at the prison, food, high prices in the prison commissary, parole procedures, inadequate educational and vocational opportunities, disciplinary procedures, racial discrimination, lack of black cultural classes, lack of religious freedom, delay of incoming mail, low wages, "meager" expenses given to released prisoner and lack of rehabilitative opportunity.

Guest List for RO Party Totals 90,000

After a Golden Jubilee celebration stretching back six months of more, Royal Oak residents will sing "Happy Birthday" to their city Saturday night.

And the Golden Jubilee Committee is going to say "thank you" to the hundreds — maybe thousands — of residents who helped stage the Jubilee celebration.

The event, billed as a "birthday party," is scheduled at Farmers Market, Eleven-Mile east of Troy, starting at 7:30 p.m.

It includes dancing to the five-piece Floyd Snyder orchestra, which Jubilee committee-member Donald G. Field says, "can play anything from square dances to slow dancing to light rock."

Mayor James P. Cline will cut a birthday cake large enough to feed a multitude, at 9 p.m.

It's all free, Field said, except for the pop, at 10 cents a glass, and beer, at 25 cents a glass.

Everyone who lives in Royal Oak is invited — the guest list is somewhere close to 90,000. That number might strain the old market, but all who come will be welcome, Jubilee Committee members said.

"Half the people in Royal Oak either watched or participated," Field said. "Merchants, city government, all the service clubs, veterans' organizations, senior citizen clubs, youth groups — all of them were involved.

"So the party is a thank you for all those people who became involved. We want to give the city back something for the time, effort and money they put in," Field said.

"We thought it would be appropriate to offer the community a free event," said John Wilson, chairman of the Jubilee committee, "a dance, a get-together, with a symbolic birthday cake.

"It's difficult to find a suitable way to express appreciation of not only the Golden Jubilee Committee, but of all of the city.

"This is an attempt."

The jubilee celebration, honoring 50 years since the Village of Royal Oak incorporated as a city in 1921, centered on a 2½-week celebration in May, including fireworks, exhibits, Jubilee and Memorial Day parades, retail sales, performances, church services and dances.

Thefts Reported in Three Cities

Three burglaries were reported in Clawson, Sterling Heights and Troy Wednesday and Thursday.

John D. Perrino, 12 Huntley, Clawson, reported a tape recorder, camera and radio, valued at $151, missing between 7 p.m., Wednesday and 8:55 p.m., Thursday.

Household appliances, valued at $185, were reported missing from the home of Delphin Fry, 6740 Coolidge, Troy, between 11 a.m., and 8 p.m., Wednesday.

Ted Hayward, 37320 Ryan, Sterling Heights, reported electrical appliances, valued at $125, missing from the Duane Tibbetts Co., 1201 Rochester, Troy, between 4:30 p.m., Wednesday and 8:55 a.m., Thursday.

Broomfield Cites Division on Foreign Aid

Further temporary extension of U.S. foreign aid programs may be necessary before agreement on a new program may be reached, Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) believes.

Broomfield, a ranking Republican member on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is a member of the Joint House-Senate conference committee on foreign aid.

He said conferences so far reflect a deep division between the House and Senate bills "which will take time to resolve if they can be."

The foreign aid authorization is for the current fiscal year only, now already nearly six months old. Senate resentment, particularly among Democrats, at present programs, was reflected in its failure to approve an Administration foreign and military aid bill earlier this month and the fact that temporary extension until early December was reluctantly approved.

Broomfield noted conferees are under time pressure to conclude action on the bill before the present session of Congress ends early in January.

Foot Hospital Denied by HP

Hazel Park City Council Wednesday night denied a zoning request which would permit a 54-bed hospital at the northwest corner of Eight-Mile and I-75.

The hospital was intended to replace the Grand Community Hospital in Detroit, an 18-bed podiatrists' (foot specialist).

Mayor Wallace F. Cormier predicted denial of the rezoning request Monday because the non-profit hospital would contribute no property taxes to the city. The site, slightly more than an acre, is the most valuable piece of vacant land in the city, Cormier said.

Representatives from the Detroit hospital failed to show up for the Wednesday meeting, Cormier said.

Escaped Prisoners Recaptured

PLYMOUTH (UPI) — In the second mass escape in less than a week, seven female inmates at the Detroit House of Corrections (Dehoco) Thursday over-powered jail matrons, locked them in rooms, and escaped over a 12-foot fence.

The women, all part of a group of inmates transferred to the minimum security facility from the Wayne County Jail to relieve crowding, were apprehended within five hours and were back in custody today.

Three matrons who were over-powered suffered minor injuries in the scuffling. They were treated and released from Detroit General Hospital.

Two of the inmates were being held at Dehoco on first-degree murder charges. The others were being held on charges ranging from grand larceny to petty theft to uttering and publishing.

And three inmates who escaped from the Alger County Jail in Munising late Thursday were recaptured in downtown Sault Ste. Marie today after they came here to pick up the girlfriend of one of the men.

Police said the three forced the girl to leave home and her mother called police who arrested the men.

Two Perish in Fire

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A mother and her daughter died while three other family members escaped early Thursday when fire swept their two-story home here.

The bodies of Mrs. Joan Pals, age 38, and her 17-year-old daughter, Joyce, were found in the mother's upstairs bedroom. Both died of smoke inhalation, authorities said.

Fire officials were investigating to determine the cause of the blaze which began in a first floor family room.

Divers Search for Hovercraft

ST. IGNACE (UPI) — A jet-powered hovercraft lying somewhere near the bottom of Lake Huron about 20 miles north of here was the object of a search by U.S. Coast Guard scuba divers today.

Their only clue to its whereabouts was a small oil slick spotted by the Coast Guard buoy tender Sundew Wednesday about two miles north of Martin's Reef lighthouse in the area where the 39-foot vessel sank Tuesday.

Once the hovercraft is found, it will be lifted by crane aboard the Sundew.

Indian Rights Ruling Asked

CHARLEBOIX (UPI) — Rep. Philip E. Ruppe (R-Mich.) says he has asked President Nixon to authorize a legal opinion determining the rights of Indian tribes to hunting and fishing grounds established by treaties with the Federal Government.

Ruppe, in a letter to Donald Parrish, tibal chairman of the Bay Mills Chippewas, said he asked the President to intervene because the Justice Department is not authorized to issue legal rulings unless asked by the President or one of the other executive departments.

Set Phase II Conference

Detroit area businessmen will get an opportunity to have questions answered regarding Phase II rulings at a special Update-Phase II conference Dec. 3 at the Masonic Temple, Detroit.

The conference will be presented by the Internal Revenue Service and the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

Registration will be between 8:30 a.m., 9 a.m., the day of the conference. Fee is $10 per person, which includes luncheon. For reservations call the Chamber office 964-4000, Ext. 38.

Record Snows Cripple East

From Tribune Wires

Thousands of motorists in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic states spent Thanksgiving Day in the homes of strangers or in their cars as record snow halted traffic.

National Weather Service in New Hampshire called the storm "the worst in 20 years." Up to 18 inches of snow fell.

Mrs. Ralph Lawrence of Franklin, N.H., planned on 17 guests for dinner. When they were unable to make the trip from New York, she invited everyone in the neighborhood to her home for turkey.

State police at Milford, Pa., housed more than 100 persons stranded in snowbound cars after 16 inches of snow fell on that area. Troopers rounded up food for the hungry travelers.

"They're eating hot dogs and balogna sandwiches, but it tastes like turkey to them," a trooper said.

Trooper John Seleski trudged a mile through the snow to reach a stranded car on Interstate 80, to help an expectant mother deliver her baby. Both mother and baby girl were reported "doing fine".

Maryland State Police reported 1,800 to 2,500 cars stranded overnight in snow up to 10 inches deep between Frederick and Hagerstown.

Boston, Cape Cod and most of Rhode Island escaped snow, but 3 inches of rain caused minor flooding on main roads, and many motorists waded through knee-deep floods for help.

The Gimble's Thanksgiving Day Parade in Philadelphia was cancelled.

Side effects of the storm forced the mercury to tumble as far south as the Gulf, where early morning temperatures today were in the 30s.

Warren's 'Newsboys' Set

Warren Goodfellows will be at business places throughout the city on two days — next Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4 — selling newspapers.

Ray Richards, Goodfellow President said the money would buy baskets of food or toys for the needy people in Warren.

In addition to Goodfellows, city officials, police and firemen will be selling newspapers. Warren Goodfellows can be reached through Ray Richards, 757-5100.

S'field Woman Dies in Crash

A Southfield woman was one of three women fatally injured Thursday in a two-car accident near Mount Pleasant.

The deaths bring to eight the number of persons killed so far in Michigan during this Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Dead are Mrs. Kenneth B. (Mary Agnes) Smith, age 52, 24701 Audrey Lane, and Eleanor Schaap, age 48, of Grand Haven, and Grace Schaap, age 68, of Grand Rapids.

Susan Smith, age 20 (Mrs. Smith's daughter), of the Audrey Lane address is reported in "good" condition in Central Michigan Community Hospital, Mount Pleasant.

A passenger in the Smith vehicle, Mary Tallant of Detroit, is listed in "serious" condition. The driver of the other vehicle, James Schapp, age 19, of Grand Haven, is reported in "good" condition.

State Police spokesman said the auto driven by Mrs. Smith was in collision with the Schaap auto at the Meridian-Pickard intersection in Isabella County's Deerfield Township. Mrs. Smith was driving on Pickard, which has a yield sign at the intersection, said state police.

The Smiths apparently were visiting a married daughter in the area. Kenneth Smith is a landscaping contractor.

On the national scene, the Thanksgiving holiday traffic death toll neared 200 today as the long four-day holiday weekend approached the halfway point.

A spokesman for the National Safety Council said the death rate was about the same as last year over the Thanksgiving weekend when 651 persons died. The Council estimated that between 620 and 710 Americans would die between 6 p.m., Wednesday, when the holiday period began, and midnight Monday, when the weekend is over.

Grocers Must Post Amount of Price Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House has overruled the Food and Drug Administration and ordered immediate application of new rules to ensure honesty in "cents-off" promotions.

The FDA wanted a delay of several months to subject the rules to changes, but the Federal Trade Commission objected and the White House intervened on the side of the FTC, it was learned Thursday.

On Label—

White House sources said that as a result, the rules probably will become effective Dec. 31 as scheduled, or shortly thereafter. Under the new rules, the manufacturer will print the amount of "cents off" on the label. The retailer then will stamp on the reduced price. Also, the retailer must post a sign designating the regular price.

As originally issued by both the FDA and the FTC, the regulations would have required a single label listing the price this way:

Regular price—30 cents.
Cents off—8 cents.
You pay—22 cents.

Complained—

However, grocers complained that this was too much trouble for store clerks and too costly, and several retail chains said they would not handle cents off sales under such regulations.

Food processors warned the Government that this meant the regulations would kill cents off promotions, denying industry a useful merchandising tool and consumers a good source for savings.

The FDA then proposed that the regulations be postponed about six months, with consumers given an opportunity to voice their views.

But the FTC insisted that posting the regular price on a shelf placard would inform consumers just as well and preclude any need for delay. The White House agreed.

Newsmen Join Sexton at Thanksgiving Meal

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — Thanksgiving dinner for S. Sgt. John Sexton Jr., who spent the holiday last year in a Viet Cong prisoner of war camp was more than just a feast — it was a happening.

There were nearly as many newsmen on hand for the occasion as there were relatives and friends.

He said grace before five television cameras, asking God to "remember the less fortunate ones who don't have what I have," and spent so much time posing for photographers that his turkey was cold by the time he got to it.

Sexton then invited the newsmen to join him for the dinner, acknowledging that "working people have to eat too."

Sexton, age 23, spent 26 months as a Viet Cong captive and nearly six weeks in Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver before his return home to Warren Monday.

He dined Thursday with 40 friends and relatives, not including the newsmen, at a restaurant in nearby Clinton Township, where one of his two married sisters lives.

Lions Overwhelm KC

by BIEL WILLOUGHBY

Finally the Detroit Lions look like a Super Bowl team.

The Lions, who have been a disappointment to those who had high hopes for them at the start of the year, won their second straight "must" game, convincingly beating the Kansas City Chiefs, Thursday, 32-21, before a holiday crowd of 54,418.

"I'm sure everybody is convinced we have a good football team," said Coach Joe Schmidt. His team is riding on the crest of two straight convincing victories. "I'd say we played better today than last Sunday, because Kansis City has a better team than Chicago. The Chiefs are one of the best teams in the league."

Offensive Standouts—

Everything went well for the Lions, who also have won their second straight Thanksgiving Day game, after an eight-year drought.

The game started as a defensive show, but by the time the final gun sounded, it was the offense that produced the most standouts.

Two of the most evident standouts were quarterback Greg Landry and tight end Charlie Sanders.

Landry had one of his best days this year, completing 15 of 22, good for 225 yards. At one point he completed six in a row.

Schmidt had high praise for his quarterback.

"Landry is a fine quarterback, a great leader," he said. "He is able to take us when we're down and bring us to victory."

Sanders showed some of the style that has become his trademark, but had been conspicuous by its absence so far this year.

Circus Catch—

He made an unbelievable catch, which looked like a sure interception, but when the play was over, Sanders had the ball, forcing most of the fans to do a double-take. He also caught four more, one for a touchdown.

The scoreless first quarter was highlighted by a Jan Stenerud field goal attempt that was blocked by Detroit's defensive end Larry Hand.

The Lions scored first on Errol Mann's 27-yard field goal, 10 seconds into the second quarter. The Lions quickly made it 10-0, as Hand recovered a Len Dawson fumble, and the Lions raced 38 yards in seven plays. Steve Owens took it in on a one-yard plunge.

The teams then traded TDs, the Chiefs scoring theirs on a two-yard run by Ed Podolak, which was questioned by several Lions who contended that Podolak didn't cross the goal line. The Lions scored their TD on a five-yard pass to Sanders.

The half ended with the Lions leading, 17-7.

Detroit put it out of reach in the third period, as the Lions took the second-half kick-off, and Landry marched them 63 yards in eight plays, climaxed by a 17-yard TD pass to Earl McCullouch.

When the Lion defense stopped KC cold, Ron Jessie blocked a Jerrell Wilson punt, which landed out of the endzone for a safety.

Mann then kicked two more field goals for the Lions (28- and 21 yards), while Podolak scored two more KC touchdowns to close the scoring.

Second Place—

The win gives the Lions a 7-3-1 record, good for second place in the NFC Central Division, one game behind pace-setting Minnesota.

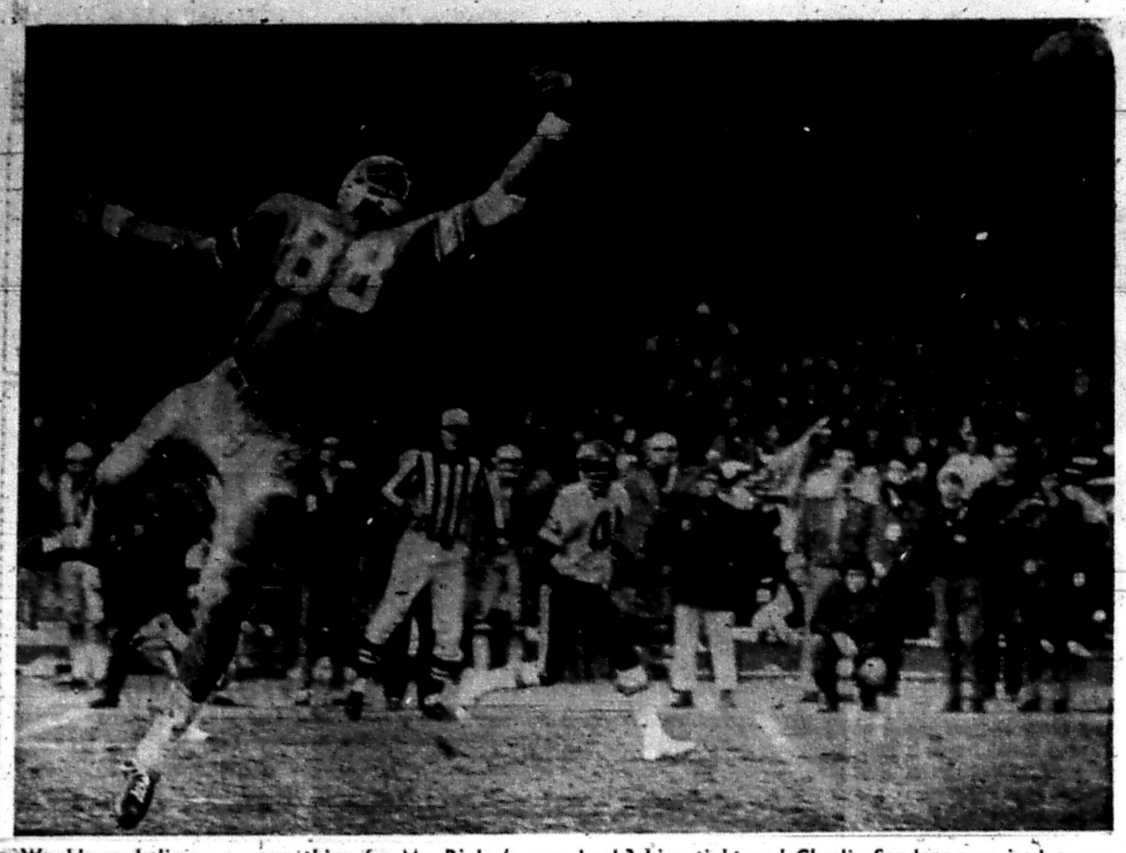

However, Schmidt emphasized that the Lions are still in a "must-win" situation.

"We have three more games, and we must win all three," said Schmidt.

Detroit will have an extended break to prepare for Philadelphia. The Lions will entertain the Eagles on Dec. 4.

Would you believe . . . something for Mr. Ripley's scrapbook? Lion tight end Charlie Sanders surprised everyone in Tiger Stadium, Thursday, by making this catch. Although the pass is overthrown, it deflected off a Kansas City defender and popped up in the air. When the ball came down, Sanders had it. The 21-yard pass led to the Lions' second touchdown. Play-off Chances Good, BUT...

by BILL WILLOUGHBY
Tribune Staff Reporter

Can the Lions make the Super Bowl play-offs?

That's a question that's bugging almost every Lion fan.

Well, Coach Joe Schmidt doesn't have the answer yet, but he does have his opinion.

"We're going to be a better football team," he said. "I think the results (of our last two games) have shown this.

"This kind of game (beating Kansas City) is the kind that gives you momentum. It was a tough game, one that both sides needed to win."

Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram conceded that his team wanted the win desperately, but the loss didn't kill them.

"We're still in the race, and still in great shape," he said. "If Baltimore can beat Oakland, we'll still be only a half-game out.

"The Lions are an outstanding football team, und we made some costly mistakes. You can't make those mistakes against a team like that."

This game didn't destroy the Chiefs or assure the Lions of a play-off spot. The Chiefs still have a mathematical chance of gaining a berth, either by catching Oakland in the AFC West, or by qualifying as the best second-place club.

The Chiefs will have to have a better record than Baltimore in order to be the wild card team. The Chiefs now have a 7-3-1 mark, while Baltimore is at 7-3. The Colts have a game-in-hand on the Chiefs.

Schmidt summed up what the Lions must do to gain a spot.

"We have three more games," he said, "and we must win them all."

If the Lions do this, they will finish no worse than one-half game behind the Minnesota Vikings. This should be enough to gain the second place berth.

However, if they get a little help from Minnesota's opponents, they will gain first place, and an automatic trip to the play-offs.

They cannot, however, blow a game and hope for help from the rest of the league. Competition is too tough for them to expect to get into the play-offs through the back door.

If could happen, but it probably won't.

Can they win all three remaining games?

The Thanksgiving Day crowd of 54,418 is sure they can, if the Lions play the rest of their games the way they did Thursday.

Two for flinching? No, Lion running back Steve Owens was tackled only once on this play. But it looks like he's about to back away from 6-foot-4, 228-pound Bobby Bell. Owens gained 79 yards for the afternoon, scoring one touchdown.

FIRST COLLEGE GOAL ever scored in the New Royal Oak Ice Arena is celebrated by Oakland Community College players Ray Johnson (9) and Dave Rae (8). The goal was scored by Bob Blackmore (not shown). OCC will play most of its home games in the Arena. The last goal of the game was scored by a product of the Royal Oak Hockey Association, Barry Drangin. It was his first college goal. OCC beat Hillsdale, 7-2, to give them a 2-0 league record and sole possession of first place in the north division of the Midwest Collegiate Hockey Association. (Tribune Photo by Rich Harrington)

Nebraska Wraps Up Title

by United Press International

Now that Nebraska has staked its claim as college football's No. 1 team, the question is who's No. 2?

The top-ranked Cornhuskers, 35-31 victors over second-ranked Oklahoma in the "Game of the Decade" for 1971, wrapped up the Big Eight title and left little doubt as to who's No. 1, but down south a pair of Southeastern Conference unbeatens —Alabama and Auburn —are setting their sights on Oklahoma's No. 2 spot.

The No. 3 Crimson Tide and No. 4 Tigers, square off Saturday at Birmingham, Ala. in their traditional year-end rivalry and chances are the winner will slip by once-beaten Oklahoma into the No. 2 spot in the nation.

Nebraska wasn't the only team to clinch its conference title for Thanksgiving. In the Southwest Conference, 18th ranked Texas, guided by three touchdowns by Jim Bertelsen and two by quarterback Dennis Wigginton, trounced Texas A&M 34-14 to ice the title and clinch the Cotton Bowl host berth against unbeaten and sixth ranked Penn State.

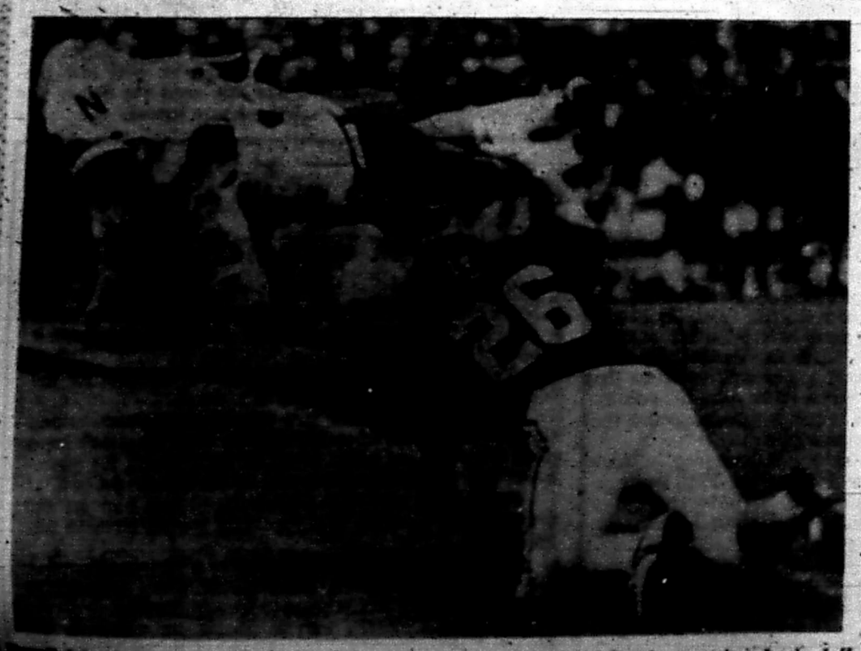

Nebraska, which was stunned by two Oklahoma rallies which put the Cornhuskers behind for the first time this season, was paced by Jeff Kinney who scored four touchdowns. Three of Kinney's scores came in the second half and the winning TD came with just 1:38 left in the game.

Oklahoma, which twice came back from 11-point deficits, showed its offensive might behind quarterback Jack Mildren but was let down by the defense. Mildren threw two touchdown passes to Jon Harrison and ran for another pair in the losing cause.

In the only other major college action Thursday Mississippi trounced Mississippi State 48-0 and Georgia beat Georgia Tech, 28-24. Among the small colleges, fifth-ranked C. W. Post was upset 14-12 by Hofstra while No. 7 Samford defeated Ohio Wesleyan 20-10 in the third annual Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

In addition to the crucial Alabama-Auburn matchup, other Saturday games include Army-Navy at Philadelphia, 17th ranked Iowa State at San Diego State, Florida at Miami, Tulane at 10th ranked LSU, Arizona at ninth-ranked Arizona State and Clemson at South Carolina.

Orange Bowl-bound Alabama (10-0) is a six-point favorite over Sugar Bowl-bound Auburn (9-0) in the Southeastern Conference title showdown. The Crimson Tide boasts a strong ground attack led by All America candidate Johnny Musso, while the Tigers are one of the few teams in the nation this year to rely on the passing game.

...ground, and ready to make a crash landing is Nebraska running back Jeff ... tackler Larry Roach (26) knocked him into the air. (Unifax)

Area Boasts 4 All-Staters

Four South Oakland gridders have been named to The Associated Press All-State high school football teams.

In Class A, back Rick DeGrandchamp of Hazel Park and guard Bob Zych of Birmingham Brother Rice were placed on the 12-man offensive team. Bruce Ruhl of Southfield Lathrup was picked as a back on the defensive team.

Shrine back Tom O'Branovic was picked on the 12-man Class B offensive team.

School Record—

DeGrandchamp, a 172-pound, 5-foot-11 senior, paced Hazel Park to an 8-1 season, its finest since 1961. His 16 touchdowns and 12 conversions for 108 points set an all-time school scoring record.

He caught 15 passes for 236 yards, had 18 punt returns for 405 yards, rushed 553 yards in 86 tries for a 6.4 average. He was a dangerous open field runner, outstanding blocker and had good moves and speed.

Zych, a 6-foot-3, 180-pound senior, anchored the line in Rice's 8-0-1 season. Most plays went his way; he also stood out on defense with 52 solo tackles and three fumble recoveries.

Junior Picked—

Ruhl, a 6-foot-2, 185-pound junior, had five interceptions to help Lathrup sweep through a perfect nine-game season and boost its unbeaten streak to 17 games (one tie). His play at cornerback and safety was instrumental in Lathrup's fine defensive mark — allowing only 36 points. He scored 13 touchdowns.

O'Branovic, 5-feet-10 at 200 pounds, scored eight touchdowns and rushed for 830 yards as Shrine's co-captain. He started and played in 18 consecutive games both ways. He had 80 tackles and five fumble recoveries. He was rated probably the best back in the Catholic League.

TOM O'BRANOVIC

Cowboys Nip Rams, 28-21

Tom Landry's decision to install Roger Staubach as the No. 1 quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys is beginning to return dividends.

Staubach started the season splitting the quarterback assignment with Craig Morton, but the Cowboys' offense suffered from the two-quarterback system and the team had a very mediocre beginning.

Made Choice—

But two weeks ago Coach Landry gave the No. 1 quarterbacking assignment to Staubach, and the former Heisman Trophy Winner from Navy has not let his coach down.

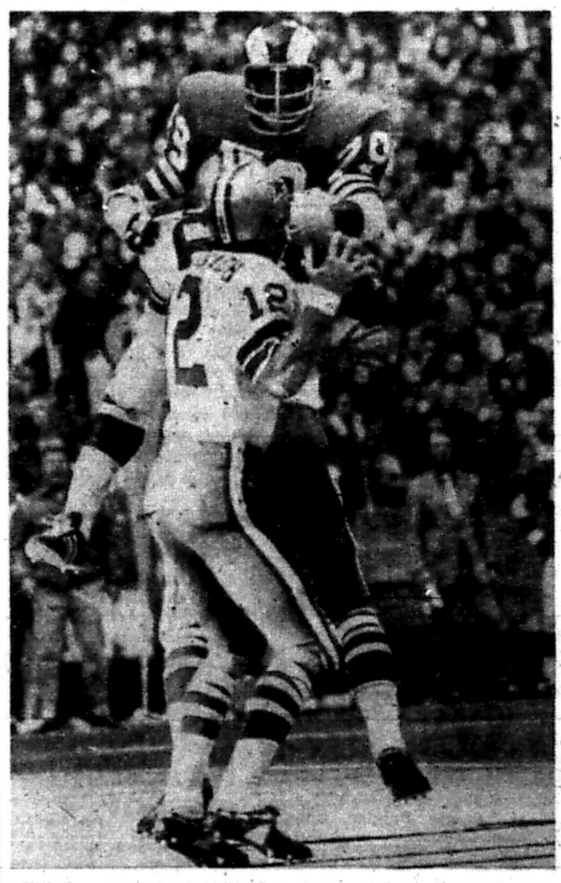

Last weekend he ran 29 yards for a touchdown as the Cowboys downed the Washington Redskins and took over first place in the NFC's Eastern Division, and Thursday he tossed for two touchdowns and set up another with his running as Dallas downed Los Angeles, 28-21.

Staubach's two TD passes were a 51-yarder to Bob Hayes with just 2:06 left in the half and a 21-yarder to Lance Alworth early in the third quarter. His 11-yard scramble in the opening minute of the final period set up Duane Thomas' five-yard TD run for the Cowboys' final score.

TD Return—

The Cowboys, who boosted their record to 8-3, also got an 89-yard TD kickoff return from rookie Isaac Thoma,.

On Sunday the National Football League schedule includes New Orleans versus Green Bay at Milwaukee, Baltimore at Oakland, Atlanta at Minnesota, Washington at Philadelphia, San Francisco at the New York Jets, Denver at Pittsburgh, Cleveland at Houston, New England at Buffalo, St. Louis at the New York Giants and San Diego at Cincinnati. Chicago is at Miami in a nationally televised contest Monday night.

"Kill the quarterback," is what was on 270-pound Coy Bacon's mind during this play. Although he is being blocked by Dallas Cowboy Tony Lisco (64), Bacon and Merlin Olson managed to sack Roger Staubach for an eight-yard loss. (Unifax)

PAT SULLIVAN

Auburn Whiz Wins Heisman

NEW YORK (UPI) —Pat Sullivan, the passing whiz from the University of Auburn, edged Cornell's rugged running back Ed Marinaro to win the Heisman Trophy Thursday night and gain the title of the "Nation's Best College Football player."

In a unique presentation ceremony carried over nationwide television, Sullivan sat stunned in his living room in Birmingham, Ala., as John H. Ott, president of the Downtown Athletic club in New York announced the winner of the award between halves of the Georgia-Georgia Tech game.

'Surprised'—

"I never thought I had a chance," said Sullivan. "I just sat there."

In voting by sportswriters and sportscasters across the country, Sullivan received 355 first place votes for a total of 1,597 points. Sullivan was the top vote getter in the South and the Southwest while Marinaro was second.

Marinaro, who took the East, the Midwest and the Far West, finished with 295 first place votes and 1,445 points. Sullivan's overwhelming majority in the South and the belief that Marinaro played against inferior competition in the Ivy League, apparently swing the voting in Sullivan's favor.

Pruitt 3rd—

Greg Pruitt, a junior running back from Oklahoma, was third with 586 points, Alabama's tailback Johnny Musso was fourth with 365 points and Lydell Mitchell, who has scored an NCAA record 28 touchdowns for Penn Stte already this year, was fifth with 251 points.

The remainder of the top 10 included; Jack Mildren of Oklahoma (208), Jerry Tagge of Nebraska (168), Chuck Ealey of Toledo (137), Walt Patulski of Notre Dame (121), and Eric Allen of Michigan State (109).

Other players receiving votes were Bill Taylor of Michigan (86), Bob Moore of Oregon (50), Terry Beasley of Auburn (50) and Sonny Sixkiller of Washington (45).

Tiger Rookies Look Good

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers' farm system may be coming of age again.

A predominantly young and Michigan-dominated group of farm hands brought the Tigers' Dunedin entry in the Florida Instructional League a division title and five places on the league all-star team.

The club went 30-15 before dropping a 2-0 playoff decision to the Chicago White Sox' team, which won the Southern Division, in the FIL championship game.

Pitcher Fred Holdsworth, of Northville; first baseman Joe Staton; shortstop Tom Veryzer; plus outfielders Ike Blessitt, of Hamtramck, and Marvin Lane, of Detroit, were named to the all-star team.

Suns Beat Pistons

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—With the setting of the Phoenix Suns, the Detroit Pistons sank slowly in the west.

The Suns, previously unsuccessful in attempts to defeat a National Basketball Association Midwest Division rival this season, set about that task early in Thursday night's game and eventually came away with a 122-103 victory.

The loss for Detroit put the two teams in a tie for third place in the division at 9-11, nine games in back of powerhouse Milwaukee and five behind No. 2 Chicago.

In other NBA games Thanksgiving night, Philadelphia nipped the Golden State Warriors 112-111 and Los Angeles bombed Seattle 139-115.

The Suns hit 50 per cent from the floor to 43 per cent for Detroit and outrebounded the Pistons, 63-48.

Tonight the Pistons are in Los Angeles to tangle with the Lakers, who are atop the NBA's Pacific Division with an 18-3 record.

Bruins Edge Flyers, 4-2

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins are riding a seven-game winning streak, longest of the National Hockey League season, and a couple of old pros, goalies Eddie Johnston and Gerry Cheevers, are taking bows.

Johnston, age 35, and Cheevers, a week shy of his 31st birthday, are taking turns sharing honors as the Bruins bid for first place in the East Division with a fabulous surge.

The Bruins moved past Montreal into second place, just one point behind the New York Rangers, by edging the stubborn Philadelphia Flyers 4-2 Thursday night in the only NHL action.

Baseball Brass Meets

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The official business gets underway Monday morning sharp — but that won't be the only business at this year's winter baseball meetings.

Along with a rash of week-long sessions, including the annual draft of minor league players, there'll be behind-the-scenes intrigue involving trades.

Rumored to be available at the right price are New York Yankee ace right-hander Mel Stottlemyre; Cleveland Indians' star southpaw Sam McDowell and New York Mets' fast ball king Nolan Ryan.

Wayne State University's longest winning streak in cross country — 25 straight — began with a 27-29 win over Toledo in 1931 and ended with a 27-29 loss to Toledo in 1935.

Modeling his new car is Marshall Robbins, of the Robbins Racing Team of Royal Oak. Robbins hopes his re-designed and re-engineered Ford Mustang will bring him another Sports Car Club of America Central Division championship.

New Mustang for Marshall

Marshall Robbins, winner of the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) Central Division championship this year, will drive a completely re-designed and re-engineered Ford Mustang in the American Road Race of Champions in Atlanta, Ga., Sunday.

SCCA Rookie-of-the-Year last year, Robbins, age 30, chief driver for the Robbins Racing Team of Royal Oak, said the Mustang has been released to the team by Bud Moore Engineering of Spartanburg, S.C.

"It handles like a sure winner," said Robbins. "The car was extremely responsive to hard braking, quick acceleration and high speed turns. We have a great shot at the championship."

Won Five Races—

Robbins won five of six divisional races this year to capture the seven-state Central Division championship in the national circuit. He finished third at Atlanta last year.

In the Trans-Am series, the Robbins team placed seventh nationally in a field of 37 entrants.

The Robbins Mustang was built in the Moore Engineering shop along with a second backup car, also a Mustang. It was delivered ahead of schedule, allowing Robbins to enter it in the final championship race.

Moore, long associated with the Ford Motor Company racing effort prior to Ford's dropping out of racing earlier this year, is recognized as one of the leading designers and builders of racing automobiles. His Mustangs have finished either first or second in Trans-Am racing each year since 1967.

He will serve as technical consultant to the Robbins Racing Team and will be responsible for building and maintaining the development of better and safer cars. Braking is a big part of it. We race on difficult road courses requiring straightaway speeds of 160 miles per hour. This generates tremendous heat in the wheels. Then we are forced to quickly brake down to 25 mph to get through a hairpin turn. That's a big order."

Road Races Begin Today

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI)— The American Road Race of Champions—the "runoffs" to hundreds of U.S. road racers — opens today with the first of three days of the fiercest racing in the nation.

National championships will be decided in Formula Ford, Formula Super Vee, C and D sports racing and G and H production classes of the Sports Car Club of America.

During Thursday's qualifying, marred by nearly a dozen crashes, Formula A driver Kurt Reinold suffered serious head injuries when his McKee hurtled off the course at the end of the back straight.

It was the second serious pre-race injury. In practice earlier in the week, Bob Tullis, captain of the British-backed Group 44 team, was hospitalized with injuries suffered in the crash of his Triumph TR6.

Gordon Smiley of Shawnee Mission, Kans., will start on the pole in the first event of the 16-race series. He qualified his Formula Ford Merlyn at 95.1 miles an hour.

Harry Ingle, Charlotte, N.C., owner of the Zink racing car firm, put his Zink Formua Super Vee on the pole for the second event with a record 97.3 m.p.h. Ingle, defending Formula Vee champion, switched this season to the larger of the Volkswagen-based single seater formulas.

Unknown Leads Heritage

HILTON HEAD, S.C. (UPI) —It seemed rather fitting that Hale Irwin should steal the thunder from the big names in the Heritage Golf Classic on the day that Nebraska and Oklahoma were playing their football classic.

After all, Hale was a Big Eight safety when he was playing for Colorado in the mid 60s —and, to be truthful, he had been pretty anxious Thursday to finish his round so he could rush to the clubhouse to see the big game.

In the process, Irwin, never a winner in his four years on the PGA tour although he has made a pretty good living, shot a 3-under-par 68 and, to his surprise, that stood up for the first rxund lead.

The 26-year-old, bespectacled Irwin, from Boulder, Ocolo., finished the first day's play one stroke ahead of everybody's favorite, Arnold Palmer, and Dave Eichelberger, who did win the Milwaukee Open this summer but actually isn't a lot better known than Hale.

This is the first tournament in four months that has featured all three of this country's top three golfers — Nicklaus, Palmer and Lee Trevino. Trevino may not make today's 36-hole cut since he went into the water four times Thursday and wound up with a 7-over-par 78 —the first time all year that Trevino, who has won five tournaments and a record $227,000 so far this year, has been that much over par in a single round.

Shop Students at Berkley Given 'New' Vega

Students in the Berkley High School automobile shop classes are the owners of a "new" 1971 Chevrolet Vega.

The car was presented to the students and Berkley High School Wednesday by Robert J. Pharis, 2057 Rosemont, Berkley, a gift from the Service Research Center at the General Motors Technical Center in Warren.

Pharis is manager of the Service Requirements department of Service Research.

'New-Old Car'—

"It's a new-old car," Pharis explained, "while it's never been driven in the normal sense we used it for research here."

Pharis said the center "wrecked" the car to test for collision damage. "Then we completely restored it," he explained, "as a repair evaluation study."

"Of course we couldn't sell it," he continued, "but it seemed a real waste to just scrap it so I arranged for the car to be donated to Berkley High School. I don't think they've ever had a whole car, complete with radio and everything, to tear down and build again."

Welcome Addition—

Shop teacher James Myers said the car is a welcome addition to the Berkley High School shop.

"It's really a windfall," Myers said, "we'll be able to do exhaust emission analysis, front end alignment, electrical diagnosis and testing and much more."

Much more will include, door and window glass alignment, water leaks and various mechanical studies.

Pharis said while automobile companies often give gifts of motors, transmissions and other equipment to school shop classes an entire car is a rarity.

New Home Must Have Lawn Included, HP Law States

A home builder in Hazel Park won't be allowed to let anyone move into a new house until grass is planted in the yard, under an ordinance amendment City Council probably will pass Dec. 13.

Under an amendment to the city's ordinance on upkeep of homes, a builder won't be able to get an occupancy permit from the city until the grass is planted.

During the winter however, persons can move into a new home provided the builder posts a $500 bond with the city to assure grass will be planted in the spring.

The grass must be planted, however, as soon as warmer weather returns, under the amendment.

If the city building inspector notifies the builder that the grass must be planted and it isn't done within two weeks, then bond is forfeited under the amendment

Thomas A. Scott, Hazel Park building inspector requested the amendment to the city ordinance on upkeep of homes.

Council gave the amendment tentative approval Monday, and asked James Paterson, city attorney, to re-word the language of the proposed amendment to more clearly place responsibility for the planting with the builder.

Paterson said he suspected that persons currently moving into new homes don't set aside money for planting grass, and do not find out from a building inspector that the grass must be planted until after they've moved into the house.

'Cokey' Highway

ROME (UPI) -- There must be a lot of cocaine mingled with the dust of the Rome-Naples Superhighway.

Police, acting on a tip, arrested eight persons in three cars Thursday after a chase in fog and rain. They found six and a half pounds of cocaine in plastic bags in one car and identical but empty bags in another. Investigators said the men probably scattered the contents on the highway during the chase.

Troy Tables Track Appeal, Okays 12 Zoning Requests

Troy is still undecided about allowing a commercial recreational driving facility to be built adjacent to Berz Airport.

Tuesday, the city's Board of Zoning Appeals again tabled a request from Grand Prix of America to use three acres of industrial-zoned land on the south side of Fifteen-Mile (Maple) west of Crooks for a quarter-mile driving course.

Gerald VandenBussche, chief building inspector, said a decision will probably be made at the Board's Dec. 21 meeting. He said the group wanted to review the matter further, and wants to make sure the facility will not affect landing and takeoff operations at Berz Airport.

Grand Prix of America is headed by Jack DeLorean of Bloomfield Hills. DeLorean says that the cars to be used would be powered by eight-horsepower engines with a top speed of about 19 miles an hour. There would be no racing but drivers would be timed during their trips over the course.

In other action the Board has approved requests by:

• Gertrude Evans, 4832 Rochester Road, to maintain a temporary, non-conforming building on the corner of Glaser and Rochester Road. The building has been in existence for several years and has caused no complaints, VandenBussche said.

• Eric Pearson, 5565 John R, to keep no more than nine dogs for his hobby of training the animals. A recent city law requires a kennel permit for the keeping more than three dogs.

• Vel Corporation, 2236 Rochester Road, to delay for another year the construction of a masonry obscuring wall required by the city.

• Gale Electric, 2021 Barrett, and Robert Keller, 1951 Barrett, to continue operations of concrete crushing machines on their properties.

• Puritan Realty Co., Southfield, to construct a home at 2382 Newbedford 38 feet from the side lot line instead of the required 40.

• Harold Moss, landowner, to erect a house on a lot at 1457 Cambria 100 feet wide instead of the required 110.

• Richard Rettele, 163 East Nineteen-Mile (Square Lake) to build a 16 by 40 feet building behind his home to shelter a horse, by waiving a rule that an accessory building may not be larger than the main building on a property. The horse shelter will have 1,080 square feet of floor space. The main Building has only 1,032.

• Condominium Developer's Inc., Troy, to delay for one year construction of a required masonry obscuring wall behind medical condominiums on the south side of Sixteen-Mile (Big Beaver) between Crooks and Todd.

• Leonard Doyon, landowner, to build a home at 1331 Larayne on a lot 100 feet wide instead of 110.

• Oliver Robosan, 5009 Abington, to erect a patio behind his home which would be 26 feet from the rear lot line instead of 35.

• Fred Jesierski, to construct a commercial building at 6071 Livernois which would be 33 feet from the rear of a non-conforming home instead of 33. Also to delay construction of a masonry obscuring wall along his west property line.

• Donald Ellis, landowner, to erect a tire center business on the corner of Stephenson and Rochester Road with five parking spaces in the 50-foot front yard setback.

Denied by the Board were requests by:

• Officers of St. Augustine Catholic Church, 5475 Livernois, to retain four signs located at different spots in the city directing residents to the church. The Board said the church was established and most residents should now be familiar with its location.

• Kaufman and Broad Co., Southfield, to retain a sales office in a house on Barclay Street. Most of the homes in that area have been sold and are now occupied, said VandenBussche.

• Taylor Garage Builders, Detroit, to erect a detached garage closer than 10 feet from a home at 2892 Athena.

• Patrick Giannotta, owner of Pat's Catering, 1800 Austin, to build an addition which would be 31 feet from the front property line instead of the required 50.

MH Accepts Garbage Bag Bid

Madison Heights City Council decided to buy plastic garbage bags from a Dearborn firm, although some members favored purchasing the containers from a local company.

The Council on Monday, accepted the lowest bid offered to South Oakland cities through an area Joint Purchasing Committee. Some members feared the city would be barred from some future purchases through the committee if it did not accept the bid.

The City will buy the bags from the Cherrin Corp., Dearborn at $3.41 for a box of 100 bags. These are then sold to residents.

Several councilmen, however, wanted to buy the bags from the Abe Bader Bag Co., Madison Heights at $3.43 for a box of 100.

If the city bypassed the Joint Purchasing Committee's lowest bid, said City Manager Estol L. Swem, it could be barred from participation in the area purchasing plan for six months.

The Committee was formed several years ago by the City Managers Assn., of South Oakland County in an attempt to buy goods in volume at lower prices.

The vote to buy the bags from the Cherrin Corp., was 5-2.

Fishing Stamp Price Raised

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has signed four bills into law, including one to increase the cost of the special trout-salmon stamp from $2 to $3.

The price of the stamp required in addition to the regular fishing license, has been $2 since 1958.

Eliminated—

The bill also eliminates the seven-day resident fishing licerise. State Department of Natural Resources officials had said this type of license seldom was purchased.

Other bills signed by the governor would:

Contributions—

—Permit contributions of up to $50 to political parties to be a deduction item on the state income tax.

—Require that persons under the age of 15 not be allowed to operate pedal bicycles which have low horsepower, helper motors on them which do not exceed a maximum of 20 mile per hour. A license would not be required for those 15 and above. This will enable those with physical handicaps to operate such vehicles.

MOSTLY NEW ENGLAND—Although mostly New England in character, with a restrained, dignified exterior, the wide roof overhangs depart from the traditional enough to stamp this house as obviously built for 20th century living.

House of the Week

Roman Atrium in an American Ranch

by ANDY LANG
Associated Press Writer

In many commercial buildings and shopping centers, atriums are being used to create within the structures an appearence of added space, using landscaping to complete the concept.

Homes now being designed around such areas in some cases leave this space open to the sky and, in others, roofed over with a translucent material to bring in natural light.

In this plan, Architect Herman H. York designed a small three-bedroom ranch house with an atrium as a center of interest, indicating on the layout that should the owner prefer it the atrium can be enclosed as a family room. Although the atrium has Roman origins, the exterior of this house is a one-story version of a Colonial New England residence.

Possibilities—

The atrium makes possible several highly desirable circulation features, the most important being the direct view and immediate access to it from the entrance foyer. There are large glass areas overlooking this space from the kitchen. Featured is an outdoor snack bar pass-through.

With its three bedrooms, and two bathrooms, living room, dining room and toilet-wash up room near the garage, Design L-26 is a compact, livable unit which could be attractive to a retired couple who may want a degree of luxury without the maintenance requirements of a huge house.

A deep, covered front entrance insures protection in poor weather. A generous foyer makes the inside layout appear larger than it actually is.

Hidden Features—

There are a few interior features which may go unnoticed but are worthy of mention. From the area around the front doors, both the kitchen and hall bathroom are hidden.

The immediate impact of the atrium, seen through sliding glass doors, plus the huge living room with its fireplace on the far end, add up to give the first-time visitor precisely the impression an owner desires.

The dining room is an L pattern with the living area open-planned to make these two rooms flow toward each other, an advantage when giving informal dinner parties.

From the dining room, no direct view is possible into the kitchen, despite the fact that the food preparation center is just around the corner. The kitchen contains almost 200 square feet, with its dinette overlooking the rear terrace, to which it has access.

Laundry Complex—

The laundry, lavatory, pantry complex at the garage end of the house is near the kitchen.

In the bedroom wing care has been taken to provide ample wall space in each room, with an abundance of closets for the owners. There is room for a dressing table near the owners' bathroom making this suite a very livable area. A door leads to the atrium which in turn can be the direct path to an outdoor swimming pool.

A large lounging and dining terrace is shown across much of the rear of the house.

Statistics

Design L-26 has a living room, dining room, kitchen and dinette, foyer, three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a laundry area, lavatory and an atrium, totaling 1,491 square feet. The over-all dimensions of 66' 4" by 44' include all those rooms, plus a large rear terrace and a one-car garage.

FLOOR PLAN—Covered entry, foyer and atrium serves as effective divider and sound barrier between living room, dining room and kitchen at the right and the bedroom wing at the left.

PUDGY SNOWMAN on the front lawn drew some oohs and aahs from three-year-old Sean Stinnett of Memphis, Tenn. Snow fell on the Mississippi River city and western Tennessee for the first time this season. (Unifax)

Many Women Have Decided, Walls Are Things of the Past!

by VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Writer

The American home is becoming an anachronism, says a Monday morning neighborhood kaffé-klatsch that prides itself on builder-watching.

"In two years fashions have included such extremes as mini skirts, maxi coats, pants suits and hot pants, but we are expected to be satisfied with the some old-fashioned home with its series of boxes called rooms," said one instant-coffee sipper, summing up the group's gripes.

"And have you ever tried to be Mrs. Gourmet, 1972 in a ranch house kitchen, the size of a closet. It's not in tune with Crab Louis, Chocolate Profiterole or Bearnaise Sauce," she explained.

'Display Purposes'—

Even if you don't cook such delicacies, you must have a place to display all those pots, soufflé dishes, quiche pans, casseroles, paella pans, wok, expresso pots, party perk and gram scale that your cooking school insists be part of the scene.

Every once in a while the ladies go on a builder-watching spree, checking up on the new-look in houses to see if they have been missing anything. But the only thing different about houses today is price. You get less for more.

One of their projects is to talk up what they think is the piece de resistance of modern living —areas "like you see in ads for glass doors" — one big enormous kitchen, dining room and living room. But why must such houses be custom built at twice the price of a house that comes with walls?

'Have Had It'—

Walls have had it. Wall dividers were useful maybe in the days when one had to bathe in a portable tub at the kitchen coal stove. Room dividers helped shut out drafts. But why now?

With modern heating systems one big room would be utopia. They all dream of a dining area at one end of a great room and a fireplace with a cozy seating area at the other.

"And you wouldn't need regular furniture. You could use cushions, platforms or build furniture to suit yourself" said one enthusiast who would be highly unpopular in High Point, Grand Rapids of the neighborhood furniture emporium.

Goodbye Textiles—

The ladies would also do away with draperies and floor coverings that needed to be washed or cleaned. (Goodbye carpet and textile markets.)

"Instead" exclaimed one housewife, a summer sailor, "we could just swab the decks."

"It isn't just women who want a new kind of house," said an enthusiastic newlywed, a newcomer to the crowd. "My husband says he would be happy in a rustic house that resembled a fishing lodge. He'd like a big room of rough boards with a fireplace and bedrooms on a balcony. But I can't quite visualize my Pucci pants suit in a cocoon made of nylon fishing line," she quipped.

Buoyed—

One woman, buoyed by the conversation, threatened to take down the wall between her living and dining room to see what would happen. Her husband was on a business trip.

Agreeing on such goals as these makes a cold Monday morning seem like spring. It can set a bevy of housewives up until their next builder-watching date.

But there is always one woman in every otherwise congenial circle who has a GENIUS for a husband. His wife contributes little to the conversation until everyone is flushed with excitement, and then she makes the point that extinguishes the flame.

Explanation—

"When I asked MY husband why our house had to have walls, he said, 'how would YOU operate without your backbone, hip bones and shin bones?' "

"You should have told him you could still get along with your funny bone," said one coffee lover who is determined to be the first in her set to issue a "look, no walls," invitation even if she must build a new house to do it.

For those who don't believe that one husband can put a damper on a great Monday morning, here is a tip: If you contemplate taking out a wall, don't try it when you are home alone.

HI, PAL — Getting to know you, is what Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander-in-chief, U.S. Pacific Forces, is doing in Honolulu as he greets his "gift", a 2,000-pound pachyderm named "Chamroeun," presented him by the Premier of Cambodia as a mark of esteem for the U.S. last September. Adm. McCain, like most Americans is hardly equipped to handle such a huge pet, so he did the next best thing, presented the beast to Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty for the city's zoo in ceremonies at Los Angeles. Parking Meter Forced To Pay BALTIMORE (AP) — Francis J. Colleta has scored a blow for everyone who has ever been gypped of money by a mischievous machins.

In People's Court, the University of Baltimore student, claiming he was robbed of 20 cents by a malfunctioning parking meter, won his suit against the city and was awarded two dimes, the smallest settlement in Judge Vern J. Munger Jr.'s memory.

"The parking meter is a symbol of this machine age and I'm going to fight it," Colleta declared after his victory.

The victor's spoils, however, could not be collected until he paid 50 cents to the court for a machine-made copy of the judgment.

Volunteer Cheers Vets

KNOXVILLE, Iowa (AP) — One of the most popular volunteers at the Knoxville Veterans Administration hospital here is a smiling, petite 62-year-old grandmother who has never said a word to anyone there.

Millie Courter of Chariton waves to patients, gives them pats of encouragement and helps them put on their sweaters.

But Mrs. Courter never speaks. She is a deaf mute.

The chairman of Red Cross volunteers in Lucas County, Bertha Beem, says she encouraged Mrs. Courter to become a volunteer at the hospital after she was widowed two years ago.

Two years later, Mrs. Courter is highly successful at her job and well respected among persons at the hospital and those in the volunteer program.

Mrs. Courter brings the patients home-baked goods and communicates with them by writing.

Farmland Value Up

WASHINGTON — Farmland values per acre increased by about three per cent across the United States from March, 1970, to March, 1971. Alabama and Delaware scored the greatest gain, 12 per cent.

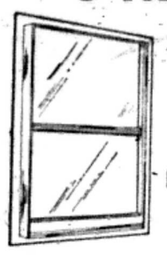

Permits Up in Ferndale

Nine permits were issued for new housing construction in Ferndale in October, the largest number in one month this year, said Donald Farrington, building inspector.

Four of the homes will be built on Stratford, and estimated cost of the nine structures is $106,000.

Sixty-one permits were issued in October, totaling $228,053, with the largest single expenditure for the remodeling of the new District Court building, 305 East Nine-Mile, at $169,465.

Warren Student Council Wants 'Open Lunch' Trial

by LEN HALLKE
Warren High School

Warren High School may soon have a pilot "open lunch" program.

The Student Council recently submitted an outline program to Principal Elmer F. Eschenburg in hope of getting at least a 60-day trial period for open lunch — letting the students, with parents' permission, go to any place of their choice to eat lunch.

Mr. Eschenburg said he would have to give the outline to the school board for approval, because district policy is that such things as open lunch be approved on a district level. If the board approves, not only Warren High, but all Warren Consolidated high schools will receive the open lunch privilege.

The program states two reasons for wanting open lunch — the basic freedom of the student to be able to choose where he wants to eat, and the capability of the students to accept the responsibilities of the program.

The pilot program would last 60 days. During that time a review board — three Warren principals, three faculty-elected teachers, and three students — would give a "periodic report on success or failure of open lunch," and would also decide at the end of the trial period whether to keep the program permanently, and suggest any changes in the trial program to help the open lunch to succeed.

The student proposal also makes it clear that any student violating his privileges shall be punished accordingly.

Present policy forbids any departure from the school for lunch, except for those who can walk home and have obtained written parental permission. Students report that the principals have recently kept careful guard over who leaves and enters the school during lunch time.

HP Paper Gains by 'Losing Face'

by PEGGY MILLER
Hazel Park High School

Is "losing face" really so bad?

Well, apparently to the newspaper staff at Hazel Park High School, it's not — as long as you replace it with a new one.

About three weeks ago, the staff of the Hazel Parker, the student newspaper, made a decision to give the paper a facelift. They decided to change it from a straight newspaper format to a magazine style.

The reasons for the change was that, as the newspaper existed before, it should present up-to-date news items, and look

Shrine's 'Voice' Is Dead

by JOHN TAYLOR
Shrine High School

Toward the end of the last school year, a few interested Shrine students kept the school newspaper alive after a meeting with the principal and the assembly of a trained staff. The VOICE was back in business. this year.

A lot of work went into putting out The VOICE, but now it is dead. Its death was caused by an apathetic student body — not from a lack of money or a trained staff.

After three issues of The VOICE failed to arouse any student response, constructive criticism, or student written articles, the staff put out a questionnaire.

The disappointing results of the questionnaire ended The VOICE's publication.

The majority of the students said that the school newspaper was nice to have but that it was not a necessary tool of communication.

The staff feld downcast at the results. Some of the responses indicated that the paper existed just for the staff.

The VOICE was the Shrine's only official publication where student opinions, news and sports stories could appear.

HIGH SCHOOL LETTERBOX

'Not One Constructive Article . . .'

To the Editor:

I am a student at Ferndale High School. There hasn't been one constructive article on your school pages. Therefore I'm writing to you to show that Ferndale is still a great school both in concern and spirit.

To start at the beginning of the year the varsity cheerleaders sold pom pons to buy new uniforms (which was a success).

The orchestra raised $400 for scholarships from a flea market they had last month.

After weeks of preparation our homecoming was a success. The seniors and juniors tied first place in float competition. We also had queens and court members from several clubs along with our homecoming queen and her court. I believe this is the first time anything such as this has happened.

One of the latest things that has happened is that 10 members of Ferndales 10th grade and senior choirs have been accepted into the Southern Michigan Youth Chorale which will tour Europe this coming summer.

Elections have been going on all week and the posters of the candidates have given a lift to school appearance and spirit. The juniors will have their candy fund raising sale in two weeks. Band members will be selling their candy soon also for money to send the members to Interlochen this summer.

The most important thing that has taken place the past week is the setup of a student government to deal with situations that affect the student body.

Thank you for letting me bring these events to the view of the public.

Ferndale Student

Now That You Mention It . . .

Dear Ferndale Student:

Most of the events you mention were reported in The Daily Tribune's nine High School Happenings sections published since the start of the school year.

The various candy sales you mention were reported as follows: Band Sale — Nov. 17; National Honor Society Sale—Nov. 10; UN Club Sale — Oct. 27.

In addition, two excellent feature articles were written by Ferndale High School correspondent Merla Jo Magy, for our Sept. 29 and Oct. 20 issues, and an advance story on the Thespian Club playon Nov. 17. The Daily Tribune covered Ferndale's Homecoming celebration on three separate occasions in its regular news columns that week (excluding sports page coverage).

Elsewhere on this page, a story appears about the four Ferndale students who will be making the Mediterranean music tour this summer.

Perhaps we are guilty as accused of missing the September Pom Pon sale. We find no record of that particular story.

However, high percentage of coverage on such items is not all that pleasing, because it would seem that much of the pom pon and candy sales news is better suited for intra-school coverage.

With some 25 local schools already receiving intensive daily coverage by our fulltime staff and sports reporters, we would hope to encourage our student reporters toward stories which have greater relevance for our high school readers — at all 25 area high schools—in our circulation range.

We are presently changing the emphasis of our High School Happenings section by reducing the length of candy sale stories, and encouraging "gut - issue" coverage on issues that directly affect our high school readers — open lunches, attitudes on narcotics, voting and drinking privileges for 18-year-olds, job-hunting problems and solutions and student observations on war, busing, adult life-styles and clothing.

Without being boorish about it, we are freely opening communications channels for high school students on matters of import as perhaps no other daily has ever done.

We hope to see it result in an exchange of ideas among our-soon-to-be voting establishment.

Of course, we will continue to find a spot for pom pon sales.

First 'Recollection Day' a Hit at St. Mary High

by MARY ELLEN BELL
St. Mary's High School

"The purpose of the 'Day of Recollection' is to stimulate and enrich the growth of the Christian community in St. Mary High School," said Father Bill Easton of St. Mary.

"The students need a lot of growing (spiritually) — they have a long way to go," said Deacon Terry Kerner (Presentation — Our Lady of Victory). "Today proved that they are capable of growth and change. They're a great group of kids."

The Recollection Day at St. Mary was initiated by Sister Margaret Mary, a religion teacher new to the staff this year.

She felt students would benefit greatly from 'this different way of religion,' so, in collaboration with Father Bill and several students she arranged and presented the Days of Recollection — for Juniors-Seniors on Thursday, Nov. 18, and Sophomores and Freshmen, Nov. 19.

At 9:30 a.m., Thursday, seniors filled the Convent chapel, while juniors assembled in the library for the opening experience. A talk by the guests was given, and a film shown. Music, readings, and prayer prepared by students were given.

Each student had the prerogative then to 'really communicate' with their neighbor, or to confess or discuss with priests in another room.

Each student then attended two "discussion groups' chosen (out of six) by themselves.

The six groups were: "The Church, with it or not?" by Father Ed (Wojdyla) of St. Gabriel; a frank discussion titled, "Together for Life—Wow!", led by Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Livernois, of Wyandotte — married 20 years with nine children — they rapped about everything from pre-martial sex to being grandparents; "Restless Beilevers" by Father Bill which covered what it means to believe, and is it worth it; "Bible: Fact or Fiction," by Deacon Terry entailed questions on the truthfulness of the Bible; "Who is that Jesus Man?" by Father Dick Kelly of Redford St. Mary discussed who Jesus is and what does He have to do with me?; and "Changing Morality — or is it?" by Sister Elizabeth Marie of St. Mary discussed laws, rules, thoughts of morality, and what it has to do with things like abortion, segregation, and pollution.

Following an informal lunch in the cafeteria, students and guests attended mass.

There was a mass in the library, with students sitting on the floor singing and Fr. Dick joining in.

There was also a mass in the tiny convent chapel in which kids sat on the floor and on the window sills. They entered into discussion with Fr. Ed during the homily, then gathered around the altar and drank wine out of a wooden carved chalice.

There was another mass in the church, with the students clustered up in the front pews, and Fr. Bill and Deacon Terry right down there with them, leading the songs and clapping their hands.

It was a new experience for the students — one they enjoyed and participated in together, yet made them think.

"It's so very different from regular religion class," said senior Bonnie Greenough. "During the discussions, a kid you've known for ages will say something, and you'll say to yourself 'Gee, I didn't know he thought that way about this, and a new understanding is born."

"I really think this is a good thing for kids," said Junior Betty Ann Garlak.

The atmosphere was informal; the group discussions interesting, the students and speakers eager. The result was a truly wonderful day; a day for new experiences and new friendships.

MH Signs 98 for Bahamas

by JACKIE ELLIOTT
Madison High School

Ninety-eight seniors from Madison High School have signed up and paid a deposit for a trip to the Bahamas. The trip will cost each person about $160 for plane ride, meals, and room at the Holiday Inn.

Faculty sponsors are Robert Murie and Fred Agemy.

The group will leave Metro Airport Friday, May 12 at 9:30 on Saturn airlines.

First night there, the seniors are scheduled for a three hour ocean evening cruise on a catamaran. There will be a rock band on the boat.

During the days, students can do what they want to, from shopping to going to the beach.

A steak Bar-B-Q will be held at the beach the second evening, and the third night there will be a rock concert, either at poolside or in the ballroom at the Inn.

The group will return Monday, May 15, at 6 p.m.

The trip is being partially financed by proceeds from the 1972 Variety Show on March 17.

25c-a-Marriage at Foley Dance

by LISA MILLS
Bishop Foley High School

Bishop Foley High School was appropriately decorated with haystacks and pumpkins Friday, Nov. 12, for the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance.

This year the girls made corsages out of vegetables for their dates. The corsages were judged for originality and quality of construction. The winner was Jon Zimmer, whose corsage was made of a cauliflower in the shape of a man.

For 25c, students were allowed to be "married." They were given a ring and a certificate stating that the marriage would be nullified at 12:00 p.m. of the same evening. "Justice of The Peace" was Don Shapton, Student Council President.

After the dance many students ate at Pasquale's. Reservations had previously been made for many of the Juniors and Seniors.

"The Sadie offered me an opportunity to let my real self come out," said Diane Kwitowski. "It gave me a chance to have a real, down-to-earth fun time."

Kathy Basquin said, "I thought the changes this year made the Sadie a lot more fun. I enjoyed it very much."

Teachers 'Face Trial' in S'field Student Takeover

by BOB CRAFT
Southfield High School

Twenty-three Southfield High seniors recently took over the local government of Southfield for one day on Monday, November 15.

The take-over was not a military coup, nor an overthrow, but Southfield High's Student Government Day. The fourteenth annual day-long event allows Southfield High seniors to run for city offices, and if elected, assume the duties of their city-government counterparts for one day.

Primary elections held on November 1 to determine candidates for the final elections narrowed the race to two candidates for mayor, two for city clerk, four for city judge (two are elected), and 14 candidates for city councilmen (seven are elected).

Final voting by seniors on November 8 selected Joe Sanders as mayor, Leah Schmitz as city clerk, Debra Blake and Craig McKenzie as district judges, and David Gillikin as city treasurer. Seven girls, Cheryl Curchetti, Sandra Dorland, Tais Fedetz, Sue Goldsman, Cynde Frid, Randee Levick, and Barbara Margolis were elected as city councilmen.

All other students who served as city officials such as heads of commissions were appointed by student Mayor Sanders. They are Barbara Beattie, Pam Beaton, Marie Brunett, James Granzotto, Jim Herman, Eleen Kirman, Richard Meng, Richard Miller, Shelly Rubin, Gerald Shimoura, and Cathy Willner.

The above students were excused from school for half the day on November 15 to participate in Government Day. In the afternoon, the seniors attended a luncheon at the Southfield Civic Center where they met with the officials whose offices they would fill that day.

After a mock trial of two Southfield High teachers at the district court, dinner was held for the elected and appointed student officials at the North Congregational Church. To end the day, the seniors attended a formal City Council meeting.

Government Day at Southfield High has traditionally been sponsored by the Optimists Club. Faculty sponsor and coordinator of the event this year was Social Studies Department head Miss Mary Markos.

CD Likes New Talks

by DARRELL ROGERS
Detroit Country Day School

Something new has been added to the normal weekly routine at Country Day this year. Endowed with the traditional name of "Collection Talks", these twenty minutes spent out of every Tuesday and Thursday are anything but traditional.

Students and faculty members alike are invited to speak at these talks; and personal opinion is welcome. The theme this semester is "Morality and Education", and the schedule of faculty and students speakers already full.

One of the most impressive talks of late was one made by Mr. Donald R. Bivens of 132 Forest, Royal Oak. Bivens spoke of the vices of forced education in the schools, and was given a long and loud round of applause when he finished.

Bivens, a history teacher at Country Day, had this to say about the bi-weekly assembly:

"It is an interesting opportunity for us teachers to share

What Does Thanksgiving Mean Now?

Recurring Survey Word is 'Food'

by ANNE LEFFEL
Southfield-Lathrup High School

On December 13, 1621 Governor William Bradford decreed that a day of Thanksgiving be set aside as a day of feasting and prayer to show the gratitude of the colonists that they were still alive.

Ever since Americans have celebrated this day known as Thanksgiving, now celebrated on the last Thursday in the month of November.

Today, in 1971, Thanksgiving is still observed — but how much does it mean? To find out, we asked high school students at Southfield-Lathrup what they think about the holiday of Thanksgiving.

We asked three different questions:

(1) What does Thanksgiving mean to you?

(2) At the mention Thanksgiving, what immediate picture pops in your head?

(3) Do you, or have you, chosen this holiday as a time to help the poor?

Here are some of the student answers.

The Day's Meaning?—

"Thanksgiving is a time to celebrate the founding of our nation, but more than that, a time to stop and be grateful for all that we have," said one junior.

"It's a great chance for all the relatives to get together," said another.

"Thanksgiving, I like it. It's a time of happiness, and one time when your whole family sits down and eats a peaceful dinner together," answered a sophomore.

"Thanksgiving means a lot of different things — meals, family and pilgrims, but the meaning of Thanksgiving and all national holidays have been commercialized too much," one senior replied.

"Thanksgiving is a few days off from school and going over to relatives house and eating a good meal."

Immediate Image?—

To the second question, "What pops into your head?," one student said "The first thing I think of is happy people gathering together for a Thanksgiving dinner."

"Thanksgiving is turkey, cranberries, dressing, candied sweet potatoes, rolls and lots of good things to eat," said another.

"Thanksgiving is a turkey."

"Thanksgiving is associated with the pilgrims."

"Thanksgiving is food — where people eat together."

Ever Helped the Poor?

"My personal experience with the poor on Thanksgiving is that I have contributed in can drives supported by my church."

"We collect food and then take it down to the poor families in the inner city."

"When we were in grade school we would always collect food and put into baskets then to a poor family assigned to us."

"Helping the poor on Thanksgiving day makes you feel as though you are doing a Christian job; helping your brothers, no matter what they are like."

Apparently some of the spirit the pilgrims had at their first Thanksgiving is still with us today. Though times and styles have changed throughout the years, the tradition of Thanksgiving is basically the same.

Pick Ferndale Musicians for Int'l Group

by MARLA JO MAGY
Ferndale High School

Out of 50 students selected from the Great Lakes Area invited to go with the Musical Youth International to the Mediterranean this summer, four are from the Ferndale High School Concert Band.

The students and their instruments are Chris Camp (bassoon), Jim Brandt (Percussion), Patti Sandling (Flute), and Paul Robins (Clarinet). All are juniors except for senior Patti Sandling.

These students auditioned at Saline, Michigan to win the honor.

Of all 100 students making the trip, half are in the choir and the other fifty in the band.

The group's itinerary will include Yugoslavia, Greece, and a Mediterreanean cruise to the islands of Mykonos, Rhodes, Crete, Corfu, and the African country of Tunisia.

President Eisenhower initiated the idea of this group, but it just became a reality eight years ago. The group will leave for their trip on June 30, and be home on or before August 4.

Rehearsals for the band will be held every Saturday from now till the week before they leave.

"I feel that the students will get a lot out of this trip because they will be living with people from the Mediterranean and they will be able to exchange cultures", said Edwin Tower, Director of the M.Y.I. Band and the Ferndale High School Bands.

April Prom Plans Begun

by LISA JACKNOW
Berkley High School

An April Prom may seem far off, but at Berkley High, planning — in the form of fund raising — has already begun.

The Junior Class, led by President Kit Moran, Vice-President Jill Heavenrich, Secretary Barb Schmaus, and Treasurer Jan Keegan, must raise several thousand dollars in order to hold a prom. They are the sponsors of the annual event.

Several fund raising ideas have already been put into effect by the industrious Juniors. They have sold pizza at all home football games. A work day, which is held every year usually with great success, was cancelled because of bad weather.

The main money-making event of the year is the annual candy sale. Three types of Sander's candy is now being sold for $1.00 a box. Prizes are being offered to the students who sell the most candy. It is the hope of the Junior Class Officers that this will influence more students into helping them.

Another new idea for fund raising is now in the planning stages. Juniors hope to buy stuffed Teddy Bears, and sell them for a profit. Says Treasurer Jan Keegan, "The Teddy Bears would make great Christmas gifts."

Other ideas are now being discussed by the Junior Board. It is their great desire to raise enough money to put on the best prom ever.

Logs from Rockefeller Center's 1970 Christmas tree, a 65-foot white spruce, have been given to Boy Scouts at White Plains, N. Y.

Two Berkley Seniors have been cited as outstanding high school English students by the National Council of Teachers of English.

The NCTE named Henry J. Lambertz and Jeff M. Lipshaw as 1971 national runner-ups in its annual Achievement Awards competition.

Henry and Jeff are two of the five students nominated last spring by a committee of Berkley English teachers to represent our school in the competition. After nomination, each of the students submitted his best writing, including an autobiographical sketch, and wrote a one-hour impromptu essay.

Materials were evaluated by state judging teams of qualified college and high school, teachers, directed by state chairmen. They selected 850 finalists out of the 7,000 nominees.

The finalists, including Henry and Jeff, have been recommended for scholarships. Their names have been sent to major colleges and universities throughout the U.S.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lambertz of 1992 Rosemont, Berkley. He is currently president of the Berkley Science Research Program, through which he is involved in working with a student-constructed cyclotron. He is also a member of the National Honor Society, United Nations Study Group, and the ASO (Association of Student Organizations).

Jeff, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lipshaw of 12720 Talbot, Huntington Woods, is president of the United Nations Study Group. He is also involved in the NHS, the Biology and Pep Clubs, and the ASO

The NCTE has sent Henry and Jeff certificates of recognition, and has honored the BHS English department with certificates of merit. The two Seniors were also cited by letters of congratulations from Congressman William Broomfield.

Troy Variety Show To Open in February

by PAM MAKIN
Troy High School

Last month, Claudia Lehman and Marian Aldred, both sophomores at Troy High School, began to organize a group for a variety show to be held in February.

This month, they are still in the process of organizing but hope to have auditions within the next few weeks.

"We would like to have the program in February after the Christmas programs," said Marian, vice chairman of the group.

"It will be held for two or three nights at Baker Jr. High (Troy) because of the availability of spot lights, dressing rooms and stage."

Performance time will be two to two and a half hours with a 10 to 15 minute intermission.

There will be singing, comedy, dancing and pantomime, said Claudia.

"The opening will begin with "No Business Like Show Business" with a chorus line of both guys and girls," Claudia said.

Claudia, the originator of the variety show at Troy High, is chairman of the group. She said however, that although there are approximately 30 or 40 members from each class participating, it is not a club.

Claudia got the idea after participating in a similar program last year at a school in California, which made over $500. "We thought we could do it here (at Troy)," Claudia said.

Said Marian, "The sophomore class needs money for its treasury, so we went to a sophomore class meeting and got permission to have the variety show. If we make enough money, we'll probably divide it among the freshmen, junior and senior classes also."

She said the sophomore class will handle the selling of refreshments.

Claudia is also trying to get brass instruments from the band for accompaniment. The group already has pianos and guitars.

Afternoon English teacher Richard Gowman is the sponsor.

THANKSGIVING IN THE BAHAMAS—Some 315 Kimball High School seniors were bused to Metropolitan Airport Wednesday afternoon to board a charter flight to Freeport in the Bahamas. Among those leaving behind the grim realities of snow and cold weather until their Sunday night return are Mike Meagher, 239 E. Bloomfield (with scuba tank) and Jim Gualadoni, 2940 Ferris. Co-op Lets Kids Earn and Learn

by JAN SMITH
Kimball High School

Kimball High's Co-op Club offers students a chance to learn skills and make money at the same time.

Co-op students, all seniors, are in school for part of the day studying required courses, but leave early to work at a particular job. They receive ten credits for their classes and ten credits for working at their jobs, plus their minimum wage of $1.60 per hour.

Officers of the club are Cathie McDonald, President; Karen Jurica, Vice-President; Sue Smith, Secretary, and Sandy Patton, Treasurer.

Mrs. J. Smith, Co-op Coordinator, places girls who are interested in office-type jobs, and checks on them periodically to see how they are doing. Many times the students bosses are called upon to help in grading.

Jobs range from school help to travel business, insurance company work and banking. Every type of job is offered to prepare kids for work after graduation.

There is also a program offered exclusively for boys. It deals with trade and industry and is headed by Mr. Mueller.

Another program in retailing is offered to both boys and girls. Students who have taken Retailing 1 and 2 can be placed in stores all over the area by coordinator Joseph Mager.

The Co-op basically consists of four committees; fund raising, entertainment, vocational education and preparatory co-op education for underclassmen.

The complaint by some that high school subjects are of no use after graduation is answered by the Co-op program, which specifically aims at preparing students for the job world.

with the Troops some of our more transcendent ideas on this and that: ideas which cannot really be inserted, at least honestly, into the usual classroom presentations."

Although the idea of a mandatory assembly met with some criticism from students at first, it is now in full swing, and some of the recent ones have produced heated discussions among students and teachers. The new program has spurred participation among members of the school body.

to the move serious side of the news.

But the paper was beginning to drift towards more news features and literary work, so the style was changed to fit the contents.

The first edition of the "new" Parker was born on Wednesday, November 24. It included, along with straight news items, an article about things to do and places to go, complete with a map and pictures of Yates Cider Mill.

It also presented a news-feature about the HPHS independent study course of Science Seminar, and a startling, daring Thanksgiving centerfold of the "Playbird of the Month".

The Parker seems to have been caught up in the mood of change this year. Along with this last move, it also has a girl sports editor and has broken tradition by selecting a girl as photographer.

Aside from being among a few school papers which have adopted the magazine style, the Parker is unique in several ways. It is entirely student produced and all contributions and pictures are produced by students. It is also somewhat unique in that it is printed by students in the Graphic Arts classes under advisor Mr. C. L. Harm, printing teacher at HPHS.

Clawson Girls Say H-E-L-L-O

by LORRAINE GRIMSBY
Clawson High School

". . . H-E-L-L-O Clawson Trojans say Hello!"

The "Hello" cheer means more than a greeting to Clawson cheerleaders. It won a first place ribbon for six of the girls at a cheerleading camp this summer.

Twenty-one girls make up Clawson's four squads for the '71-'72 athletic season — Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshman, and a new squad, Varsity Blue and Gold.

"Varsity Blue and Gold" represents the "elite" in cheerleading, and has only three members. Captain of the new squad is senior Carol Mitchell, Junior Cindy Rasanen and Senior Diane McIntosh, are the other members. They cheer at cross-country, swimming, and wrestling meets.

This year's Varsity consists entirely of juniors. Captain Val Revoldt leads the team of Jackie Mayberry, Debbie Dunhum, Jan Hatheway, Marilyn Rose and Ruth Mikus.

The J.V. squad is captained by Robin Harding. Members are Trish McGuinness, Candy Strother, Diane Fraser, Gayle Kronenberg, and Anne Currie.

The Freshman squad members are Teresa Pryzakowski, Lezlie Moseley, Laurie Carr, Sue Takai, Denise Cischke, and Cindy Weeder.

The cheerleaders are selling "Spirit" ribbons and buttons in the school colors of blue and gold to raise money for their activity.

Prisoners

were reported in good condition today at Rahway General Hospital, although Dr. Richard Newman said Vukcevich, age 43, had two stab wound in his back and "was worked over pretty good." It was learned that Vukcevich's wounds were treated in the prison by an inmate who served with U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Cahill revealed that only the insistence of Dr. Maurice Kott, acting state commissioner of institutions and agencies, and another unnamed state prison official prevented an assault on the prison early Thursday by about 150 armed and helmeted state police, local police and guards from other prisons.

"It was because the hope was there of a negotiated settlement that we declined to use force," said Cahill. "Fortunately, I didn't have to make that decision."

The rebellion erupted Wednesday night following a movie in the prison auditorium. Vukcevich and five guards were taken hostage by inmates who refused to leave the auditorium when another prisoner arose to speak on "injustices in society" and penitentiary conditions.

political group in last December's provincial elections.

The party won 13 of 40 seats in the northwest frontier provincial elections, eight out of 20 in Baluchistan and six seats in the National Assembly.

It was not immediately clear whether any party members had been arrested or whether the party's legislators would be unseated.

Crisis Erupted—

The provincial assemblies elected last December never met because of the East Pakistan crisis that erupted in March. The assembly was to have drawn up a constitution creating a civilian government to replace the military regime headed by Yahya Khan.

"Some of its leaders are in collaboration with the enemy," said a statement broadcast by the government radio.

Aims Opposed—

"The aims adopted by this party are identical of those of the enemy. It is trying to foment revolt in West Pakistan."

The National Awami party is the second to be banned by the president this year. He outlawed the East Pakistan Awami League March 25, accusing it of treason for its secessionist policies.

Shortly after that, the army took control in the East and fighting broke out between government troops and the rebels. The Indians claim the current battles are between the army and Mukti Bahin or independence fighters.

The word trousseau is from the old French "trusse" and originally meant a little bundle. It was applied to a few things that a bride took with her to the home of her husband.

Central, Regional Boards Meet

Detroit School Leaders Eye 3 Integration Plans

The Detroit School Board was to meet privately with members of its regional boards today to discuss proposed integration plans.

The Board has before it three proposed plans, all variations of an existing program which provides for voluntary integration.

Dec. 3 Deadline—

It has until Dec. 3 to approve a plan under orders by U.S. District Judge Stephen J. Roth who ruled that the Detroit schools are segregated.

Some board members have said the plan ordered by Judge Roth should be worked out on a metropolitan basis, including the suburbs. Any one that doesn't must be looked at as "temporary and as virtually ineffective in confronting the basic problem," they have said.

Judge Roth also gave the State School Board until February to develop an integration plan for the Detroit area. This could include busing of pupils across district lines.

The judge said that Detroit and state school officials share the blame for the segregation he said exists in the central city's schools. Both Detroit and state officials have filed appeals of the Roth ruling.

Majority Is Firm—

The Detroit School Board majority, led by Patrick A. McDonald, was determined to stick with the concept of specialized schools, the backbone of the plan now in use, in its discussions with regional boards. McDonald wrote that plan.

Some parts of the other two plans under consideration, however, would involve forced rather than voluntary integration.

The three plans call for:

- An expansion of the present program of specialized high schools and middle schools by adding four new high schols and 32 new middle schools. The middle schools would include grades 3-8 rather than 5-8.
- Creating two new specialized high schools, one for the east side, one for the west, while designating 20 existing junior highs as "experimental" to which students could ask to be transferred. A limited forced integration plan would involve busing about 39,000 pupils between 110 schools where the enrollment is 80 per cent or more of one race.
- Requiring all pupils in grades 3-6 in those 110 schools to be bused two days a week to one of a series of new integrated school offering only humanities courses. This plan, the only one of the three for which expenses have been worked out, would cost about $5.1 million.

Black and liberal members of the Detroit Board are dissatisfied with the success of the existing voluntary plan, and are not likely to support a variation of it as the single plan to be presented to Judge Roth. There is talk of a developing minority plan.

Kelley Critical—

State Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley has accused suburban politicians and state lawmakers of both parties of approaching the controversial issue of court-ordered school busing in a cowardly, and sometimes "demagogic" manner.

Kelley also criticized the position taken by U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Michigan). Kelley is expected to seek the Democratic nomination to run against Griffin in 1972.

"There has been timidity and cowardice on the part of a lot of suburban politicians," Kelley said.

"I see all kinds of demagogery with the issue, playing on the fears . . . Instead of exploiting it . . . they should have tried to quiet fears, tried to balance it . . . And that includes some members of my own party."

Blasts Griffin—

Kelley criticized Griffin for asking U.S. Att. Gen. John Mitchell to intervene in the Pontiac school busing case and for introducing a constitutional amendment in the Senate which would prohibit forced busing to achieve racial balance in schools.

He said if Griffin wanted the Supreme Court to rule on a Michigan busing case, "he should have come to me." He also questioned whether a constitutional amendment on school busing would be held valid by the Supreme Court.

Kelley also said he believes that if U.S. District Judge Stephen Roth orders the implementation of cross-district busing to desegregate schools in Detroit and its suburbs; the ruling would ultimately be overturned by the Supreme Court.

'Won't Order Busing'—

"It's absurd to think that the courts are going to allow the busing of children into an inner-city high-crime area," Kelley said. "We'd be better off to close all the ghetto schools than to allow that to divide this country."

Asked what he would do after closing the ghetto schools, Kelley said: "Build new schools."

Robberies Reported in Berkley, HP

Robberies were reported in Hazel Park and Berkley Thursday and today.

Attendant William Kitchen, of the Kayo Gas Station, 1121 East Nine-Mile, Hazel Park, told police he was robbed of $25 at 2:08 a.m., today by a man who placed an object against his neck and demanded money.

Kitchen said he was reading a sign on the milk machine when he felt a cold object against his neck. A man said, "You move and I'll blow your brains out. Give me all your money." Kitchen failed to see the robber, police said.

James Bevins, uge 21, Detroit said he was robbed of $15, his watch, coat and books valued at $75, by three youths at knife-point at 10:30 p.m. Thursday in the parking lot of Coral Gables of Berkley, Inc., 2245 Woodward, Berkley.

Bevins said two of the three robbers had knives. He said the three were black youths in their early 20's. They fled on foot west from the parking lot, he said.

Hughes Sells Parking Lot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Howard Hughes, a year after leaving Las Vegas, has sold the first piece of the multimillion dollar empire he began erecting in Nevada in 1966.

A Hughes Tool Co. spokesman said Thursday that a 10-acre parking lot next to Caesars Palace on the Strip was old to a local liquor distributor, Stephen Wynn. The price was not disclosed.

The spokesman denied speculation that the sale marked the start of a disbanding of Hughes' $300 million investments in casinos, hotels and mines.

"This property is simply a parking lot," the spokesman said, adding that the Hughes Tool Co. had "no present use for the property."

The spokesman made the announcement of the sale Thanksgiving, one year and a day after Hughes secretly left the city.

Hughes executives say the reclusive billionaire lives in a well guarded hotel suite in the Bahamas.

REV. LYMAN PARKS

Elect Negro As Mayor

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The Rev. Lyman Parks became Grand Rapids' first black mayor Tuesday when he was elected by the City Commissioners to fill the post vacated by retired Mayor Robert Boelens.

The first, or secret vote, was 4-2 for Parks. Later, the Commission officially voted 5-1 to install him as mayor.

Fell Short—

Parks, the Commission president, had been acting mayor and the leading candidate for the post but had fallen a vote short in five previous election deadlocks. The first black official in city government, Parks had served on the Commission since February, 1968.

"I feel it is a significant achievement when you consider the composition of the population here," Parks said. Only about 12 per cent of Grand Rapids' over 200,000 persons are black.

Goal—

"My goal would be to unite the city where there are divisions," he said. "There is polarization in all urban centers, and Grand Rapids is no exception. It will take all of us working together to attain the goals of the future — I hope we can show the way for the country."

Parks, who is pastor of the First Community AME Church, is the third black to be elected mayor in western Michigan cities this month. On Nov. 2, Benton Harbor elected Charles Joseph, and Kalamazoo picked Gilbert Bradley, as the first black mayors of those cities.

Sterling Studies Incinerator Law

Sterling Heights officials are studying the possibility of a law to prevent the operation of private incinerators.

The move resulted from resident complaints Tuesday night that the incinerator used by the K-Mart store at Sixteen and One-Half Mile and Van Dyke was sending smoke and ashes over homes in the area.

City Manager Leonard Hendricks said such incinerators are licensed and regulated by the state. It is not definite whether the city has the authority to try and control them, he said.

Japan Travel Film at RO

The third in six travel films sponsored by the Royal Oak Kiwanis Club will be presented at 8 p.m., Tuesday, at Royal Oak Dondero High School, 709 North Washington.

"Incredible Japan," will be presented by James Forshee. The film depicts the modern progress of Japan and the ancient traditions, rites and customs of the people. Tokyo at night, and the Geisha girls are included in the film.

Ticket information may be obtained from Julian Gooch, 588-1565.

The next film in the travel series will be "Welsh Wonderland," and the narrator will be Walter S. Dodson. It will be shown Feb. 15.

Bidding Quiz

You are South, both sides vulnerable, in each of the following four hands. What would you bid at the point where the question mark appears?

1. ♠10742 ♥652 ♦73 ♣A843

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dble
Redble	2 ♥	?

2. ♠Q65 ♥8742 ♦A83 ♣K96

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	?

3. ♠94 ♥K83 ♦KJ85 ♣QJ92

North	East	South	West
1 NT	2 ♦	?

4. ♠A5 ♥AKQJ963 ♦Q942 ♣—

South	West	North	East
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♦	Pass

1. Three spades. There is some doubt whether you should have passed one spade, but, granting that you did, there is an obligation to tell partner you made an absolutely maximum pass. To bid two spades at this point is simply not adequate—that is what you would do if the clubs were, say, Q-J-4-3. North's redouble announces much more than a minimum opening bid—for example, he may have:

in which case you would surely want to be in game. North cannot expect a huge hand from you; he will surely remember that you lacked the values for a response to his spade bid.

2. Three diamonds. You had a maximum notrump response and you can indicate this by cuebidding the ace of diamonds before raising spades later on. Second choice is to jump to four spades directly. It would be wrong to bid only three spades at this point. That is what you would do if the king of clubs were the deuce.

3. Double. East will probably go down 800 or 1,100, and you shouldn't let him off the hook by bidding two or three notrump instead. You don't often get such a fine chance to teach an opponent to mind his manners after your partner opens with a notrump.

4. Five notrump. This is the grand slam force, requesting partner to bid seven diamonds with two of the three top trump honors (diamonds are treated as trumps). If North has only one top honor he responds six diamonds. In either case, you plan to play the hand in hearts.

FRONTIERS OF SCIENCE

Astrological Forecast

—by Sidney Omarr

For Saturday, Nov. 27

It is tough to oppose the will of one born under Taurus. These persons, very often, refuse to be confused by the facts. On the positive side, natives of this sign are steadfast, loyal and capable of detecting the real thing as opposed to what is false.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Take initiative. Move with times. Be aware, confident and a self-starter. Some who oppose you may be years behind in their concept. Know this and stick to convictions. Stress originality.

TARUS (April 20 - May 20): There are restrictions. However, this does not mean door is permanently closed. Discreet inquiries could lead to progress—and profit. Don't show complete hand. Keep something in reserve.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Some friends express views contrary to your own. Be receptive, communicative. Clash of ideas can be exciting, stimulating and constructive. Be lenient with one who lacks experience.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Some ambitions are realized—with co-operation of family member. Remember past resolutions. Applies to diet, general welfare. You are now able to climb rung of ladder—there is room for you at top.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Basic needs could cause revision of long-range plans, including travel. Perceive actual needs. Leave wishful thinking to others. Pisces person could figure prominently. Be helped without being helpless.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): One who consults you actually is paying a real compliment. Realize this—don't feel you are being used. Accent is on money, hidden assets, special relations with mate, partner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You gain added attention. Efforts are spotlighted. Don't push too hard. Avoid unnecessary tension. One who is drawn to you expects much. Obtain hint from Virgo message. Be amiable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): New starts in new directions apt to be featured. Leo figures prominently Health factors are to be considered. Pacing becomes doubly important. You must avoid extremes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Lover's quarrel may be on agenda—unless you take necessary precautions. Means be mature. Teach and learn—share. Avoid one who gossips. Maintain dignity Do not hurl first stone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Expanded family activity is indicated. You do more socializing with relatives. Accent on home, building, securing foundations. Be willing to modernize, but also utilize past lessons.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Emphasis is on selection of workable ideas. Be wary of one who offers apparent get-rich-quick scheme. Key is to tear down only in order to rebuild. Don't give up something for nothing.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Be ready for change of scenery. Status quo takes a beating. Gemini, Virgo individuals play prominent roles. Guard possessions, especially while in transit. Favorable message is due.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are fine when it comes to thinking along lines related to future. But immediate, superficial problems, questions can throw you for temporary loss. Integrity is a key word with you. You soon will be socializing, traveling, expanding sphere of activities.

Meany Hospitalized With Chest Pains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany, hospitalized with severe chest pains, was resting comfortably today with the possibility that he will be released Sunday.

The 77-year-old labor leader was stricken at his home in suburban Bethesda, Md., shortly after returning from the AFL-CIO convention at Miami Beach.

'Spasms'—

He was admitted to the emergency coronary unit at George Washington University Hospital, where his physician, Dr. Marvin Fuchs, said he had apparently suffered "spasms in the coronary arteries."

An AFL-CIO spokesman, Al Zack, however, reported late Thursday that Meany's pains had vanished and that his condition was "very satisfactory."

Series of Test—

He said that Meany had undergone a series of tests, all of which had turned out negative, but that it was routine for a person with such symptoms to remain hospitalized for 72 hours.

"He probably will be released on Sunday," Zack said. If so, Meany may be allowed to return to work after "a couple of weeks" rest, Zack said.

Meany first complained of discomfort while aboard a train en route from Miami Beach to Washington. The train was stopped at Columbia, S.C., Tuesday night, where a doctor examined him for stomach pains, thought to have been caused by a meal which aggravated a previous stomach disorder. He has no history of heart ailment.

Expect Fight on Court Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, after two earlier defeats, now appears assured of success in his efforts to place a conservative Southerner on the Supreme Court.

His nomination of Richmond, Va., attorney Lewis F. Powell Jr. cleared the Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday by a 16-0 vote, and there are no signs of any attempt to block confirmation by the Senate.

But a fight is brewing over Mr. Nixon's nomination of Asst. Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist for a second vacancy on the Supreme Court despite a 12-4 Committee vote recommending confirmation.

Rehnquist, unlike Powell, has run into opposition from civil-rights and labor leaders, and four of the Judiciary Committee's liberal Democrats voted against his nomination.

However, one of the four, Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), said the odds heavily favor Senate confirmation of Rehnquist. He said opponents will not wage a filibuster to block a vote.

The nominations of Powell and Rehnquist could be brought up in the Senate the latter part of next week, although Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has not yet set a date.

Another affidavit that Rehnquist harassed black voters in Phoenix added more fuel today to the controversy surrounding the nominee.

Aides to Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), one of the leading opponents of Rehnquist's nomination, said the affidavit merits further investigation, even though Rehnquist personally has denied he even was present at the voting precinct where he allegedly harassed voters in 1964.

Area's Glass Collection Down From Previous Week

Five South Oakland glass, can and paper collecton centers will be open Saturday. The Berkley, Southfield and Troy centers will be closed.

South Oakland's glass centers collected 32 tons last week, down 6½ tons from the previous week. The four area can centers collected two and one-half tons.

Glass tonnage by cities was: Royal Oak, 13; Oak Park, 4; Southfield, 5½; Ferndale, 3; Hazel Park, 3½; Madison Heights, 2; and Berkley, 1. The can centers in Royal Oak, Ferndale and Berkley collected one-half ton each, and the Hazel Park center collected one ton.

Berkley's glass and can center will be closed until Dec. 4, when it will open at its new location at 2447 Coolidge, a former Texaco station.

The center has been open Monday through Friday at the DPW garage on Bacon, but will be open from noon-4 p.m., on the first Saturday of the month.

The Royal Oak Jaycee Auxiliaries and Girl Scout Cadet Troop 308 volunteered Saturday at the Royal Oak center, and Cub Scout Pack 1606, Den 5, Grant Elementary School, 515 Kayser, cleaned the site.

David Wilfong, city manager in Huntington Woods, asks residents to bundle newspapers or put them in boxes with their rubbish on regular collection days.

Volunteers ask residents to remove all metal from glass, and wash and sort it according to colors. Cans should be washed, the ends cut out and flattened.

Centers open Saturday are:

Royal Oak—

Glass, can and paper collection from 1-4 p.m., in the parking lot behind Farmers' Market, 315 East Eleven-Mile.

Hazel Park—

Glass, peper and cans at drop-off center behind Fire Hall on Russell, south of Nine-Mile, 9 a.m.-noon.

Ferndale—

Glass, cans and paper at Ferndale High School, 881 Pinecrest, student parking lot at south end, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

Oak Park—

Glass collection at the former auto pound, Oak Park Boulevard and Coolidge, west of the Parks and Forestry Building, 1-3 p.m.

Madison Heights—

Glass and paper collection throughout the week at the Department of Public Works lot on Ajax north of Twelve-Mile. Center is open Monday through Friday, but dropoffs are permitted on weekends.

Bottle Plan, 'Disaster'

A plan to ban nonreturnable bottles and cans in the South Oakland area made little headway this week.

A meeting called by the Clawson Environmental Improvement Commission Monday broke up after some persons in attendance argued that the ban was a bad idea, said Mrs. Robert E. Saylor of Madison Heights.

She was representing her city's Ecology Commission at the meeting.

The Clawson group called the meeting to coordinate the efforts of ecologists in favor of city laws banning the nonreturnable beverage containers.

Troy is the only area city which has approved such a ban. Beginning Jan. 1, merchants cannot sell nonreturnable pop and beer cans and bottles in the city.

Clawson ecologists want other area cities to pass similar laws.

Mrs. Saylor described the meeting as a "disaster." She said few representatives from surrounding cities attended. Some women from Warren, she said, argued that recycling of all trash will better solve pollution blight than the container ban.

The persons interested in the container ban will meet again, she indicated. A new meeting date was not set, however.

Mrs. Saylor endorses a bill, HB 4685, in the state legislature which would ban nonreturnable containers of metal, glass or plastic which hold up to 20 ounces of beverage.

Citywide bans would show the state "we mean business," she said.

Boss Had Unwanted Partner

NEW YORK (AP) — While her boss rode to work on the subway, Jeanne Jantzen paid $6,824 for a chauffered limousine, slept on a $3,600 bed and spent $41,000 on jewelry, Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan alleges.

A Manhattan grand jury handed down a 32-count indictment charging the 26-year-old secretary with grand larceny, forgery and possession of forged documents.

Hogan said Miss Jantzen kept the company books balanced and hid her alleged theft of $384,451 for over two years from her boss, real estate investor Paul Yanowicz. Yanowicz became suspicious when an accountant noted a large weekly flow of money from his business account into his personal account.

Yanowicz had authorized Miss Jantzen to sign checks and transfer $250 from his business account to his personal account for his weekly expenses.

However, Hogan alleged, Miss Jantzen often raised the amount to be taken from the business account by $7,000 deposited it in the personal account, and wrote a check for cash for the full amount, but would give Yanowicz only the $250, keeping the hike.

Navy Skipper Loses Ship

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The commander of the Navy tanker that dumped about 230,000 gallons of fuel oil into the ocean off Southern California last August has been relieved of his command.

The Navy said Cmdr. R. H. Engelbrecht had replaced Capt. Jack Snyder as commander of the Long Beach-based Manatee.

The slick, 20 miles long at times, caused globs of oil to wash up on beaches from Dana Point south to the Mexican border for about 10 days.

One of Four Elderly Live in Poverty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate Committee reported Thursday that one out of every four Americans over 65 lives in poverty and that the economic situation of the elderly is worsening.

The Committee on Aging, in a special report, said the trend will accelerate because business firms are "easing" older workers off their jobs before they are old enough to collect pensions.

The report called attention to the "no-man's land" of "being too young to retire but too old to hire" — a situation it said more and more elderly persons are facing.

Also, the Committee said, more workers are drawing Social Security benefits before reaching age 65, although benefits are reduced for those who retire early.

The report said that there are 4.7 million elderly persons now living in poverty — an increase of 100,000 since 1968.

"In 1971, the likelihood of being impoverished is more than twice as great for older Americans as it is for younger Americans," the report said. "One out of every four persons 65 and older — in contrast to one in nine for younger individuals — lives in poverty."

Sterling Lions Get Head Start

When the Sterling Heights Lions Club conducts its first annual Christmas Candy Sale Dec. 2 and 3, it will already have more than $1,400 in proceeds.

Bernard Calka, a club member and assistant fire chief for Sterling Heights, presented the club Wednesday night with $1,466 for advance sales he made.

Calka explained that he will be in Chicago Dec. 2 and 3 at a fire fighting seminar and said "I wanted to do my share as a member."

Indians Plan To Form Tribe

MARQUETTE (AP) — Over 300 Indians from Michigan's Upper Peninsula are expected to gather on the Northern Michigan University campus here Friday and Saturday to organize as a federally recognized tribe.

Indians involved in the two-day meeting compose what has been known historically as the Sault Ste. Marie band of the Chippewa Indian nation. It includes all Indians living east of the Chocolay and Escanaba rivers in the U.P. who are not presently members of a federally organized community.
